The nitro-compound class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Amberite No. 1.
Ballistite,
Blasting Gelatine,
Carbonite,
Cortite,

Stonite,

Dynamite,
Gelatine Dynamite,
Gelignite,
Lithofracteur,
Nitro-glycerine,

and any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation which consists, either wholly or partly, of nitro-glycerine or some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Amberite No. 2.
Ammonite,
Bellite,
Copall's powder,
Cotton gunpowder,
E. C. powder,
Gun-cotton ordinarily so-called,

Nitrated gun-cotton,
Pierates,
Picric powder,
Roburite,
Sawdust and gun-cotton powder,
Schultz's powder,
Tonite (or cotton-powder), and any nitro-compound as before defined which is not comprised in the first division.

CLASS 4.—Chlorate-mixture class.

The term "chlorate-mixture" means any explosive containing a chlorate.

The chlorate-mixture class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's blasting powder,
Brain's blasting powder, and any chlorate preparation which consists partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's original blasting powder,
Friedrich's powder,
Reveley's powder,

Chlorated gun-cotton,

Hochstadter's blasting charges,
Reichen's blasting charges,
Teutonite,

and any chlorate-mixture as before defined which is not comprised in the first division.

CLASS 5.—Fulminate class.

The term "fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture whether included in the foregoing classes or not, which, from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion caps or any other appliances for developing detonation or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.

The fulminate class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury and preparations of these substances such as are used in percussion caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorus, or certain descriptions of phosphorus compounds with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with a sulphuret with or without carbonaceous matter.

Division 2 comprises such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazobenzol.

CLASS 6.—Ammunition class.

The term "ammunition" means an explosive of any of the foregoing classes when enclosed in any case or contrivance, or otherwise adapted or prepared so as to form a cartridge or charge for small arms, cannon, or any other weapon, or for blasting, or to form any safety or other fuze for blasting or for shells, or to form any tube for firing explosives, or to form a percussion cap, a detonator, a fog signal, a shell, a torpedo, a war-rocket, or other contrivance other than a firework.

The term "percussion cap" does not include a detonator.

The term "detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive of the fulminate-explosive class in such quantity, that the explosion of one capsule or case will communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive in such quantity, that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartridges for small-arms of which the case can be extracted from the small-arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges. The term also includes rifle and machine-gun cartridges if they are of the above description, whether they are for use with machine-guns having chambers identical with those of rifles or with machine-guns which have special chambers.

The maximum diameter at which a small-arm or machine-gun cartridge can be accepted as "safety" is one inch.

The ammunition class has three divisions.

Division 1 comprises exclusively—

Safety cartridges,

Safety fuzes for blasting,

Fuzes for shells, and tubes friction for guns, provided there be no more than five fuzes or 25 tubes in one package, and that the package be a hermetically sealed metal cylinder.

Railway fog-signals,
Percussion caps.

Division 2 comprises any ammunition, as before defined, which does not contain its own means of ignition and is not included in division 1, such as—

Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,

Cartridges and charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes,

Shells and torpedoes containing any explosive,

Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,

Fuzes for shells,

Tubes for firing explosives,

War-rockets,

which do not contain their own means of ignition.

Division 3 comprises any ammunition as before defined, which contains its own means of ignition and is not included in division 1, such as—

Detonators,

Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,

Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,

Fuzes for shells,

Tubes for firing explosives,

which do contain their own means of ignition.

By ammunition containing its own means of ignition is meant ammunition having an arrangement, whether attached to it or forming part of it, which is adapted to explode or fire the same by friction or percussion.

CLASS 7.—Firework class.

The firework class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises firework compositions, that is to say, any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation of an explosive or inflammable nature, which is used for the purpose of making manufactured fireworks, and is not included in the former classes of explosives, and also any star and any coloured fire composition, subject to the proviso hereinafter set forth.

Division 2 comprises manufactured fireworks, that is to say, any explosive of any of the foregoing classes and firework composition, when such explosive or composition is enclosed in any case or contrivance, or is otherwise manufactured so as to form a squib, cracker, toy cap or amorc, serpent rocket (other than a war-rocket), maroon lance, wheel, Chinese fire, Roman candle, or other article specially adapted for the production of pyrotechnic effects or pyrotechnic signals or sound signals:

Provided that a substantially constructed and hermetically closed metal case containing not more than 1 lb. of coloured fire composition of such a nature as not to be liable to spontaneous ignition shall be deemed to be a "manufactured firework."

TRANSPORT.

(a) Packing.

2. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the packing of explosives for conveyance:—

I.—Each class of explosives shall be separately packed.

II.—An explosive not being an explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class, or of the 2nd and 3rd divisions of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, shall, if not exceeding 5 lbs. in quantity, be contained in a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the explosive from escaping.

III.—In every other case the explosive shall be contained in a double package. The inner package shall be a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the explosive from escaping, and the outer package shall be a box, barrel, or case of wood or metal or other solid material, and shall be of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow the explosive to escape.

Provided as follows:—

- (a) If the explosive is of the 1st (or gun-powder) class or of the 2nd (nitrate-mixture) class, or of the 2nd division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, the quantity of the explosive in any one outer package shall not, in the case of explosives of the first two classes, exceed 100 lbs., and in other cases 50 lbs.
- If the explosive is picric acid, the inner package must be of such a nature as to effectually prevent any picric acid from coming into contact with any basic metallic oxide.*
- (b) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class or to the 4th (chlorate-mixture) class, the inner package shall be without any metal in its construction, and the inner or outer package, or both, shall be thoroughly waterproof.† No one of the inner packages shall contain more than 10 lbs., and the aggregate quantity of the explosive in any one outer package shall not exceed 50 lbs.
- (c) 1. If the explosive belongs to the 5th (fulminate) class, and is of such character that it cannot be packed mixed with water, or that danger would arise from such mode of packing, it shall be packed in such manner as shall be specially directed by the Governor General in Council.
2. Any other explosive of the fulminate class shall be packed as follows: It shall be packed in bags or coverings of calico, canvas or other material permeable to water, and containing each not more than 25 lbs. of fulminate, and so made and closed as to prevent any explosive from escaping. Such bags or coverings shall be packed in a case containing sufficient water to ensure the explosive being kept constantly wet, and such case (hereinafter called the inner case) shall be packed in an outer case containing sufficient water constantly to surround the inner case; and the inner case and the outer case shall each be of such strength, construction and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any fulminate or water to escape; and the amount of the explosive in any one outer case shall not exceed 200 lbs. except with the consent of, and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives.
3. Every package, when actually used for the packing of one fulminate, shall not be used for the packing of any other fulminate or for any other purpose.
4. On the outer case there shall be affixed in conspicuous characters by means of a brand or securely attached label or other mark the word "Explosive," with the name of the explosive followed by the words "Fulminate, Division 1" (or 2 as the case may be) and name and address of the owner or sender.
- 7) 1. If an explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class, it shall be contained in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal, or other solid material, and of such strength, construction and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape.
2. If the explosive belongs to the 2nd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, the following rules shall apply, viz.:—
 - (i) A shell or torpedo containing any explosive material, whether such shell or torpedo be separate or form part of a rocket or other appliance, shall be packed in such manner as may be especially directed by the Governor General in Council with reference to such explosive.
 - (ii) Any explosive material when made up into a cartridge or charge for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes, shall be packed in the manner required for the same explosive material when not so made up:

Provided that where a double package is required, the enclosing case of such cartridge or charge, if it satisfies the conditions required for the inner package, may be held to be such inner package.

* Note.—This rule is intended to prevent picric acid being packed in a case lined with certain metals, such as zinc or lead, which would result in danger arising from the formation of a picrate. Waterproof bags inside powder-barrels are suggested as a simple and safe method of packing picric acid for transport or storage.

† Note.—From the requisition that the package should be waterproof are excepted—

- (1) All explosives falling in the 2nd division of the 4th (chlorate-mixture) class.
- (2) Those explosives included in the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class which do not yield up their nitro-glycerine in contact with water, such as blasting gelatine, gelatine, dynamite, cordite and ballistite and gelignite: provided that any other substances than those named has been certified to be of this character by a Chief Inspector of Explosives.

- (ii) Any other explosive of the 3rd division shall be packed in a box, barrel, or other solid material and of such strength, construction and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape: and any one such package shall not contain more than 100 lbs. of ammunition.
- (e) If the explosive belongs to the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, it shall be packed in a double package. The inner package shall not contain more than 2 lbs. of such explosive, and no more than 50 lbs. shall be contained in the outer package:

Provided that in the case of detonators the following further rules shall also be observed, namely:—

- (i) The detonators, and the spaces between the detonators and between the sides of the inner package and the detonators, shall all be filled, as far as practicable, with fine saw-dust or other similar material. A layer of cotton wool or other soft elastic material shall be placed between both ends of all the detonators and the interior of the inner package in which the detonators are placed in such manner and so secured that both ends of the detonators will rest upon the said cotton wool or other material. Every inner package, if of metal, shall be lined throughout with paper or other soft material.
- (ii) Where the number of detonators packed for conveyance exceeds in all one thousand (1,000) or such greater number as may from time to time be assigned with the consent of, and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives, all the inner packages as aforesaid shall be placed inside a substantial case of wood or metal, made and closed, so as to prevent any of the inner packages escaping therefrom, and the case shall be placed inside such outer packages as is required by the above general rule relating to the packing for conveyance of explosives of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, in such manner and so secured as to leave a clear space of not less than three inches between every part of the interior of the said outer package, notwithstanding that such clear space may, if preferred, be filled with saw-dust, straw or other similar material or may contain a light framework or battens of wood to keep the case aforesaid in position in the outer package.
- (f) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, it shall be contained in a double package. The inner package shall be a substantial canister, case, or other receptacle hermetically closed, and containing no more than 1 lb. of explosive, and no more than 20 lbs. shall be contained in the outer package; and
- (g) If the explosive belongs to the 2nd division of the 7th (firework) class, it shall be contained in a box, barrel, or cases of wood, metal, or other solid material and of such strength, construction and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape, and the quantity of explosive in any one package shall not exceed 100 lbs.

IV.—Whatever be the amount of the explosive, and to whatever class or division of a class it belongs, the following conditions shall be observed:—

- (a) the interior of every package, whether single or double, shall be kept free from grit and otherwise clean;
- (b) every package, whether single or double, when actually used for the packing of the explosive, shall not be used for the packing of any other explosive of the same or any other class or for any other purpose, except with the consent of, and under conditions approved by, an Inspector of Explosives;
- (c) there shall not be any iron or steel in the construction of any such single package or inner or outer package unless the same is effectually covered with tin, zinc, or other suitable material;
- (d) on the outermost package there shall be affixed, in conspicuous characters, by means of a brand or securely attached label or mark, the word "Explosive" followed by the name of the explosive or other description of the contents and the name and address of the owners or senders; and
- (e) the amount of the explosive in any single package or, if there is a double package, in any one outer package, shall not exceed the amount specified in the foregoing rules, except with the consent of, and under conditions to be approved by, an Inspector of Explosives or other officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf.

8. Whoever commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the packing of explosives for conveyance shall be punishable with fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000.*

* Rules regarding search for, and detention of, explosives contravening regulations have been issued by the Local Governments.

4. General rules and regulations with respect to the conveyance of explosives.

I.—No explosive shall be conveyed from place to place unless packed in the manner provided for in the foregoing rules.

II.—There shall not be conveyed in any carriage or vessel which is being used for the conveyance of an explosive, any explosive of a different class and division, of whatsoever nature, which contains its own means of ignition, unless it is sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another.

III.—Except in the case of small consignments carried by railway, which may be unloaded at any time, explosives shall be loaded or unloaded only between sunrise and sunset. For the purposes of this rule, no consignment of more than half a wagon-load booked to one station shall be deemed to be a small consignment.

IV.—Whilst the explosive is being loaded on or unloaded out of any carriage or vessel, no fire or artificial light, nor any article which is liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion (such as charcoal, lucifer-matches, articles for striking a light, petroleum to which the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899 (VIII of 1899), or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum, applies, or any spirit or oil or substance that gives forth an inflammable vapour at a temperature below 100° Fahrenheit], shall be or shall be allowed to be, brought, had or used dangerously near to such carriage, ship, or boat, and no smoking shall be allowed in, on, or dangerously near to, the same :

Provided that, when the use of a light for the purposes of such loading or unloading is unavoidable, a lamp of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger from fire or explosion may be used; and no person, while handling any explosive (except an explosive of division 1, class 6, if packed in accordance with the packing rules), shall wear boots or shoes with iron or steel nails, heels or tips.

V.—In the loading or unloading of any explosive, the casks and packages containing the same shall be passed from hand to hand, and not rolled upon the ground; they shall not be thrown or dropped down, but shall be carefully deposited and stowed.

VI.—The explosive shall not be conveyed except in the interior of a carriage so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or in the hold of a ship or boat having a close deck so closed as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without. If the explosive cannot be so secured, it shall be completely covered with painted cloth, tarpaulin, or other suitable material so as to effectually protect it against communication of fire.

VII.—There shall not be any iron or steel in the interior of the portion of the carriage or vessel with which the case containing the explosive is or may come in contact, unless the same is effectually covered with leather, wood, cloth, or other suitable material.

VIII.—In the stowing of the explosive, due precautions shall be taken by means of a partition or otherwise and by careful stowing to secure such explosive from being brought into contact with, or endangered by, any other article or substance conveyed in such carriage or vessel which is liable to cause fire or explosion; and if the explosive is dangerously affected by water, due precautions shall be taken to exclude water from coming into contact with such explosive.

IX.—The amount of the explosives conveyed in any one carriage or vessel at any one time shall not exceed 2,000 lbs. unless the carriage be so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or the vessel have a close deck so closed as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without, in which case the amount of the explosives conveyed shall not exceed the following :—

	Tons.
In any one carriage on a railway	10
In any one other carriage	2
In any one vessel	20

Note.—This rule shall, in the case of dynamite conveyed by railway, be read subject to paragraph XII of Rule 6.

X.—Nothing in the foregoing rules (except Rule I) shall apply to any explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class :

Provided that all due precautions are taken for the prevention of accidents.

5. * * * * *

6. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives by public railway :—

I.—No person shall send for carriage upon any railway any consignment of an explosive, unless he has given to the officer in charge of the railway station previous notice in writing, which, at the option of the Railway Administration, may extend to 48 hours, of his intention to send such consignment, and stating the true name, description, quantity, and mode of packing of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and his own name and address, and also the name and address of the proposed consignee, and unless he has had an intimation in writing from an authorized officer of the Railway Administration, no consignment will be received.

Explosives which a Railway Administration, under any notice or regulation for the time being in force, notify that they will not receive, shall be brought, sent, or forwarded to or upon any railway of the said Railway Administration.

III.—Consignments of explosives shall be sent to the forwarding station, and shall be received by the railway servants only at such times, between sunrise and sunset, as the Railway Administration may appoint; and every package containing any explosive proposed to be conveyed on any railway shall, immediately on arrival at the station, be unloaded and placed in a safe place under the special direction of the officer in charge of the station.

All gunpowder under despatch or receipt by a Government arsenal, dépôt, or factory shall be loaded or unloaded in the railway vans by Government servants employed in such arsenal, dépôt, or factory. In each van used by the railway for the transport of gunpowder the packages of gunpowder shall be secured in such a way as to prevent concussion when the train is in motion.

IV.—An explosive shall be removed by the consignee from the receiving station during the twelve hours of daylight after arrival: if this condition is not strictly complied with, the Railway Administration may return the consignment to the consignor at his risk and expense. And such packages shall in the meanwhile be kept as far away from the station buildings as possible, in the wagon they were conveyed in, or, if unloaded, shall be completely covered with tarpaulins or other suitable material, and, if necessary, shall be protected by a police guard.

V.—The Railway Administration may refuse to receive any packages which they suspect to contain any explosive packed or sent in contravention of these regulations. And in case any package, which the Railway Administration suspect, shall be upon any railway, the Railway Administration may open, or require to be opened, such package, to ascertain the fact, at the risk and expense of the consignor, and may return the explosive contained in the package to the consignor at his risk and expense, keeping the packages, pending such return, in the manner prescribed in the preceding rule.

VI.—Subject to the exception provided for in clause (c), no explosive shall be conveyed by passenger train except of the kinds and in the manner hereinafter specified in this rule:—

- (a) Safety-cartridges and percussion-caps and safety-fuze (for blasting), also fog-signals for railway use which may be conveyed in ordinary wagoons or carriages.
- (b) Explosives of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class which may be carried in the form of cartridges up to the limit of 5 lbs.:

Provided that no detonators are carried in the same compartment.

- (c) Detonators packed according to the proviso to Rule 2 (III) (c) may be carried to the number of 200:

Provided that in no case the amount of fulminate of mercury in the package or packages containing the detonators exceeds in the aggregate 3 oz. (a certificate to this effect being given by the company, firm, or person tendering the detonators for transport or by its or his agent):

Provided also that no other explosive is carried in the same compartment.

- (d) Sporting gunpowder or non-safety cartridges packed in double cases as before provided, so long as the gunpowder is contained in one-pound tin canisters packed in a stout wooden case with an outer covering of tin or zinc completely spark-proof, or in metal-lined cases of a pattern approved by the Railway Administration. But no outer case shall contain more than 25 lbs. of gunpowder, and the total consignment of gunpowder or nonsafety cartridges by one train shall not exceed 80 lbs.
- (e) Explosives may be carried by mixed trains on any line on which goods trains are not running, subject to the conditions that they are loaded in properly constructed powder vans; that not more than one powder van containing explosives is forwarded at any one time by a mixed train; that there are not less than three vehicles between the powder van and either the engine or the passenger coaches; that the powder van is close coupled to the adjoining vehicles; and that directly a powder van containing explosives arrives at a section on which goods trains are running, it is detached from the mixed train.

VII.—Not more than five carriages containing explosives shall be loaded or unloaded at any railway station, or be conveyed by any one train at any one time; and the quantity of explosive to be contained in any one carriage shall not exceed two-thirds of the normal load, unless the carriages shall be specially built and approved of by the Government of India for the conveyance of explosives. But nothing in this clause shall be held to apply to separate consignments of safety-cartridges for small-arms.

VIII.—There shall not be conveyed in the same carriage with any explosive any lucifer or other matches, fuzes, pipe lights, acids, naphtha, paraffine, petroleum to which the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899 (VIII of 1899), or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum, naphtha, or any other volatile spirit substance liable to give off inflammable vapours, or to cause spontaneous ignition, or to cause or contribute to the explosion of any explosive substance.

IX.—The consignor shall attach to the consignment note a certificate or (provided the original is produced for verification) copy of a certificate, signed by an officer authorized by the Local Government in this behalf that the explosive, if it is an explosive of class 3 or 4, is of the standard purity; and further, in the case of dynamite and all nitro-glycerine compounds, that there are no signs of exuded nitro-glycerine or of liquefaction. The consignor shall also certify that the explosive has been packed in accordance with the packing rules in force in England or in British India.

X.—In the case of explosives under classes 3 and 4, the outer packages shall be marked with the date of the manufacture of the explosives. The abovementioned certificate shall contain sufficient information to admit of all packages being easily recognized.

XI.—The certificate referred to in Rule IX shall be valid for six months after date, if the examination has been made between the 15th October and 31st March, but any Railway Administration which accepts dynamite and other nitro-glycerine compounds for transport may demand a fresh certificate for these explosives if presented for conveyance between 1st April and 15th October (both inclusive).

XII.—Packages containing dynamite and other blasting explosives of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, or explosives of the 4th (chlorate-mixture), 5th (fulminate) classes or of the first division of the 7th (firework) class shall be stowed in one layer only and secured so as to prevent movement during transit, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 3 tons:

Provided that, if the packages of explosive are in rectangular form and are properly secured so as to prevent movement during transit, they may be stowed in any number of layers not exceeding five, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 5 tons.

XIII.—No explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class or of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 7th (firework) class shall be carried in the same train with any explosive not of the class and division to which it belongs, unless it be sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another.

XIV.—Wagons used for the carriage of explosive shall be examined to see that they are spark-proof, and have been cleaned out before they are loaded. Hair, cloth, hides, or other suitable materials shall be spread on the floor of the wagon and between each layer of packages, except when the packages are covered with gunny or felt, or contain safety cartridges for small arms packed in tin-lined service-pattern boxes.

XV.—Wagons containing explosives shall be loaded and unloaded on sidings distant as far as possible from the station buildings.

XVI.—Packages containing explosives other than those referred to in Rule 6 (XII) shall not be stored in more than three layers one above the other. But if the packages are in rectangular form and of uniform size (provided they are double packages, and are so secured as to prevent movement during transit), they may be packed in five layers one above the other. But in the case of safety cartridges for small-arms packed in tin-lined service-pattern boxes, there is no restriction. Subject to the provisions of Rule 4 (III), the loading and unloading of explosives, when once begun, shall be diligently proceeded with until the same is completed.

XVII.—When the train is being marshalled, wagons loaded with explosives may be shunted by a locomotive, if they are separated from the engine by not less than three wagons containing no explosive nor easily inflammable substance. This precaution is not necessary with wagons specially constructed for the carriage of explosives. The speed of these movements shall be restricted to five miles an hour; they shall be superintended by a duly authorized officer, who shall be held responsible for the observance of these orders. Flying shunts are strictly prohibited.

XVIII.—Wagons containing explosives shall be placed at the end of the train away from the locomotive, and shall, except on the Darjeeling-Himalayan railway, be close coupled to one another, as well as to the adjoining wagons, and preceded and followed by three wagons not loaded with explosives or other traffic of an inflammable nature.

XIX.—If the wagons employed in the transport of explosives are provided with brakes other than iron brakes, the brakes thereon shall on no account be worked while the wagons are running with a train, nor shall brakes, other than iron brakes, on vehicles immediately adjoining such wagons, be worked while such wagons are so running.

XX.—Wagons shall in every case be locked when loaded with explosives.

XXI.—All operations connected with the transshipment of explosives at junction stations shall take place during daylight.

7. Whoever commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the mode of conveyance of explosives shall be punishable with a fine which may extend to Rs. 100.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA, PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

Calcutta, the 21st January, 1902

Addenda to part II, chapter III, rule 16 of the General Rules of 1895 for working open lines of railway in British India administered by Government.

READ—

Sections 47 and 59 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890).

Government of India, Public Works Department, Notification No. 118, dated the 21st March, 1895, and the Government of India circular No. 6 Railway, dated the 12th March, 1895.

READ ALSO—

Government of India, Military Department, Memorandum No. 2462-F., dated the 22nd August, 1901, and its enclosures.

OBSERVATIONS.—Under section 14 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884 (IV of 1884), and the third paragraph of the preamble in the notification by the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 5528, dated the 11th October, 1901, nothing in that Act nor in the rules framed thereunder applies to the transport, etc., of explosives by order or on behalf of the Government.

2. Under the provisions of section 47, sub-section (1), clause (c), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), rule 14 of part II, chapter III, of the General Rules for open lines of railway promulgated under the Government of India Circular No. 6 Railway, dated the 12th March, 1895, and published under this Department's Notification No. 118, dated the 21st March, 1895, declares certain goods, including explosives defined as such in section 4, clause (1), of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884 (IV of 1884), to be "dangerous," while rule 16 (1) of those rules regulates the conditions for their carriage, including packing.

3. Sub-section (5) of section 59 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), provides that nothing in that section shall be construed to derogate from the Indian Explosives Act, 1884 (IV of 1884), or any rule made thereunder, and specially exempts goods tendered or delivered for carriage by order or on behalf of the Government from the provisions of sub-sections (1), (3) and (4) of that section. But the Government of India are advised that such goods are, in common with similar goods tendered by the public, liable to the other provisions of the Indian Railways Act and among them to the rules as to packing made under section 47, sub-section (1), clause (c).

4. It was always the intention to exempt Government stores from the operation of the rules applicable to the general public; and it has hitherto been the practice to act on this understanding. With the interpretation which has now been given to the regulations, it has been represented that it will be impossible to comply with the rules as to the packing of dangerous medical stores without undue and unnecessary expense, and in the case of the medical field equipment without serious inconvenience. All Government stores are packed under departmental rules, the object of which is to ensure the carriage of the stores with safety to themselves and their surroundings, and the Government of India are assured that there would be no greater risk in carrying such stores if packed in accordance with the regulations of the Medical Department than there would be if they were packed under the rules applicable to the public, provided that in every case the contents of packages are declared as required by sub-section (2) of section 59 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890).

RESOLUTION.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 47, sub-section (4), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), the Governor General in Council is pleased to sanction the adoption by the administrations of all railways, whether in British India, in foreign territory or in Native States, to which the General Rules for working open lines of railway promulgated with the Government of India Circular No. 6 Railway, dated the 12th March, 1895, apply, of the accompanying addenda to rule 16, chapter III, part II of said General Rules.

ORDER.—Ordered that this circular, with the accompanying addenda, be published under a notification in part I of the Gazette of India as required by section 47, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and that a copy thereof be kept open for inspection at railway stations as directed by sub-section (6) of the same section.

Ordered, also, that a copy of this circular, and of its enclosure, be communicated to the Local Governments and Administrations, and to the officers noted in the margin, for information and guidance; and to the Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Punjab, the Honourable the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, the Honourable the Resident in Mysore, the Honourable the Agents to the Governor General in Central India and Baluchistan, the Honourable the Agent to the Governor General and Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province and the Accountant General, Public Works Department, for information.

[Enclosure to Government of India Circular No. II Railway, dated the 21st January, 1902.]

Addenda to rule 16, chapter III, part II of the General Rules for working open lines of railway in British India administered by the Government, which were promulgated with the Government of India Circular No. 6 Railway, dated the 12th March, 1895.

Before the word "subject" in rule 16 (1), chapter III, part II, add— save as otherwise provided by clause (4) of this rule and

After rule 16, clause (3), chapter III, part II, insert—

(4) Nothing in the rules contained in Appendix A shall apply to medical stores consigned from a Government depôt, notwithstanding that such stores are dangerous goods within the meaning of rule 14:

Provided that the officer in charge of the depôt has given a written declaration of the contents of the packages and certified on the consignment note that they have been packed in accordance with the regulations of the Medical Department for the time being in force relating to the packing of dangerous medical stores.

SENATE HOUSE,
The 30th January, 1902

THE HON'BLE THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE.

NOTIFICATION.

Bangalore, the 16th January, 1902.

No. 261.—In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 9 (d), (e) (f) of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896), the Honourable the Resident is pleased to make the following rules for the supervision of breweries in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore :

1. Every licensed brewer shall keep in some part of his brewery, which shall be approved by the Collector and which shall be accessible both by day and by night to all officers authorized to inspect the brewery, a brewing book in the appended Form A, in which shall be separately entered correct particulars of every brew made. Mistakes must not be erased ; a line in red ink must be drawn through, leaving the original entries still visible, and the correction must be inserted and certified by the initials of the person making the alteration, with the date and hour when it was made.

2. Every entry in a brewing book shall be made by the brewer himself or by some responsible person employed by him, whose name shall previously be reported for the approval of the Collector.

3. Columns 1 and 2 of the brewing book shall be filled up not less than six hours before the brew to which they relate is begun. Columns 3 to 5 shall be filled up not less than two hours before any of the materials are used. Columns 6 and 7 shall be filled up simultaneously with the entries in columns 3 to 5. Columns 8 to 13 shall be filled up within one hour after the completion of the collection of the worts of each brew in the fermenting vessels and columns 14 to 20 within one hour after the completion of the collection of the beer in the racking vessels ; provided that, if the worts be not all collected in the fermenting vessels, or if the collection of the beer in the racking vessels be not completed before 9 P.M. on any day, the time for making the entries in columns 8 to 20 will be extended to 8 A.M. the next morning.

4. All fermenting and racking vessels must be so placed and fixed to the satisfaction of the Collector as to admit of the contents being accurately gauged or measured, and must be fitted to the satisfaction of the Collector with proper dipping rods that can be so adjusted to fixed dipping places that the contents of such vessels may at any time be ascertainable.

5. The name of every such vessel shall be painted on a conspicuous part thereof. If more than one such vessel is used for either of the above purposes, each shall be distinguished by a progressive number.

6. A table shall be prepared by the brewer and be checked by the Excise Superintendent or his Assistant showing the capacity of each vessel in imperial gallons by the number of "dry inches," i.e., the unoccupied space between the surface of the liquid contained in the vessel and the fixed dipping place.

7. No vessel shall be used for the fermentation of worts or for the racking of beer until it has been gauged and the gauging has been checked as above provided.

8. Officers authorized to inspect breweries shall be at liberty to check the declarations of quantity and gravity at any time. They shall also be at liberty to take samples of the wort and beer at any stage of the manufacture, and send them for analysis.

9. The beer brewed shall be manufactured from good materials and its quality shall be such as to satisfy the Resident. The original gravity of the beer wort shall not exceed 1,070 at 60 Fahrenheit. No beer shall contain more than 8 per cent alcohol by volume, and the Collector may order the brewer to pay duty at full tariff rate per gallon of proof spirit on all alcohol in the brew in excess of 8 per cent by volume.

10. Every brewer shall keep a stock account in which he shall enter the quantity of beer manufactured in his brewery, the quantity sold, the wastage and the quantity remaining unsold each day. Such account shall be produced for the inspection of the Collector or any officer appointed by him for the purpose, or any Excise officer not below the rank of Assistant Superintendent whenever required.

11. The stock of beer on hand in every brewery shall be examined by the Superintendent of Excise or his Assistant once a quarter or oftener as the Collector may direct. If the quantity of beer found in the brewery on such examination shall be found to be in excess of the quantity shown on hand in the stock account, the brewer shall pay duty on such excess at double the rate hereinafter prescribed. In the event of any beer being returned to the brewery, notice shall be given to the Superintendent of Excise of the receipt of each consignment to admit of its being checked, whereupon the quantity so returned will be shown separately in the stock account.

12. An allowance not exceeding 8 per cent will be made to cover actual wastage in the brewery in the conduct of operations. If, on the quarterly or other examination of stock, the wastage should be found to be in excess of 8 per cent, the brewer shall pay duty at the prescribed rate of one anna per imperial gallon on the deficiency. The wastage allowance will be calculated for the purpose of this rule, on the actual balance on hand on date of last stocktaking, plus the quantity since manufactured and received as shown by column 16 of the brewing book. Provided that, in the event of the above mentioned allowance of 8 per cent for wastage being exceeded through the accidental breakage of a cask or other unavoidable cause, the matter shall be reported to the Collector whose decision shall be final.

13. A monthly account shall be prepared by the brewer and shall be forwarded by him to the Collector on or before the fifth day of each month. Such account shall show the quantity of beer made or received into stock during the month to which it refers and the quantities of beer issued and to whom issued during such month.

14. The Collector shall take such steps as he may think fit for checking the accuracy of the said monthly account with column 16 of the brewing book, with the brewer's stock account, and with counterfoils of the permits issued.

15. No beer except samples taken under rule No. 8 shall be removed from the brewery except under a pass in the appended Form B, and shall then be removed by or on account of licensed vendors only or their authorized agents. Passes in Form B may be granted by the Superintendent of Excise on production of a treasury receipt for the amount of the duty payable which shall be calculated at the rate of one anna per gallon.

16. If a brewer objects to the amount of duty fixed by the Collector under any of the rules hereinbefore provided he may move the Collector to revise his charge. If still dissatisfied with the orders of the Collector he may appeal to the Resident, whose orders shall be final.

17. The brewery shall be open at any time for inspection by the Collector or any officer appointed by him for that purpose, or any Excise Officer not below the rank of Assistant Superintendent.

"By Order,"

C. L. S. RUSSELL,

First Assistant to the Resident.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 31st January, 1902:—

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the

From High Court, Calcutta, No. 2255, dated 2nd September, 1901 [Paper No. 1].
From Government of Burma, No. 228-2S—1 (Commerce), dated 9th September, 1901 [Paper No. 2].
From Government of Bombay, No. 321-G, dated 12th September, 1901, and enclosure [Papers No. 3].
From Government of Madras, No. 758 Marine, dated 10th September, 1901 [Paper No. 4].

Order of the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 6193-S.R., dated 11th December, 1901, and accompaniments [Papers No. 6].

Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. We have omitted sub-clause (2) of clause 1 as being unnecessary in view of the provisions of section 5, sub-section (1), of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897).

3. The omission, suggested by clause 2 of the Bill, of the words "at the port of survey" from section 23 of the Act seems to us to leave the latter too vague. On the other hand, their retention, as they stand, would defeat the end in view, since the expression "port of survey" would, no doubt, be held to indicate a port in British India appointed under section 9 of the Act. We propose, therefore, instead of simply omitting the words "at the port of survey", to substitute for them the words "at the port where the survey was made".

4. It has been represented, both in Bengal and in Bombay, that there is no necessity for inserting after the word "attested" in section 23 of the Act the limiting phrase "in the case of a foreign steam-shipth". We have, therefore, omitted so much of clause 2 of the Bill as purported to make that addition.

5. It has recently been brought to notice that the Commissioner in Sind did not, until the 3rd July, 1900, make any rules for the examination of, and grant of certificates to, engine-drivers, as required by the Act of 1884, and that in the interval certificates were issued on the result of examinations held in accordance with rules originally framed under the repealed Bombay Act IV of 1873. The validity of these certificates—of which there are 96—has been challenged, and it is reported that practical inconvenience has been caused in more than one case. It is also reported that the Government of Bombay, in the passing of the Engineers' Certificates Validation Act, 1901 (XV of 1901). We propose to follow that precedent and to take the opportunity of adding to the Bill a fourth clause on the subject. In order to guard against oversight, we have at the same time amplified both the long and the short title and the preamble.

The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Indian Steam-ships (Amending and Validating) Act, 1902.

From Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 3745—VI.— 444-D., dated 27th November, 1901, and enclosure [Papers No. 15].

Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, to certain Tramway Companies was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. We have omitted sub-clause (3) of clause 1 as being unnecessary in view of the provisions of section 5, sub-section (1), of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897).

3. In accordance with the suggestion made by the Government of Bengal, we have inserted in clause 2 a reference to the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883 (Ben. Act III of 1883), so as to cover companies formed for the construction of tramways under that Act. There are in the Statute-book several other enactments authorizing the construction and regulating the working of tramways, but each of these—see, for example, the Bombay Tramways Act, 1874 (Bom. Act I of 1874)—deals entirely with a special concession granted to certain individuals, the Bengal enactment being the only local Act drawn on general lines like the Imperial Act of 1836. The Bengal case, therefore, alone requires to be provided for.

4. "The said Act" referred to at the end of the clause is, of course, the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, but it may be well to say so, since the context will refer to other enactments also.

5. The measure can, and is intended to, apply only to companies domiciled in India and such companies must be registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1882. Companies domiciled in England are governed by Acts of Parliament with which the legislature in this country cannot interfere. We see no necessity, therefore, for adding reference to Indian registration.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 31st January, 1902:—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to Endorsement from Home Department, No. 17, dated 6th January, 1902, and accompaniments, being a letter from Calcutta Trades Association, dated 13th December 1901, and enclosures [Papers No. 1].

From Government of Bengal, No. 228-J., dated 9th January, 1902 [Paper No. 2].

From Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce, No. 110, dated 23rd January, 1902 [Paper No. 3].

From Registrar, High Court, Calcutta, No. 289, dated 28th January, 1902 [Paper No. 4].

From Administrator General, Bengal, dated 29th January, 1902 [Paper No. 5].

From Babu Kali Narayan Roy, Manager, Estate Kumu Indra Chandra Singh (deceased) under the Administrator General of Bengal, dated 29th January, 1902 [Paper No. 6].

amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. We think that a practising barrister should, as hitherto, be appointed to the office of Administrator General, and we, therefore, propose to alter clause 4 of the Bill so as to omit the repeal of section 6 of the Administrator General's Act, 1874 (11 of 1874). But in the case of a Deputy Administrator General and Official Trustee, a solicitor might suitably be selected, and the Deputy, whether a barrister or a solicitor, would probably be best able to take the place of the Administrator General during the absence on leave of the latter. At the same time, it seems to us to be desirable to make it clear that, while it is, no doubt, necessary to enable the Deputy to discharge any of the duties and to perform any of the functions of the Administrator General, his position is not to be an independent one and he should act under the orders of his Chief. We have, therefore, entirely recast clause 2 of the Bill.

3. It is not intended to make any change in the present methods of administration. Accounts will be kept and estates managed in the same way as before under the provisions of the principal Act, and decrees and orders will operate as at present. But under the proposed Act the Government will in future appropriate what the Administrator General personally, as such or, should he be also Official Trustee, as Official Trustee, has heretofore been entitled to retain by way of remuneration, and no more, the Administrator General himself looking to the Government alone for a salary and allowances. The alterations which we have made in clause 3, will render the position clear.

4. We have already referred to clause 4 and explained that we propose that section 6 of the Act be allowed to stand untouched save as regards officiating appointments. To the same clause we have added two sub-clauses, which will take the place of sub-clause (2) (c) of clause 6, together with the proviso thereto. The provision as to suspension and removal from office has been extended so as to cover discharge, while as amended it contemplates the passing of an order in each case, and not the making of a rule of general application on the subject.

5. It may be doubted whether the High Court would take action in the direction indicated by clause 5 unless moved thereto, and we have, therefore, omitted the words "either of its own motion or".

6. Having regard to the fact that it has not been possible to bring forward a Bill to confer a rule-making power on the High Courts, we think that the proposal to confer a rule-making power on the High Courts had better be abandoned for the present. We have, in consequence, proposed the omission of the whole of sub-clauses (1) and (2) of clause 6, excepting only the portions referred to above in connection with clause 4 of the Bill; but we think that the Government should make no new rules under section 57 of the Act of 1874 without consulting the High Courts.

7. We would safeguard sub-clause (b) of clause 7 by requiring the sanction of the proper High Court in each case, and we have suggested an addition with that object. The reference to rules occurring in the earlier part of the clause may then be entirely omitted.

The 29th January, 1902.

* Subject to Minute of Dissent annexed.
† See Memorandum annexed.

The alterations I suggested in regard to the discharge and substitution of sureties of an administrator suggested themselves to me as much by their justness as by the practical hardships which have been too often experienced for want of a clear provision on the subject. There is not much judicial authority; and what little there is exhibits a conflict between High Courts as to the existence of such a power. In these circumstances, I think it desirable, when an opportunity is at hand, the Legislature should step in and set the question at rest by expressly giving the power. It will, besides, bring this class of sureties into harmony with other analogous cases and within the scope of the general law of guarantee. Further elaboration under this head is out of place, I think, in a minute of dissent.

My other amendments aim at getting rid of a gratuitous distinction. Class-legislation is always invidious and irritating. In this particular instance it has to be deprecated chiefly as giving the go by entirely to the present conditions, which are wholly different from the conditions a quarter of a century ago, i.e., in 1874. It only remains for me to add that I trust that my objection on the latter point will not be mistakenly viewed as of a sectional nature. It is, on the contrary and obviously, an opposition to what is, on the very face of it, sectional and narrow. My attitude would be precisely the same in the interest of common fairness, if I did not belong to the legal profession at all and if the exclusion from all chances of eligibility were levelled at the barrister or the attorney class.

P. ANANDA CHARLU.

Annexure showing the amendments referred to in the foregoing Minute of Dissent.

- I.—That, in clause 2, sub-clause (2), the words "or a Vakil of a High Court, admitted under the Letters Patent and the rules framed thereunder" be inserted after the words "or attorney"; and the words and figures "notwithstanding anything in the Administrator General's Act, 1874" before the words "any Deputy" be omitted as consequential on the repeal of section 6 hereinafter proposed.
- II.—That, in clause 4, sub-clause (1), the words and figure "Section 6, the" be inserted and the word "The" be omitted, before the words "second proviso to section 9".
- III.—That, in the same clause 4, the figure (3) in the present sub-clause (3) be altered into the figure (4) and a fresh clause numbered (3) be inserted after the sub-clause (2), in terms following:—
 "The High Court of the Province may, on application made to it, discharge, on such conditions as the High Court may deem fit to impose, any person or persons who may have stood surety or sureties for any administrator, and substitute other person or persons in the place of the surety or sureties who may be discharged".

In signing the Report of the Select Committee, I desire it to be placed on record that, in my opinion, it is not desirable to amalgamate the two offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee, on the ground that the work of the Administrator General is fully sufficient for that officer even with the assistance of a Deputy. In the event of an amalgamation I consider that an Assistant Deputy will be required to insure the thoroughly effective working of the combined offices.

No. II.

Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees; It is hereby enacted as follows:

or offices may be subject, shall be defrayed by the Government.

(6) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to render the Government or the Administrator General appointed after the commencement of this Act liable for anything done or purporting to be done by or under the authority of the Administrator General before the commencement of this Act, or, where the Administrator General is also Official Trustee, for anything done or purporting to be done by or under the authority of any Official Trustee appointed before the appointment of the Administrator General to be Official Trustee.

(7) The Government shall be deemed to be responsible for the civil liabilities of any Administrator General remunerated by such fixed salary and allowances as aforesaid as Administrator General or, if he is also Official Trustee, as Official Trustee.

(8) Notwithstanding anything in the Code of Civil Procedure, a suit to enforce any such civil liability as aforesaid shall be brought against the Administrator General as Administrator General or, if he is also Official Trustee, as Official Trustee, as the case may be, by his name of office; and no suit so brought shall abate by reason of the death, resignation, suspension or removal of the person holding the office of Administrator General or Official Trustee.

(9) The second proviso to section 9, and Repeal of part of section 56, of the Administrator General's Act, 1874, and section 56, of the Official Trustees Act, 1864, are hereby repealed.

(12) So far as regards the Administrator General of any of the Presidencies of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, the High Court at the Presidency-town may, on application made to it, give to such Administrator General any general or special directions in regard to any estate in his charge or any trust of which he is the Official Trustee, or in regard to the administration of any such estate or trust.

(a) The High Court of the Province may, in like manner, give similar directions to any private executor or administrator other than the Administrator General acting officially.

6. The High Court of the Province may make rules for assigning jurisdiction under the Administrator General's Act, 1874, or the Official Trustees Act, 1864, to subordinate Courts, and for defining such jurisdiction.

7. The Administrator General acting as such or as Official Trustee, and any private executor or administrator, may, in addition to, and not in derogation of, any other powers of expenditure lawfully exercisable by him, incur expenditure—

(a) on such acts as may be necessary for the proper care and management of any property belonging to any estate or trust administered by him; and,

(b) with the sanction of the High Court at the Presidency-town in the case of the Administrator General, or with that of the High Court of the Province in the case of a private executor or administrator, on such religious, charitable and other objects, and on such improvements, as may be reasonable and proper in the case of such property.

or in any other enactment or rule of law for the time being in force, the Governor General in Council may, by general or special order, direct that, where a subject of a foreign State dies in British India and it appears that there is no one in British India, other than the Administrator General, entitled to apply to a Court of competent jurisdiction for letters of administration of the estate of the deceased, letters of administration shall, on the application to such Court of any consular officer of such foreign State, be granted to such consular officer on such terms and conditions as the Court may, subject to any rules made in this behalf by the Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India, think fit to impose.

ADMINISTRATORS GENERAL AND OFFICIAL TRUSTEES BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees. He said:— "I propose, with Your Excellency's permission, to add a few remarks to supplement the statement which I made when introducing this Bill at the meeting of the 20th December. On that occasion I confined myself to a very brief explanation, the objects and reasons underlying the measure being, as I then thought, well understood and appreciated. Some of the representations, however, which have been made to the Select Committee, and which have also been the subject of discussion in the public press, have shown that it is desirable to explain more fully the grounds on which the Government of India have acted in the matter, and I proceed to do so.

"The combination of the offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee has almost from the first been contemplated as suitable by the Statute-law, an express provision on the subject having been included in Act VIII of 1855, reproduced in Act XXIV of 1867 and again reproduced in Act II of 1874, the enactment now in force. So far as the nature of the duties appertaining to those offices is concerned, there would seem to be everything in favour of the combination and nothing against it, the only question remaining being as to its practical feasibility. The Finance Committee of 1887 not only came to the conclusion that it was feasible, but went further by submitting the larger proposal that a central Government office should be maintained to manage the estates of insolvents and intestates, estates in litigation and estates under trusts, two officers being appointed, one to assist the other and both to be remunerated by the Government, the balance of the commission and fees leviable and levied under the law being retained by the Government. In other words, the Finance Committee suggested the amalgamation of all four offices of Administrator General, Official Trustee, Official Assignee and Official Receiver under two officers, the one to be the Deputy and Assistant of the other.

"In 1897 the Government of India referred the whole question of amalgamation (along with certain others to which I need not now advert) to a strong Committee, on which the High Court and the Bar were represented by the present Chief Justice of Bengal, as President, and by Sir Griffith Evans and Mr. Dunne, then Standing Counsel, as members, the remaining three members being the Home Secretary and the Deputy Secretaries in the Finance and Legislative Departments. The relevant parts of the Committee's report of the 29th April, 1898, which was submitted in response to this reference, I will now read to the Council.

"The Committee', it was said, 'have carefully considered the proposal for the amalgamation of the four offices, with the result that they doubt whether it would be possible to combine the control of all four in one person. The office of Official Assignee in particular is a special one which has little in common with any of the others, while it is essential that it should be filled by a lawyer who has made a special study and practice of the intricate law of bankruptcy. Moreover, one officer alone could clearly not undertake the duties of the four offices; and, in the case of the Official Assigneeship, there is this objection to the alternative proposal to allot the duties of the appointment to a Deputy working under the supervision of a Chief, that the Deputy, if a proper appointment were made, would be a specialist and, consequently, more capable of supervising his particular branch than the Chief himself.

"The Office of Assigneeship might, however, in the opinion of the Committee, be combined with the Official Receivership, and this combination would be the more appropriate because both offices are directly connected with the High Court and with proceedings pending on the Original Side of that Court. The Official Assignee is appointed by the Chief Justice under section 14 of the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Vict., c. 21), while the existence of the Official Receiver is entirely dependent upon the orders of the High Court, which purport to be passed in pursuance of section 503 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882).

"Both the Administrator General and the Official Trustee of Bengal are appointed by the Government under the Administrator General's Act, 1874 (II of 1874), and the Official Trustees Act, 1864 (XVII of 1864), respectively, and there seems to be no reason why the same person should not hold both appointments. That there would be no legal objection to such an amalgamation is clear from the fact that the first proviso to section 9 of the Act of 1874 expressly contemplates it.

"The holder of the appointment (of Administrator General and Official Trustee) ought, in the opinion of the Committee, to be a barrister, and he should be debarred from general practice and from undertaking, otherwise than in his official capacity, any executorship or trusteeship. The mere fact of his being a Government servant in receipt of a fixed salary from the Treasury would materially alter his position and enable the Government to exercise such supervision over him as it might think fit. It would not be in his interest either to keep, or to refrain from keeping an estate in the Administration Department of the office rather than in the other branch, and one of the grounds of complaint which has been suggested, would then probably disappear. But, in order to place him still more under control, the Committee would recommend that power be taken for the High Court, similar to that conferred by section 1 (4) of the Judicial Trustees Act, 1896 (59 & 60 Vict., c. 35), either on request or without request, to give such general or special directions in regard to any administration or trust as might to it seem right and proper.

"The Government would be credited with all the receipts, and it would, per contra, bear all the charges, accepting, of course, the entire responsibility connected with the administration of estates through its officers, and probably safeguarding the interests of the public by requiring such security as is now furnished by the Administrator General.

"The Committee have further considered the question whether section 56 of the Administrator General's Act, 1874, ought to be repealed or maintained, and their conclusion is that it ought to be repealed as soon as vested interests admit. The Committee believe that, if the action of the Administrator General is brought under some sort of supervision and control, such as is contemplated by this report, there is but little danger of the public preferring private agency-houses to official administration. If, on the other hand, official administration is unsatisfactory and nothing is done to improve it, they think that the public ought not to be precluded from employing private agency."

"These views appeared to be in themselves well-considered, reasonable and sound; they were endorsed both by the Government of Bengal and by the Calcutta High Court; and, emanating as they did from such high authority and with such support, neither the Government of India nor the Secretary of State felt any hesitation in accepting them and deciding that they should be acted upon as soon as the occasion presented itself. Meantime, however, we had grave reasons for believing that, quite apart from the question whether the office of Administrator General should be filled by a salaried officer of the Government or by a practically independent official, the public were not fully satisfied with the manner in which the office was being actually administered. The Government determined, therefore, to appoint a Committee, presided over by a Judge of the Calcutta High Court and including the Comptroller General and an experienced Divisional Commissioner to advise on matters connected with finance and the management of estates in the mufassil. The late Mr. Broughton had, in answer to certain inquiries made of him, maintained that his system of administration and management was perfectly sound and complete, and had frankly asked for an inspection of his office. Mr. Justice Sale's Committee was requested to accept this invitation and to report the result. In due course they submitted the following recommendations to the Government:—

- "(1) that the remuneration of the Administrator General by commission should be abolished and that he should be remunerated by salary, carrying with it a pension;
- "(2) that the Administrator General should have a Deputy, also remunerated by salary;

"(3) that the Government should accept responsibility for mistakes and errors in the future administration of estates by the Administrator General;

"(4) that the office-establishment should be strengthened and the work re-arranged; and

"(5) that the repeal of section 56 of Act II of 1874 should be accompanied by proper provision being made for the exercise of control over non-official administrators, especially as regards the charging of commission and the keeping and auditing of accounts.

"These recommendations were supported by facts which supplied full confirmation of the view that a change in the method of administration was demanded in the public interests; and, as to the sequel, I need add only this, that the late Mr. Broughton tendered his resignation with effect from the 1st of January. From what I have now stated, it will, I sincerely trust, be manifest that the Government of India, have from first to last, acted on the best advice at their command and with due regard to the interests of the public.

"I hope, My Lord, to move at the next meeting of the Council that the Report of the Select Committee, which I have had the honour to present to-day, be taken into consideration, and that the Bill, which, it will be seen, has been materially simplified and revised by the Committee, be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH said:—"My Hon'ble Colleague has given the history of the Bill now reported. I ask leave to add a few words on the legal effect of the Bill, on the alterations made in Committee, and on some of the objections which have been taken to the measure out of doors.

"The Select Committee has accepted the proposal to make further provision for combining the offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee. It has been contended that the work of the two offices is more than one man can undertake; but we are not in fact proposing that one man should do the work of two; the Bill makes provision for the appointment of a Deputy. Government has accepted amendments, the effect of which will be that the Administrator General will always be a barrister, while the Deputy may be either a barrister or solicitor. It was suggested that the higher appointment should also be open to solicitors, but the Committee came to the conclusion that, if the head of the office possesses the higher qualification, his opinion will be more readily accepted when legal questions arise in the course of administration. It must be admitted that the interests of the Bar are to some extent affected by the Bill. An officiating appointment now reserved for barristers will be open to another branch of the Profession; and the position of Administrator General, though we are perhaps making it more secure, will not be so lucrative as it has been in the past. I regret that the Bill should have this incidental effect, but in framing a measure of this kind we have to consider, first and chiefly, the interest of the public.

"In a letter addressed to the Government of India by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, objection is taken to the proposed combination of offices, apparently on the ground that the two officers in question are appointed by different authorities. 'Official Trustees', so the letter runs, 'are appointed by the Chief Justices of Bengal, Madras and Bombay'. The gentleman who supplied this statement to the Chamber must, I think, have used a copy of Act XVII of 1864, without inquiring whether the law had undergone any change in the ensuing 38 years. The appointment of Official Trustees is vested in Government, and this has been the law since 1890.

"Clause 3 of the Bill contains the necessary provisions for making the Administrator General a salaried officer of Government. It is now a principle, very generally accepted, that where a Government office is paid by commission or fees for services rendered, the heads of the office should be remunerated by salary, and the profits (if any) should be taken by Government. Where this is not the case, the office becomes an independent concern, and defects in its procedure are not easily corrected. When, for example, the public began to complain of delays and abuses in the office of the Administrator General of Bengal, we could only refer to the Administrator General himself, until at last the complaints became so serious as to demand a formal inquiry.

"In drafting clause 3, certain general words were used to make it clear that Government on taking over the office will be entitled to all profits, and will meet all liabilities. These general words were interpreted in some quarters as indicating a design on the part of Government to alter fundamentally the present methods of administration, and to appropriate, in some unexplained manner, the estates of deceased persons. Thus, in a letter addressed to Government by the Calcutta Trades Association, it is suggested that 'the scheme and main object of the Bill is to legalise what otherwise would amount to a breach of trust; and thereby to afford an additional source of revenue to Government'. I do not quite grasp the meaning of this, nor am I aware of anything in the declarations or the conduct of this Government which justifies these apprehensions and suspicions. But, as our clause was misunderstood, the Select Committee has taken it to pieces, leaving out any words which might be construed as going beyond the purpose of the Bill, and inserting new provisions which ought to make the position clear. We do not propose to make any subversive change in present methods; the Bill, when it becomes an Act, will be read together with the principal Act. As stated in the Report, accounts will be kept and estates managed as heretofore; decrees and orders of the Courts will operate as they do now. That is the intention of Government; if the Bill as amended does not express that intention, there is still time to consider any suggestion for its improvement.

"Before leaving clause 3, I must deal with an objection which is urged in the letter of the Chamber of Commerce. It is there argued that 'the constitution of the office both of Administrator General and Official Trustee is that of a corporation sole'; and that the effect of the Bill is 'to extinguish the offices in question, and to repeal the material provisions of the existing Acts'. On this I would remark, in the first place, that, when the Legislature creates a corporation, express words are usually employed for the purpose; and in this connexion I may refer, by way of illustration, to the Act of Parliament, 39 & 40 Vict., c. 18, by which the Solicitor to the Treasury was made a corporation sole. The office of Administrator General was constituted by Act VII of 1840, amended and re-enacted by Act VIII of 1855, then by Act XXIV of 1867, and finally by Act II of 1874, which is now in force. In these Acts there are no express words of incorporation; but it may be admitted that on some important points a corporate character has been given to this office. Under section 29 of the principal Act, letters of administration are granted to the Administrator General by his name of office; under section 33, estates and interests vested in the Administrator General are divested when he vacates his office, and vest in his successor immediately on his appointment; and under section 34, suits and other proceedings commenced by or against an Administrator General in his representative character are brought by or against him in his name of office. It seems to me doubtful, in point of law, whether these sections, taken together, amount to the constitution of a corporation sole, and the language of section 34 is not easy to reconcile with the theory now put forward. But, supposing the theory to be correct, has it any practical bearing on this Bill? Assuming that the Administrator General is a corporation, there is not and never was, anything in this Bill to deprive him of that status. If the adviser of the Chamber is under the impression that a salaried officer cannot be a corporation, I may refer once more to the case of the Solicitor to the Treasury.

"The case of the Official Trustee is on the same footing as that of the Administrator General. Under section 17 of the Act of 1864, he is appointed to act in any case by his name of office; and under section 18, suits and other proceedings are brought by or against him by his name of office. I should think it incautious to say, on the strength of these provisions, that the Official Trustee is a corporation sole; but if he is, the Bill will not alter his position.

"Your Lordship may perhaps think that I am asking the attention of Council to matters fit only for a court of law. But I am constrained to deal with these matters here, because this legal reasoning has been used to excite alarm in the general community, to persuade a body of business men, that Government has brought in a dangerous Bill. I cannot argue the Trades Association and the Chamber of Commerce out of their present frame of mind, except by showing them that their criticism has been directed against an imaginary Government and an imaginary Bill.

"In clause 6 of the Bill referred to the Select Committee, it was proposed to confer a rule-making power on the High Courts. For the reasons given in the Report, that proposal has been dropped, but there is one small part of it which I should like very briefly to mention. It is commonly known that an executor, who owes his appointment to the confidence of his testator, is not usually required to furnish security when he enters on the administration of the estate. The Judges of the High Court say he should only find security when he is insolvent or in embarrassed circumstances. But in this small class of cases we proposed that the Judges should determine by rule who should give security, and in what form. I was prepared to suggest a verbal amendment in clause 6, sub-clause (1) (a); but I was not prepared for the remarkable argument which has been founded upon it. It was at once assumed that the High Court would make an oppressive rule, requiring all executors to give security, and fixing the amount without regard to circumstances. The Court was to do this, not of its own accord but at the instigation of Government; and the object of Government was to make the private executor's position so burdensome and so embarrassing that he would be driven to transfer the estate to the Administrator General. This piece of morbid fiction has attained a considerable circulation in the present month. Your Lordship will observe that the Government is accused of an unscrupulous design to create a monopoly in favour of the Administrator General—and this at the very moment when, by repealing section 56 of the principal Act, we are admitting private persons to compete with the Administrator General.

"I trust, My Lord, that the explanations given to-day will remove some at least of the many misconceptions which have gathered round this Bill."

IMPERIAL LIBRARY (INDENTURES VALIDATION) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved that the Bill to confirm and validate certain indentures made between the Agricultural and Horticultural Society of India and the Calcutta Public Library, respectively, and the Secretary of State for India in Council be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved that the Bill be passed. He said:—"The objects of this Bill were fully explained by Your Lordship, and by myself, at the time of its introduction. No objection has been received to anything in the Bill and Schedules, and I now move that the Bill be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. TURNER said:—"Before this Bill is passed, I desire to take this opportunity of congratulating Your Excellency's Government in having arrived at so satisfactory an agreement as that which will be legalised by the passing of the Bill. As a member of the Horticultural Society, I was under the painful necessity of attending meetings at the Metcalfe Hall, and it invariably struck me that the condition of that historic hall was a reproach and a disgrace to Calcutta. Under the new conditions, this, My Lord, will be impossible in the future, and that alone in itself is a worthy object that has been attained. But, apart from that, the arrangements made have enabled a deserving and useful Society—the Agri-Horticultural Society—to acquit itself of certain liabilities. It has also enabled the Government of India to form the nucleus of a most valuable Public Library of reference—a library which, I believe, will be of inestimable value to those of the present and future generations. I think, My Lord, that the thanks of the public are due to Your Excellency, and also to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, for having brought about such a happy result."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 14th February, 1902.

Board of Agriculture,

4, Whitehall Place, S. W. ;
12th December 1901.

No. A.-9443—1901.

SIR,

I am directed by the Board of Agriculture to advert to their letters of the 4th March 1899 and the 10th August 1900 on the subject of the Importation of Dogs Order of 1897 and the Memoranda issued thereunder, and I am to say that, in view of the fact that rabies, whilst very prevalent abroad, is believed to have been finally eradicated in the United Kingdom, it has been considered a favourable opportunity to issue regulations which, although not differing in character from those at present in force in so far as they require all dogs landed from abroad to undergo a period of quarantine, yet lay down more specific and stringent rules on the subject.

I am accordingly to forward to you (under separate cover) 500 copies of the Importation of Dogs Order of 1901; and of a Memorandum and 1,000 copies of a leaflet thereon, and to ask you to be so good as to move the Secretary of State to give directions, as on previous occasions, for the transmission of copies to His Excellency the Governor General of India, and to Their Excellencies the Governors of Madras and Bombay, for the information of those concerned. As indicated in their letter of the 4th March 1899 referred to, the Board think it especially desirable that information on this subject should be circulated in the various military stations in India.

The Regulations previously issued under the Importation of Dogs Order of 1897 will cease to have effect on the 1st proximo, and it would be convenient that all copies of the Order, and of the Memorandum thereon, No. A-160—A., dated the 8th August 1900, should now be destroyed. It will be observed, however, that the new Order will not have full effect prior to the 15th March next, and in the meantime the landing of dogs, other than performing dogs, which are intended to be kept in this country, will be authorized on conditions substantially the same as those which have hitherto obtained.

I may add for the information of Lord George Hamilton that from and after the 21st instant all restrictions will be removed on the landing in Great Britain of dogs brought from Ireland.

I am, etc.,

T. H. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.

(DATED 12TH DECEMBER 1901.)

IMPORTATION OF DOGS ORDER OF 1901.

The Board of Agriculture, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in them vested under the Diseases of Animals Acts, 1894 and 1896, and of every other power enabling them in this behalf, do order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:

Restriction on Importation of Dogs.

1. An imported dog, that is to say, a dog brought to Great Britain from any other country, except Ireland, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, shall not be landed in Great Britain unless its landing is authorized by a license of the Board previously obtained, and, when landed, it shall be subject to the provisions of this Order and to the conditions inserted in any license authorizing its landing.

(2) During the said period the dog shall not be moved from the place of detention except to another place of detention or to a vessel for exportation, and in either case only with a license of the Board authorizing such movement.

(3) This Article shall not apply to (a) an imported dog which is shown to the satisfaction of the Board to be a bond fide performing dog; or (b) to an imported dog which is intended to be exported from Great Britain within forty-eight hours after its landing; but every such dog shall be subject to the other Articles of this Order.

(4) This Article shall come into operation on the fifteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred and two.

Conditions of License.

3. The Board may insert in any license granted by them under this Order authorizing the landing of an imported dog such conditions as they think necessary or desirable for the following purposes :—

- (ii) for prescribing the person by whom and the premises on which the dog shall be detained and isolated ;
- (iii) for regulating the movement of the dog to the place of detention, or vessel for exportation, and for prohibiting or regulating its movement during a period of six calendar months after its landing, or until its exportation, as the case may be ;
- (iv) for prescribing the confinement of the dog in a suitable hamper, crate, box, or other receptacle during the movement of the dog by railway, or along a highway or thoroughfare ;
- (v) for prescribing the mode of isolation of the dog ;
- (vi) for prescribing the muzzling of the dog ;
- (vii) for prescribing the notice to be given of the death or loss of the dog, or of any matter arising in connection with the movement, detention, or isolation of the dog and the persons by whom and to whom the notice is to be given ; and

Notice of Detention in case of Illegal Landing.

4. (1) Where an imported dog has been landed in contravention of this Order or of any Order hereby revoked, the Board, or an Inspector of the Board, may give notice to the owner or person in charge of the dog requiring that, within a time specified in such notice, the dog shall be moved (a) to a vessel for exportation, or (b) to a place of detention for the purpose of detention and isolation in accordance with the provisions of such notice.

(2) Such provisions may be inserted in the notice as the Board may think necessary or desirable for any of the purposes mentioned in the preceding Article.

(3) A notice under this Article may, subject to any instructions issued by the Board, be given by an Inspector of the Local Authority.

(4) If the owner or person in charge of the dog, after receipt of such notice, fails to move the dog as required by the notice, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

Withdrawal of License in cases of Default.

5. (1) If the owner or person in charge of an imported dog is convicted of an offence under this Order in relation to the dog, the Board, or an Inspector of the Board, may give notice to such owner or person in charge, requiring him to move the dog to a vessel for exportation within a time specified in such notice.

(2) If the owner or person in charge of the dog, after receipt of such notice, fails to move the dog as required by the notice, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

Re-landing prohibited of Imported Dogs moved to Vessels for Exportation.

6. An imported dog which has been moved to a vessel for exportation in accordance with a license or notice under this Order shall not be re-landed in Great Britain without a license of the Board authorizing such landing.

Seizure of Dogs in case of Default.

7. (1) If an imported dog is not detained and isolated as required by this Order or by the conditions or provisions of any license or notice thereunder, an Inspector of the Board may seize the dog, and thereupon the Board shall detain and isolate it at the place of detention specified in the license or notice, or any other place of detention selected by them in accordance with requirements of this Order or the said conditions or provisions.

(2) If the owner of the dog does not, within ten days after the expiration of the period of detention specified in this Order or in the license or notice, claim the said dog from the Board and pay to them their expenses of detaining and isolating the dog, the Board may destroy or otherwise dispose of the dog as they think expedient.

Proceedings under Customs Acts for Unlawful Landing.

8. (1) If any person lands or attempts to land a dog in contravention of this Order, he shall be liable, under and according to the Customs Acts, to the penalties imposed on persons importing or attempting to import goods the importation whereof is prohibited by or under the Customs Acts, without prejudice to any proceedings against him under the Act of 1894 for an offence against that Act.

(2) The dog in respect whereof the offence is committed shall be forfeited under and according to the Customs Acts in like manner as goods the importation whereof is prohibited by or under the Customs Acts.

Detention of Dogs on Vessels in Port.

9. (1) Every dog to which this Article applies shall at all times while on board a vessel in any port in Great Britain be—

(a) secured to some part of the vessel by a collar and chain and muzzled with a wire cage muzzle so constructed as to render it impossible for such dog while wearing the same to bite any person or animal, but not so as to prevent such dog from breathing freely or lapping water; or

(b) confined in an enclosed part of the vessel from which the dog cannot escape.

(2) If any dog to which this Article applies shall die, or be lost from a vessel, in any port in Great Britain, the person in charge of the dog shall forthwith give notice of such death or loss to the Board.

(3) The provisions of this Article shall apply to every imported dog which is not accompanied by a license issued by the Board authorizing the landing of such dog in Great Britain.

Extension of certain Sections of Diseases of Animals Act, 1894.

10. Dogs shall be animals, and rabies shall be a disease, for the purposes of the following sections of the Act of 1894 (namely):—

Section forty-three (powers of police);

Section forty-four (powers of inspectors);

Section fifty-six (unlawful landing);

and also for the purposes of all other sections of the said Act containing provisions relative to or consequent on the provisions of those sections and this Order, including such sections as relate to offences and legal proceedings.

Local Authority to enforce Order.

11. The provisions of this Order, except where it is otherwise provided, shall be executed and enforced by the Local Authority.

Offences.

12. (1) If a dog is landed in contravention of this Order, the owner and the charterer and the master of the vessel from which it is landed, and the owner of the dog, and the person for the time being in charge thereof, and the person causing, directing, or permitting the landing, and the person landing the same, and the consignee or other person receiving or keeping it knowing it to have been landed in contravention as aforesaid, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(2) If a dog is moved in contravention of this Order, or of the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, the owner of the dog, and the person for the time being in charge thereof, and the person causing, directing, or permitting the movement and the person moving the dog, and the consignee or other person receiving or keeping it knowing it to have been moved in contravention as aforesaid, and the occupier of the place from which the dog is moved, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(3) If a dog is not kept isolated as required by this Order, or by the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, the owner of the dog, and the person for the time being in charge thereof, and the occupier of the place where such dog is detained, and the person failing or neglecting to isolate the dog, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts, defaults, or omissions, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(4) If a dog is not secured, muzzled, or confined as required by this Order, or by the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, the owner of the dog, and the person for the time being in charge thereof, and the master of any vessel on board which the dog is or has been carried to Great Britain, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(5) If a person with a view to unlawfully evade or defeat the operation of this Order or of the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, allows a dog to stray, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(6) If the owner or person in charge of a dog fails to give, produce, or do any notice, license, or thing which by this Order, or by the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, he is required to give, produce, or do, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

Revocation of Orders.

13. (1) The Orders described in the Schedule to this Order are hereby from and after the commencement of this Order revoked: Provided that such revocation shall not invalidate or make unlawful anything done under any Order hereby revoked, or affect any license or authority granted, or any right, title, obligation, or liability accrued thereunder before the commencement of this Order, or interfere with the institution or prosecution of any proceeding in respect of any offence committed against, or any penalty incurred under, any Order hereby revoked before the commencement of this Order.

(2) A license granted under any Order hereby revoked shall, from and after the commencement of this Order, have effect as if it had been granted under this Order, and may be enforced accordingly.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE

IMPORTATION OF DOGS ORDER OF 1901.

The Board of Agriculture desire to draw the attention of Local Authorities and of the public generally to the provisions of this Order, which regulates the landing in Great Britain of dogs brought from any country except Ireland, the Channel Islands, or the Isle of Man.

This Order, which consolidates and amends the Importation of Dogs Order of 1897 and the Orders amending it, takes effect from the 1st of January 1902, except as to Article 2, which is particularly referred to hereafter. It will be observed that no imported dog is allowed to be landed in Great Britain without a license of the Board of Agriculture obtained previous to landing.

Until the 15th March next, the landing of dogs will be authorized under substantially the same conditions as to detention and isolation as have hitherto obtained. After the 15th March, the landing of dogs will be subject to Article 2 of the Order, which expressly provides that every imported dog must be detained and isolated at the expense of its owner upon premises in the occupation or under the control of a veterinary surgeon, which shall have been previously approved in writing by the Board for that purpose, for a period of six calendar months, during which period the dog may not be moved from the place of detention except as provided in that Article. This Article does not apply in the case of an imported dog which is intended to be exported from Great Britain within forty-eight hours, or of a performing dog, with regard to the detention and isolation of which special conditions will be imposed by the license authorizing its landing.

CONDITIONS OF LICENSES.

The Board may insert in any license granted by them authorizing the landing of an imported dog such further conditions as they think necessary or desirable for prescribing and regulating the detention and isolation of the dog, upon the place of detention authorized in the license, or for any of the purposes set forth in Article 3 of the Order.

Every dog which is brought to Great Britain from any other country except Ireland, the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man, and which is not accompanied by a license issued by the Board of Agriculture authorizing the landing of the dog in Great Britain, must at all times while on board a vessel in any port in Great Britain be (a) secured to some part of the vessel by a collar and chain and muzzled with a wire cage muzzle so constructed as to render it impossible for such dog while wearing the same to bite any person or animal, but not so as to prevent such dog from breathing freely or lapping water; or (b) confined in an enclosed part of the vessel, from which the dog cannot escape. And if any such dog die, or be lost from such a vessel, the person in charge of the dog is required forthwith to give notice of such death or loss to the Board.

The Memorandum A.-160—A. as to the Importation of Dogs into Great Britain from abroad, dated the 8th August 1900, will cease to have effect when Article 2 of this Order comes into operation.

In order that as little inconvenience as possible may be caused in the enforcement of the Order, the Board trust that local authorities will assist them by taking steps to make its contents known as widely as possible in their districts.

Secretary.

DISEASES OF ANIMALS ACTS, 1894 AND 1896.

Importation of Dogs into Great Britain.

On and after the 1st day of January 1902, the landing in Great Britain of dogs from abroad will only be permitted subject to the provisions of the Importation of Dogs Order of 1901, which in effect requires that after the 15th of March next every imported dog shall be detained and isolated at the expense of its owner upon premises in the occupation or under the control of a veterinary surgeon for a period of six calendar months from the date of landing.

Until the 15th of March next dogs will be allowed to land upon conditions substantially the same as at present.

The disease of rabies having ceased to exist both in Great Britain and in Ireland, it has become of the utmost importance that the most effective steps should be taken to prevent its re-introduction from abroad, and the Board have felt it incumbent upon them, in the interests of dog-owners in this country, to amend their regulations in the manner above described, and to warn persons who may propose to travel that after the above-mentioned date the isolation and detention of dogs on the private premises of their owners can no longer be sanctioned.

By the Dogs Landing (from Ireland) Revocation Order of 1901, the restrictions on the movement of dogs between Ireland and Great Britain have been removed.

Despatch to His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 349, dated the 7th November, 1901.
Despatch from His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 207 (Financial), dated the 20th December, 1901.

RESOLUTION.—With the sanction of His Majesty's Secretary of State, the Governor General in Council has approved of the institution of a Provident Fund for the officers of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department.

2. The rules under which the Fund will for the present be conducted are attached to this Resolution

3. Subscriptions to the Fund should first be made on salaries becoming due on the 1st of April, 1902

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, with reference to his letter No. 2822, dated the 5th October, 1901; to the Comptroller and Auditor General; and to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, for information

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

NORTHERN INDIA SALT REVENUE DEPARTMENT PROVIDENT FUND.

1. Preamble.

I.—The institution of a Provident Fund under the conditions specified in Rule II is sanctioned for officers of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department of or above the rank of Assistant Superintendent

2. Qualifications.

II.—The following officers will be required to subscribe to the Fund:—

(a) All European and Eurasian officers appointed in future, whether married or unmarried, from the date of their appointment.

(b) All European and Eurasian married officers already in the service, excepting those who may be specially exempted under the orders of the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, in each case on production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that their families are adequately secured against want by subscription to the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund, or in other suitable manner.

Note.—For the purposes of this rule, the term "married officers" includes widowers with children, but excludes widowers without children. The latter are held to be "unmarried" for the purpose of Rule II (c).

(c) European and Eurasian officers at present in the service and now unmarried, on their marrying, except as provided in Rule II (b) above.

III.—Officers who are exempted from subscribing to the Fund under Rule II (b) or (c) shall be required to produce annually such evidence as shall satisfy the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, that the provision on account of which exemption is claimed is duly continued.

IV.—European and Eurasian officers other than those required to subscribe under Rule II and Native officers shall have the option of subscribing to the Fund. Officers with whom subscription to the Fund is optional may discontinue or renew their subscriptions at their option.

3. Subscriptions.

V.—The conditions under which officers will join the Fund are as follows:—

(1) The monthly deposit may not be less than 5 per cent or more than 10 per cent on the salary (as defined in the Civil Service Regulations) of each depositor for the month.

(2) An officer on leave of any kind may at his option subscribe any sum he pleases subject to a minimum of 5 per cent on his leave allowances and a maximum of 10 per cent on the salary he drew when last on duty.

VI.—Deposits will be recovered by deduction from bills, except in the following cases, in which they may be made in cash in India:—

Receipts of deposits.

- (1) When an officer draws his leave allowances out of India.
- (2) When an officer is on leave without allowances.
- (3) When an officer is in foreign service.

Cash subscriptions must be remitted by depositors to the Secretary of the Fund. Receipts and payments will be made in rupees only.

Arrear subscriptions of voluntary deposits are never allowed. Arrear subscriptions are permissible in the case of compulsory deposits, and their recovery will be enforced, even though it may result in a recovery in excess of the limit of 10 per cent of the salary from which it is made.

4. Benefits.

VII.—Compound interest at 4 per cent on the payments made will be annually credited by Government to each officer subscribing. The Government may at any time, at its option, and without giving any right to withdrawal of subscriptions, reduce the rate of interest to any rate not less than half per cent in excess of that at which it is raising rupee loans in India.

VIII.—Interest will be allowed for each calendar month upon the minimum balance of the depositor's account between the close of the fourth day and the end of the month. In calculating interest under this rule, the deposits received by deduction from salary will be considered as paid into the Fund on the 1st of the month succeeding that for which the salaries from which the deductions are made are due. The interest will be calculated monthly, but will not be added to principal until the end of the official year, except when the account is to be finally closed in consequence of the depositors dying or quitting the service. Interest will be allowed up to the end of the month in which the depositor dies, or which immediately precedes that in which he quits the service, whether the balance at credit is withdrawn before or after the end of that month.

IX.—As exceptions to the rule that subscriptions realised by deduction from pay bills are to be considered for the purpose of calculating interest as paid into the Fund on the 1st of the month succeeding that for which the salaries from which the deductions are made are due:

- (1) Deductions made from salaries paid in advance owing to transfer or long leave out of India are to be considered, in the case of the former, as having been made on the date on which an officer is relieved of his duties, and, in the case of the latter, as having been made on the date on which the Account Office pays up an officer prior to embarkation.
- (2) Deductions from salaries paid in arrears in consequence of promotion given with retrospective effect should be considered as having been made on the first of the month in which the arrears are drawn.

In the case of reversions made with retrospective effect, the write-back of the amount originally recovered in conformity with the rules should be considered as having been made on the first of the month in which the recovery is effected.

X.—The sum which will thus accumulate to the credit of an officer will be his absolute property, to be handed over to him unconditionally on quitting the service, or, in the event of his death before retirement, to his legal representatives. Government will not be bound by or recognise any assignment or trust executed or attempted to be created by any officer during his lifetime, and will only make payments (1) during the lifetime of the officer on his own receipt; (2) after his death, in accordance with rule XI below.

XI.—The balances of deceased depositors are regulated by the Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), the Administrator General's Act (II of 1874) and the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889), in cases where the balance at credit of the deceased member exceeds two thousand rupees; and in cases where the balance at credit does not exceed two thousand rupees, by section 3 of the Provident Funds Act (IX of 1897), which is quoted below:—

Section 3.—(1) When a subscriber to, or depositor in, any Government or Railway Provident Fund dies, and the sum standing to his credit in the Books of the Fund does not exceed two thousand rupees, the officer or person whose duty it is to make payment of such sum may pay it as follows:—

- (a) He may pay it to any person entitled to receive it according to the rules of the Fund, or, in the absence of any rule of the Fund to the contrary, to any person nominated in writing by the deceased subscriber or depositor to receive it;
- (b) in any case not hereinbefore provided for, he may pay it to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply to any such sum which, at the commencement of this Act, stands to the credit of any subscriber or depositor already deceased.

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect the validity of the rules of any Fund in so far as such rules may provide for the disposal of sums exceeding two thousand rupees.

5. Advances.

XII.—No withdrawal will ordinarily be allowed from the deposit until the depositor quits the service or dies. But on the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, being satisfied that the pecuniary circumstances of a depositor are such that the indulgence is absolutely necessary, a deposit may be temporarily withdrawn under orders issued by the Commissioner—

- (i) to pay for the passage of the depositor going on leave out of India on medical certificate or returning after such absence ;
- (ii) to pay for the passage of any member of the depositor's family coming from beyond the sea to join him, or going beyond sea, sick, or from some urgent cause.

XIII.—Before authorising a withdrawal under the above rule, the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, should ascertain from the Account Officer that the withdrawal is covered by the amount at credit, and no payment may be made, save under the orders of the Account Officer.

XIV.—Withdrawals under Rule XII will be recovered in twenty equal monthly instalments compulsorily deducted from salary in addition to contributions under Rule V, whenever full salary is drawn, until the whole is refunded. Such instalments may be paid in advance.

6. Procedure.

XV.—The deposits received under the foregoing rules will be credited on the books of the Government to an account named "Northern India Salt Revenue Department Provident Fund." The administration of the Fund will rest with the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue. The Secretary of the Fund will be the Account Officer of the Fund, that is, the Comptroller, India Treasuries.

XVI.—As soon as possible after the close of each year, each depositor will receive a statement of his account with interest made up to 31st March. Depositors are required to satisfy themselves as to the correctness of these statements; and, unless errors in them are brought to the notice of the officer rendering the account within one month from the date of their receipt, Government will not be responsible for any sums not thus acknowledged.

XVII.—Any depositor may, once in the official year, but not oftener, receive on application to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, a copy of his account for the last official year and for so many months of the current year as may have been posted and agreed.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 12th February, 1902.

PUBLICATION OF THE NEW OFFICIAL VOCABULACY.

No. 43.—At the International Telegraph Conference held at Paris in 1890, it was resolved that the International Office of the Telegraph Administrations at Berne should prepare an Official Vocabulary, or Book of Code words, admissible in telegrams composed, partly, or wholly, of preconcerted language, that is to say, of words, which, while presenting in the case of each an intrinsic sense, do not form phrases intelligible to the Administrations engaged in their transmission.

2. The first edition of this Vocabulary was published in 1895, but its compilation, in which an attempt was made, in the selection of words to secure telegraphic, caligraphic, orthographic and phonetic accuracy, failed to satisfy the requirements of "phrase Code" users, and met with much opposition from the leading Chambers of Commerce and other Commercial bodies throughout the world. The Conference held at Budapest in July, 1896, therefore decided that a second edition should be prepared.

3. The second edition, or, as it is styled, the "New Official Vocabulary" differs from the first in this, that it is a mere list of words, absolutely free from the dispositions and arrangements which might give it the character of a Code. About 1,300,000 words of the eight languages (English, German, French, Italian, Dutch, Spanish, Portuguese and Latin) authorised for telegraphic correspondence in preconcerted language appear in the new edition, without being numbered, in alphabetical order, and admitted without consideration as to their orthographic resemblance or their telegraphic and phonetic similarity. To publishers and merchants who will have to prepare their own codes, as in the past, with whatever precautions they consider necessary to secure the correct transmission of their telegrams, this large number of words will afford the means for a selection which should suffice to provide for all necessary safeguards and to meet all possible requirements.

4. The New Official Vocabulary includes the words of the first edition, and in addition to them the words contained in the Codes and private Vocabularies of those publishers and merchants who forwarded them, as requested to the International Office of the Telegraph Administrations at Berne for the purpose of having their words inserted in this edition.

5. It was resolved at the Conference held at Budapest in 1896, that from a date to be fixed by a later Conference, all the words used in private telegrams worded in preconcerted language must be taken from the Official Vocabulary. Even if its use is not made compulsory the "New Official Vocabulary" has this advantage that no telegraph office can take exception to any Code telegram composed entirely of words taken from it. Its employment in India is therefore recommended. It is divided into four volumes, A to D, E to L, M to R, and S to Z, the price of which in India has been fixed as low as possible, viz., Rs 10 each.

6. An appendix has also been published containing words which have been omitted from the above volumes. This appendix will be supplied gratis to purchasers of the whole four volumes.

7. Intending purchasers are requested to apply to the Superintendent, Check Office, Government Telegraph Department, Calcutta. The books will, as a rule, be despatched by value-payable post, but in large presidency towns delivery will be effected by the Central Telegraph Office.

WHEREAS various conditions, rules, regulations and orders have from time to time been laid down by, or by the authority of, the Government, in regard to the grant of land and the occupation of land and houses in cantonments, with the object of securing, amongst other things, that houses built on such land should be made available when required for the accommodation of military officers;

And whereas, notwithstanding the said conditions, rules, regulations and orders, difficulties have frequently been experienced in obtaining house-accommodation in cantonments for military officers, and it is expedient to make better provision for that purpose;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Cantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India (inclusive of British Baluchistan), except Aden; and

(f) "owner" includes the person who is receiving, or is entitled to receive, the rent of any house, whether on his own account or on behalf of himself and others or as an agent or trustee, or who would so receive the rent, or be entitled to receive it, if the house were let to a tenant; and

(g) the expression "repairs" to a house includes such repairs as are usually made to houses in the neighbourhood, but does not include additions, improvements or alterations, except in so far as they are necessary to carry out such repairs as aforesaid or have been made with the owner's consent.

(2) If any question arises whether any land or building is appurtenant to a house, it shall be decided by the Cantonment Magistrate, whose decision thereon shall, subject to revision by the District Magistrate, be final.

CHAPTER II.

CHAPTER III.

APPROPRIATION OF HOUSES FOR OCCUPATION BY MILITARY OFFICERS.

5. Every house situate in a cantonment or part of a cantonment in respect of which a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), is for the time being in force, shall be liable, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, to appropriation at any time for occupation by a military officer. Liability of houses to appropriation for occupation by military officers.

6. Where the Cantonment Authority, on application made to it as hereinafter provided by section 8 and subject to the requirements of that section, considers that the liability imposed by section 5 should be enforced on behalf of a military officer, it may, if the house is not already occupied by a military officer, by notice—

- (a) require the owner to let the house to the military officer named in the notice, and
- (b) require the existing occupier (if any) to vacate the same.

7. If a house is already occupied by a departmental military officer, and the Cantonment Authority, on application made to it as hereinafter provided by section 8 and subject to the requirements of that section, considers that the liability imposed by section 5 should be enforced on behalf of a regimental officer, or vice versa, it may, by notice, require the officer in occupation to vacate the house; and may, if necessary, by further notice require the owner to accept the change of tenancy. Appropriation of house for regimental military officer, where already occupied by departmental military officer.

8. (1) Where a military officer considers that a notice should be issued in his behalf under section 6 or section 7, as the case may be, he may request the Commanding Officer of his regiment, or (in the case of a departmental military officer) the local head of his department, to make an application to that effect to the Cantonment Authority.

(2) On receipt of an application made under sub-section (1), the Cantonment Authority shall inquire into the case, and it shall not issue the notice applied for unless it is satisfied—

- (a) that it is necessary or expedient for the military officer to reside in the cantonment, or, if this Act is in force in part of the cantonment only, then in that part;
- (b) that the circumstances are such as to require its intervention;
- (c) that the monthly rent proposed for the house is reasonable; and
- (d) that the house is suitable for the residence of the officer and, if it is occupied, that there is no vacant house in the cantonment or the said part of the cantonment, as the case may be, which is suitable for his residence.

Explanation I.—Where the rent of a house is registered in the office of the Cantonment Authority, the rent so registered shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, to be the reasonable rent for the house.

Explanation II.—In considering whether a house is suitable for the residence of a military officer, regard shall be had to—

- (i) the locality in which his duties chiefly lie,
- (ii) his rank, and
- (iii) the number of persons dependent upon, and residing with, him.

9. Every notice to an owner issued under section 6 or section 7 shall state the amount of monthly rent proposed as reasonable for the house. Notice to state that reasonable rent is offered.

10. (1) No house in any cantonment or part of a cantonment in which this Act has been declared by a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), to be operative shall, unless it was so occupied at the date of such notification, be occupied for the purposes of a hospital, bank, hotel, shop or school, or by a railway administration, without the previous sanction of the General Officer of the Command, given with the concurrence of the Local Government. Sanction to be obtained before a house is occupied as a hospital, bank, hotel, shop or school, or by a railway administration.

(2) Before application is made for such sanction as aforesaid, the Commanding Officer of the cantonment shall certify whether or not in his opinion the number of houses in the cantonment, as compared with the strength of the existing or probable garrison, renders it likely that such occupation as aforesaid would—

- (a) cause any difficulty in obtaining accommodation in the cantonment, or in the part of the cantonment in which the house is situate, for military officers, or
- (b) necessitate the acquisition of land at some future time for the extension of the cantonment.

II. No notice shall be issued under section 6, if the house—
Houses not to be appropriated for military officers in certain cases.

- (a) was occupied prior to the date of a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), declaring the Act to be operative in the cantonment or part of the cantonment, or is occupied with the sanction required by section 10, as a hospital, bank, hotel, shop or school, and has been so occupied continuously during the three years immediately preceding the time when the occasion for issuing the notice arises, or
- (b) was occupied prior to the date of such a notification as is referred to in clause (a), or is occupied, with the sanction aforesaid, by a railway administration, or
- (c) is occupied by the owner, or
- (d) is appropriated by the Local Government, with the concurrence of the General Officer of the Command, or by the Governor General in Council, for use as a public office or for any other purpose.

12. (1) If a house is unoccupied, a notice issued under section 6 may require the owner to give possession of the same to the proposed tenant within four days from the service of the notice.
Time to be allowed for giving possession of house.

(2) If a house is occupied, a notice issued under section 6 or section 7 shall not require its vacation in less than thirty days from the service of the notice.

13. If the owner fails to give possession of a house to the proposed tenant in pursuance of a notice issued under section 6 or section 7, or if the existing occupier fails to vacate a house in pursuance of such a notice, the Cantonment Magistrate, by himself or by another person generally or specially authorized by him in this behalf, shall enter on the premises and enforce the surrender of the house.

14. (1) If a house in respect of which a notice is issued under section 6 or section 7 is shown to the satisfaction of the Local Government, or is proved by a decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction, to have been erected—
Option in certain cases for owner on whom notice is issued under section 6 or section 7 to call upon the military officer concerned or the Government to purchase.

- (a) under any conditions, rules, regulations or orders which were in force in Bengal prior to the eighth day of December, 1864, and conferred on the owner the option of offering the house for sale to the military officer applying for its appropriation for his occupation or to the East India Company or the Government, or

- (b) under any conditions, rules, regulations or orders which were in force in Bombay prior to the first day of June, 1875, and conferred such an option as is described in clause (a),

then the owner shall have the option of either complying with the notice or offering the house for sale to the military officer in whose behalf the notice was issued, or to the Government.

(2) If the owner elects to sell the house, and such military officer or the Government is willing to purchase it, the amount of the purchase-money to be paid shall, in the event of disagreement, be determined by a Committee of Arbitration.

15. (1) If a house is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease for any term exceeding one year, or from year to year, no notice shall be issued under section 6 or section 7 without the previous sanction of the Officer Commanding the District.
Provision where tenant required to vacate holds under a long lease.

(2) If a house in respect of which a notice is issued under section 6 or section 7, is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease for any term exceeding one year, the Secretary of State for India in Council shall, for the term of one year from the date on which the house is vacated in pursuance of the notice, or for the unexpired term of the lease, whichever is the shorter, be liable to the owner for the rent payable under this Act or, if no rent is so payable, for the rent fixed by the registered lease.

The Cantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902.(Chapter III.—Appropriation of Houses for Occupation by Military Officers.—Sections 16—21.)

(3) If a house, in respect of which a notice is issued under section 6 or section 7, is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease from year to year, the Secretary of State for India in Council shall be liable as aforesaid for the term of six months from the date on which the house is vacated in pursuance of the notice.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be deemed—

(a) to render the said Secretary of State in Council so liable unless an application in writing in this behalf is made by the owner to the Cantonment Authority within fifteen days from the service of the notice; or

(b) to limit or otherwise affect any agreement between the said Secretary of State in Council and the owner.

16. (1) Subject to the terms of any agreement in writing between an owner and a military officer, and to the provisions of this section, every lease of a house to such an officer shall be deemed to be a lease from month to month, terminable,—

(a) without notice, in the case of a Committee of Arbitration deciding, as hereinafter provided, that the house has become unfit for occupation,

(b) by half a month's notice to the owner, in the case of the departure of the officer from the cantonment on duty or under medical certificate, and

(c) by one month's notice to the owner, in any other case.

(2) The Cantonment Magistrate shall, if the military officer so desires, cause the notice required by sub-section (1), clause (b) or clause (c), to be served on the owner.

(3) Where a military officer has, in pursuance of sub-section (1), clause (a), given up his occupation of a house without notice and has occupied the house during a portion only of the calendar month in which his occupation ceased, he shall be liable to pay as rent for that portion a sum bearing the same proportion to the monthly rent as the said portion bears to the whole month.

(4) Where a notice in respect of a house has been issued under section 6 or section 7 and the house has been vacated in pursuance thereof, the tenancy of the military officer in whose behalf the notice was issued, shall be deemed to have commenced on the date on which the house was vacated.

17. If the tenant of a house, being a military officer, sub-lets the same without the consent of the owner, the sub-lease shall be voidable at the option of the owner.

18. (1) If the owner considers that the rent stated in a notice in accordance with section 9 is not reasonable, he may, within a period of fifteen days from the service of such notice, require that the matter be referred by the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to a Committee of Arbitration.

(2) If the owner does not make such a requisition within the said period, he shall be deemed to have accepted the rent so offered.

(3) The rent fixed by a Committee of Arbitration or accepted by the owner under this section shall be deemed to be the rent payable by the military officer in whose behalf the notice was issued, as from the commencement of his tenancy, and the amount of such rent shall not be called in question by either party, except in the circumstances mentioned in section 21, clause (a).

19. (1) If the owner fails to execute any repairs to a house which the tenant, being a military officer, considers necessary, the Cantonment Authority may, at the request of the tenant and if it is satisfied that such repairs or any of them are necessary, by notice require the owner to execute such repairs, or such of them as it may consider necessary, within a period, not less than fifteen days, to be specified in the notice.

(2) If the owner objects to comply with a notice issued under sub-section (1), he may, within fifteen days from the service of the notice, require that the matter be referred by the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to a Committee of Arbitration.

20. If the tenant of a house, being a military officer, considers that his lease should be terminable without notice in consequence of the house having become unfit for occupation, he may require that the matter be referred by the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to a Committee of Arbitration.

21. If the owner and the tenant of a house, being a military officer, disagree—

(a) as to any change in the rent of the house which is proposed in consequence of dilapidations or additions to buildings or for any other similar reason, or

(b) on any matter relating to rent or repairs not otherwise provided for by this Act, either the owner or the tenant may require that the matter be referred by the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to a Committee of Arbitration.

(b) a Committee of Arbitration decides that repairs are necessary and the extent to which they are necessary, and specifies the period within which they are to be executed, and the owner fails to execute them within such period, the Military Works Services or the Public Works Department shall, on the application of the tenant of the house, being a military officer, cause the repairs specified in the notice or, if the matter has been referred to a Committee of Arbitration, in the decision of the Committee, to be executed at the expense of the tenant, and the tenant may deduct the cost thereof from the rent, or otherwise recover it from the owner.

23. Every person on whom devolves, by transfer, by succession or by operation of law, the interest of an owner in any house, or in any part of any house, situate in a cantonment or part of a cantonment in respect of which a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), is for the time being in force, shall be bound to give the Cantonment Magistrate notice of the fact within one month from the date of such devolution, and, if he, without reasonable cause, fails to do so, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

CHAPTER IV.COMMITTEES OF ARBITRATION.

24. In the event of any disagreement as to the amount of the purchase-money of a house to be sold under section 14, sub-section (2), the Cantonment Authority shall apply to the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to refer the matter to a Committee of Arbitration, and the Commanding Officer of the cantonment shall forthwith proceed to convene a Committee of Arbitration to determine it.

25. Where a requisition is made to the Commanding Officer of the cantonment by an owner under section 18, section 19 or section 21, the Commanding Officer of the cantonment shall forthwith proceed to convene a Committee of Arbitration—

(2) The Cantonment Magistrate shall forthwith send a copy of such order to the District Magistrate and to the parties concerned, and shall forthwith by notice require the parties to nominate members of the Committee in accordance with the provisions of sections 28 and 29.

An Act to make better provision for securing house-accommodation for military officers in cantonments.

WHEREAS various conditions, rules, regulations and orders have from time to time been laid down by, or by the authority of, the Government, in regard to the grant of land and the occupation of land and houses in cantonments, with the object of securing, amongst other things, that houses built on such land should be made available when required for the accommodation of military officers;

And whereas, notwithstanding the said conditions, rules, regulations and orders, difficulties have frequently been experienced in obtaining house-accommodation in cantonments for military officers, and it is expedient to make better provision for that purpose;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Cantonments
Short title, extent (House-Accommodation) Act, and commencement. 1902.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India (inclusive of British Baluchistan), except Aden; and

(3) It shall come into force at once, but it shall not become operative in any cantonment or part of a cantonment until the issue, or otherwise than in pursuance, of a notification as hereinafter provided by section 3.

2. (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,— Definitions.

(a) "Cantonment Authority" means a Cantonment Committee, or, in the case of a cantonment for which such a Committee has not been constituted, or has ceased to exist, or cannot be convened, the Commanding Officer of the cantonment:

(b) "Command" means one of the principal portions into which the army of India is for the time being divided:

(c) "General Officer of the Command" means the General Officer commanding the forces in a Command:

(d) "house" means a house suitable for occupation by a military officer, and includes the land and buildings appurtenant to such house:

(e) "military officer" means a commissioned or warrant officer of His Majesty's regular forces on military duty in a cantonment, and includes a Chaplain, a Cantonment Magistrate and any person in Army departmental employment whom the General Officer of the Command may at any time, for the purposes of this Act, place on the same footing as a military officer:

(f) "owner" includes the person who is receiving, or is entitled to receive, the rent of any house, whether on his own account or on behalf of himself and others or as an agent or trustee, or who would so receive the rent, or be entitled to receive it, if the house were let to a tenant: and

(g) the expression "repairs" to a house includes such repairs as are usually made to houses in the neighbourhood, but does not include additions, improvements or alterations, except in so far as they are necessary to carry out such repairs as aforesaid or have been made with the owner's consent.

(2) If any question arises whether any land or building is appurtenant to a house, it shall be decided by the Cantonment Magistrate, whose decision thereon shall, subject to revision by the District Magistrate, be final.

CHAPTER II.

APPLICATION OF ACT.

3. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare this Act to be operative in any cantonment or part of a cantonment situate in the territories under its administration, other than a cantonment situate within the limits of a Presidency-town.

(2) Before issuing a notification under sub-section (1) in respect of any cantonment or part of a cantonment, the Local Government shall cause local inquiry to be made with a view to determining whether it is expedient to issue such notification and what portion (if any) of the area proposed to be included therein should be excluded therefrom.

4. Nothing in this Act shall affect the provisions of any written instrument executed by or on behalf of the East India Company or the Government, unless the other party entitled and the Secretary of State for India in Council consent in writing to be bound by the terms of this Act.

CHAPTER III.

APPROPRIATION OF HOUSES FOR OCCUPATION BY MILITARY OFFICERS.

5. Every house situate in a cantonment or part of a cantonment in respect of which a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), is for the time being in force, shall be liable, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, to appropriation at any time for occupation by a military officer.

6. Where the Cantonment Authority, on application made to it as hereinafter provided by section 8 and subject to the requirements of that section, considers that the liability imposed by section 5 should be enforced on behalf of a military officer, it may, if the house is not already occupied by a military officer, by notice—

- (a) require the owner to let the house to the military officer named in the notice, and
- (b) require the existing occupier (if any) to vacate the same.

7. If a house is already occupied by a departmental military officer, and the Cantonment Authority, on application made to it as hereinafter provided by section 8 and subject to the requirements of that section, considers that the liability imposed by section 5 should be enforced on behalf of a regimental officer, or vice versa, it may, by notice, require the officer in occupation to vacate the house; and may, if necessary, by further notice require the owner to accept the change of tenancy.

8. (1) Where a military officer considers that a notice should be issued in his behalf under section 6 or section 7, as the case may be, he may request the Commanding Officer of his regiment, or (in the case of a departmental military officer) the local head of his department, to make an application to that effect to the Cantonment Authority.

(2) On receipt of an application made under sub-section (1), the Cantonment Authority shall inquire into the case, and it shall not issue the notice applied for unless it is satisfied—

- (a) that it is necessary or expedient for the military officer to reside in the cantonment, or, if this Act is in force in part of the cantonment only, then in that part;
- (b) that the circumstances are such as to require its intervention;
- (c) that the monthly rent proposed for the house is reasonable; and
- (d) that the house is suitable for the residence of the officer and, if it is occupied, that there is no vacant house in the cantonment or the said part of the cantonment, as the case may be, which is suitable for his residence.

Explanation I.—Where the rent of a house is registered in the office of the Cantonment Authority, the rent so registered shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, to be the reasonable rent for the house.

Explanation II.—In considering whether a house is suitable for the residence of a military officer, regard shall be had to—

- (i) the locality in which his duties chiefly lie,
- (ii) his rank, and
- (iii) the number of persons dependent upon, and residing with, him.

9. Every notice to an owner issued under section 6 or section 7 shall state the amount of monthly rent proposed as reasonable for the house.

10. (1) No house in any cantonment or part of a cantonment in which this Act has been declared by a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), to be operative shall, unless it was so occupied at the date of such notification, be occupied for the purposes of a hospital, bank, hotel, shop or school, or by a railway administration, without the previous sanction of the General Officer of the Command, given with the concurrence of the Local Government.

(2) Before application is made for such sanction as aforesaid, the Commanding Officer of the cantonment shall certify whether or not in his opinion the number of houses in the cantonment, as compared with the strength of the existing or probable garrison, renders it likely that such occupation as aforesaid would—

- (a) cause any difficulty in obtaining accommodation in the cantonment, or in the part of the cantonment in which the house is situate, for military officers, or
- (b) necessitate the acquisition of land at some future time for the extension of the cantonment.

II. No notice shall be issued under section 6, if the house—

Houses not to be appropriated for military officers in certain cases.

- (a) was occupied prior to the date of a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), declaring the Act to be operative in the cantonment or part of the cantonment, or is occupied with the sanction required by section 10, as a hospital, bank, hotel, shop or school, and has been so occupied continuously during the three years immediately preceding the time when the occasion for issuing the notice arises, or
- (b) was occupied prior to the date of such a notification as is referred to in clause (a), or is occupied, with the sanction aforesaid, by a railway administration, or
- (c) is occupied by the owner, or
- (d) is appropriated by the Local Government, with the concurrence of the General Officer of the Command, or by the Governor General in Council, for use as a public office or for any other purpose.

12. (1) If a house is unoccupied, a notice issued under section 6 may require the owner to give possession of the same to the proposed tenant within four days from the service of the notice.

(2) If a house is occupied, a notice issued under section 6 or section 7 shall not require its vacation in less than thirty days from the service of the notice.

13. If the owner fails to give possession of a house to the proposed tenant in pursuance of a notice issued under section 6 or section 7, or if the existing occupier fails to vacate a house in pursuance of such a notice, the Cantonment Magistrate, by himself or by another person generally or specially authorized by him in this behalf, shall enter on the premises and enforce the surrender of the house.

14. (1) If a house in respect of which a notice is issued under section 6 or section 7 is shown to the satisfaction of the Local Government, or is proved by a decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction, to have been erected—

(a) under any conditions, rules, regulations or orders which were in force in Bengal prior to the eighth day of December, 1864, and conferred on the owner the option of offering the house for sale to the military officer applying for its appropriation for his occupation or to the East India Company or the Government, or

(b) under any conditions, rules, regulations or orders which were in force in Bombay prior to the first day of June, 1875, and conferred such an option as is described in clause (a),

then the owner shall have the option of either complying with the notice or offering the house for sale to the military officer in whose behalf the notice was issued, or to the Government.

(2) If the owner elects to sell the house, and such military officer or the Government is willing to purchase it, the amount of the purchase-money to be paid shall, in the event of disagreement, be determined by a Committee of Arbitration.

15. (1) If a house is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease for any term exceeding one year, or from year to year, no notice shall be issued under section 6 or section 7 without the previous sanction of the Officer Commanding the District.

(2) If a house in respect of which a notice is issued under section 6 or section 7, is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease for any term exceeding one year, the Secretary of State for India in Council shall, for the term of one year from the date on which the house is vacated in pursuance of the notice, or for the unexpired term of the lease, whichever is the shorter, be liable to the owner for the rent payable under this Act or, if no rent is so payable, for the rent fixed by the registered lease.

The Cantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902.(Chapter III.—Appropriation of Houses for Occupation by Military Officers.—Sections 16—21.)

(3) If a house, in respect of which a notice is issued under section 6 or section 7, is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease from year to year, the Secretary of State for India in Council shall be liable as aforesaid for the term of six months from the date on which the house is vacated in pursuance of the notice.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be deemed—

(a) to render the said Secretary of State in Council so liable unless an application in writing in this behalf is made by the owner to the Cantonment Authority within fifteen days from the service of the notice; or

(b) to limit or otherwise affect any agreement between the said Secretary of State in Council and the owner.

16. (1) Subject to the terms of any agreement in writing between an owner and a military officer, and to the provisions of this section, every lease of a house to such an officer shall be deemed to be a lease from month to month, terminable,—

(a) without notice, in the case of a Committee of Arbitration deciding, as hereinafter provided, that the house has become unfit for occupation,

(b) by half a month's notice to the owner, in the case of the departure of the officer from the cantonment on duty or under medical certificate, and

(c) by one month's notice to the owner, in any other case.

(2) The Cantonment Magistrate shall, if the military officer so desires, cause the notice required by sub-section (1), clause (b) or clause (c), to be served on the owner.

(3) Where a military officer has, in pursuance of sub-section (1), clause (a), given up his occupation of a house without notice and has occupied the house during a portion only of the calendar month in which his occupation ceased, he shall be liable to pay as rent for that portion a sum bearing the same proportion to the monthly rent as the said portion bears to the whole month.

(4) Where a notice in respect of a house has been issued under section 6 or section 7 and the house has been vacated in pursuance thereof, the tenancy of the military officer in whose behalf the notice was issued, shall be deemed to have commenced on the date on which the house was vacated.

17. If the tenant of a house, being a military officer, sub-lets the same without the consent of the owner,* the sub-lease shall be voidable at the option of the owner.

18. (1) If the owner considers that the rent stated in a notice in accordance with section 9 is not reasonable, he may, within a period of fifteen days from the service of such notice, require that the matter be referred by the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to a Committee of Arbitration.

(2) If the owner does not make such a requisition within the said period, he shall be deemed to have accepted the rent so offered.

(3) The rent fixed by a Committee of Arbitration or accepted by the owner under this section shall be deemed to be the rent payable by the military officer in whose behalf the notice was issued, as from the commencement of his tenancy, and the amount of such rent shall not be called in question by either party, except in the circumstances mentioned in section 21, clause (a).

19. (1) If the owner fails to execute any repairs to a house which the tenant, being a military officer, considers necessary, the Cantonment Authority may, at the request of the tenant and if it is satisfied that such repairs or any of them are necessary, by notice require the owner to execute such repairs, or such of them as it may consider necessary, within a period, not less than fifteen days, to be specified in the notice.

(2) If the owner objects to comply with a notice issued under sub-section (1), he may, within fifteen days from the service of the notice, require that the matter be referred by the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to a Committee of Arbitration.

20. If the tenant of a house, being a military officer, considers that his lease should be terminable without notice in consequence of the house having become unfit for occupation, he may require that the matter be referred by the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to a Committee of Arbitration.

21. If the owner and the tenant of a house, being a military officer, disagree—

(a) as to any change in the rent of the house which is proposed in consequence of dilapidations or additions to buildings or for any other similar reason, or

(b) on any matter relating to rent or repairs not otherwise provided for by this Act, either the owner or the tenant may require that the matter be referred by the Commanding Officer of the cantonment to a Committee of Arbitration.

The Indian Electricity Bill.(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Section 4.)

Supply of energy to the public or for traction to be licensed. of supplying energy to the public or for electric traction except under, and in accordance with the terms and conditions of, a license granted by the Local Government under this Part.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether energy is or is not supplied or to be supplied to the public or for electric traction within the meaning of sub-section (1), the matter shall be referred to the Local Government, and the decision of the Local Government thereon shall be final.

[Ben. Act IX of 1895, s. 3.]

4. (1) The Local Government may grant a license to any person to supply energy for any purpose in any specified local area, and also to lay down electric supply-lines for the conveyance and transmission of energy from a generating station situated outside such specified local area to the boundary of such specified local area in any case in which the energy to be supplied is to be generated outside such specified local area; and in respect of every such license and the grant thereof the following provisions shall have effect, namely:—

[51 & 52 Vict., c. 12, s. 1.]

(a) The consent of every local authority concerned shall be required before a license under this Part is granted; but, where any such local authority withholds its consent, the Local Government may, for reasons to be recorded and communicated to the local authority, grant the license on being satisfied, after making such inquiry as it thinks fit into all the circumstances of the case, that such consent as aforesaid has been withheld for no sufficient cause.

[45 & 46 Vict., c. 56, s. 4.]

(e) A license under this Part may prescribe such terms as to the limits within which, and the conditions under which, the supply of energy is to be compulsory or permissive, and as to the limits of price to be charged in respect of the supply of energy, and generally as to such other matters as the Local Government may think fit. [Ben. Act of 1895, s. (iv).]

(f) The grant of a license under this Part for any purpose shall not in any way hinder or restrict the grant of another license to another person within the same area of supply for a like purpose. [51 & 52 Vict., c. 12, s. 1.]

(g) The provisions contained in the schedule shall be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under this Part, save in so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by the license, and shall, subject to such variations or exceptions (if any) as aforesaid, which the Local Government is hereby empowered to make, apply to the undertaking authorized by the license, and shall be binding in like manner and to the same extent as if enacted in this Act. [62 & 63 Vict., c. 15, s. 1.]

(2) The Local Government may, if in its opinion the public interest so requires, revoke a license, as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, where the licensee, in the opinion of the Local Government, makes wilful and unreasonably prolonged default in doing anything required of him by or under this Act, or where the licensee breaks any of the terms or conditions of his license the breach of which is expressly declared by such license to render it liable to revocation, or in any of the following cases, namely:—

(a) where the licensee fails, within a period of six months after the date of his license or such further period as the Local Government may determine and before exercising any of the powers conferred on him thereby in relation to the execution of works, to show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that he is in a position fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license, or fails to make the deposit or furnish the security required by his license;

The Indian Electricity Bill.(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Section 5.)

- (b) where the licensee is, in the opinion of the Local Government, unable, by reason of his insolvency, fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license;
- (c) where the licensee, being a local authority makes default in executing works or supplying energy in accordance with the terms and conditions of his license;
- (d) where the licensee, not being a local authority, shows, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, at any time after the commencement of his license, that his undertaking cannot be carried on with profit and ought to be abandoned;
- (e) where the licensee supplies energy by means of some system not approved by the Local Government;
- (f) in any other case, with the consent of the licensee and, if the licensee is not a local authority, with that of the local authority (if any) concerned, and upon such terms and conditions as it thinks just:

Provided that the Local Government shall not revoke the license as to part only of the area of supply if the licensee represents that he desires to be relieved of his liabilities in respect of the whole.

(3) Where the Local Government might, under sub-section (2), revoke a license, it may, instead of revoking the license, permit it to remain in force subject to such further terms and conditions as it thinks fit to impose, and any further terms or conditions so imposed shall be binding upon, and be observed by, the licensee, and shall be of like force and effect as if they were contained in the license.

[Ibid cl. 67.]

5. Where the Local Government revokes the license of any licensee, not being a local authority, as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, the following provisions shall have effect, namely:—

- (a) The Local Government shall serve a notice of the revocation upon the licensee and upon any local authority concerned, and shall in the notice fix a date on which the revocation shall take effect, and on and with effect from that date all the powers and liabilities of the licensee under this Act shall absolutely cease and determine.
- (b) Within one month after the service of such notice as aforesaid any local authority concerned may, by notice in writing, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, to the local authority the undertaking or

Provided that the value of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant shall be deemed to be their fair market-value at the time of purchase, due regard being had to the nature and condition for the time being of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant, and to the state of repair thereof, and to the circumstance that they are in such a position as to be ready for immediate working, and to the suitability of the same for the purposes of the undertaking, and, where a part only of the undertaking is purchased, to any loss occasioned by severance, but without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase or of goodwill or of any profits which may be or might have been made from the undertaking, or of any similar considerations.

- (c) Where no purchase has been effected by a local authority under clause (b), and any other person is willing to purchase the undertaking or such part of it as aforesaid, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, with the consent of the licensee, or without the consent of the licensee in case the price is not less than that for which the local authority might have purchased the same, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, to such other person the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid.
- (d) Where a purchase has been effected under clause (b) or clause (c), the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, shall vest in the purchasers free from any debts, mortgages or similar obligations of the licensee or attaching to the undertaking; and the revocation of the license shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties and obligations of the licensee from whom the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, is purchased, and, save as aforesaid, the license shall remain in full force, and the purchaser shall be deemed to be the licensee.
- (e) Where no purchase has been effected, the Local Government may forthwith

(1) Where a license has been granted subject to no time-limit, a local authority shall, on the expiration of such period, not exceeding forty-two years, and of every such subsequent period, not exceeding ten years, as shall be specified in this behalf in the license, have the option of purchasing such portion of the undertaking as is in the area for which it is constituted, and, if the local authority elects to purchase, the licensee shall sell the undertaking or part thereof to it upon terms and conditions similar to those set forth in section 5, clauses (b) and (d).

(2) In any such case as aforesaid, if a local authority does not elect to purchase, the local Government shall have the like option upon the like terms and conditions.

[51 & 52 Vict., c. 12 s. 3.]

11. (1) Every licensee shall prepare and render to the Local Government, on or before such date in each year as the Local Government may by rule fix, an annual statement of accounts of his undertaking made up to such date, in such form, and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed by the said rule.

[Ibid., s. 9.]

(2) The licensee shall keep copies of such annual statement at his office and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding one rupee per copy.

Provided, also, that every order so made shall be subject to revision by the Local Government

13. (3) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorize or empower any licensee to open or break up any street not repairable by a local authority, or any railway, tramway or bridge, without the consent of the person by whom the same is repairable, unless in pursuance of special powers in that behalf inserted in his license or with the written consent of the Local Government :

Provided that the Local Government shall not insert in a license any such special powers, or give any such consent, as aforesaid until notice has been given, by advertisement or otherwise as the Local Government may direct, to the person by whom the street, railway, tramway or bridge concerned is repairable, and until all representations or objections received in accordance with the notice have been considered by the Local Government.

13. (1) Where the exercise of any of the powers of a licensee in relation to the execution of any works involves the placing of any works in, under, over, along or across any street, part of a street, railway, tramway, canal or waterway, the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

(e) Where no requisition has been served by the owner upon the licensee under clause (d), the owner shall be deemed to have approved of the works and plan, and in that case, or where after a requisition for arbitration the matter has been determined by arbitration, the works may, upon payment or securing of compensation, be executed according to the notice and plan, subject to such modifications as may have been determined by arbitration or agreed upon between the parties.

(b) to propose any plan for breaking up or opening the same, or

(c) to superintend the operation, the licensee may perform the work specified in the notice without the interference of such person or authority, and such person or authority shall be deemed to have no objection to the work.

conveyance or transmission of energy, a Magistrate of the first or second class may, on the application of the licensee, cause the tree to be removed or otherwise dealt with as he thinks fit.

(4) When disposing of an application under sub-section (3), the Magistrate shall, in the case of any tree in existence before the placing of the aerial line, award to the persons interested in the tree such compensation as he thinks reasonable, and may recover the same from the licensee.

19. (1) A licensee shall, in exercise of any of the powers conferred by or under this Act, cause as little damage, detriment and inconvenience as may be, and shall make full compensation for any damage caused by him or by any one employed by him.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount or the application of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

20. (1) A licensee may at any reasonable time enter any premises to enter premises for ascertaining energy consumed, or to remove fittings, etc. which energy is or has been supplied by him, for the purpose of—

- (a) inspecting and testing the electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works and apparatus for the supply of energy belonging to the licensee;

Provided that no person may adopt any form of appliance, or use the energy supplied to him, so as unduly or improperly to interfere with the supply by the licensee of energy to any other person.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises under this section, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

22. Where energy is supplied by a licensee, every person within the area of supply shall, except in so far as is otherwise provided by the terms and conditions of the license, be entitled, on application, to a supply on the same terms as those on which any other person in the same area is entitled in similar circumstances to a corresponding supply: [Ibid. s. 18.]

Provided that no consumer shall be entitled to demand a connection with the mains of the licensee which have been laid in order to be used only in the event of accident to the consumer's plant.

23. (1) The electrical power with which any consumer shall be entitled to be supplied by a licensee, shall not exceed what is necessary for the maximum consumption of energy on his premises: [62 & 63 Vict., c. 19, sch., cl. 28.]

Provided that, where a consumer has required a licensee to supply him with a maximum power of any specified amount, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except after one month's notice in writing to the licensee, and the licensee may recover from the consumer any expenses incurred by him by reason of the alteration in respect of the service lines by which energy is supplied to the consumer's premises, or of any fittings or apparatus of the licensee upon those premises.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises between a consumer and a licensee as to the power to be supplied under sub-section (1) or as to the amount of the expenses incurred under the proviso thereto, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

24. (1) A licensee shall not, in making any agreement for the supply of energy, show undue preference to any person, but may, save as aforesaid, make such charges for the supply of energy as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the limits imposed by his license, and may allow rebates thereon according to the quantity supplied, either in relation to the maximum power to which the consumer is entitled under section 23, or to the total quantity, or to the time. [Ben. Act IX of 1895, s. 19.]

(2) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (1), the licensee may charge at one rate for the supply of energy for lighting purposes and at another rate for the supply of energy for purposes other than lighting; and no person shall be entitled to utilize for lighting purposes energy supplied to him at a lower rate for any other purpose.

25. Where any person neglects to pay any charge for energy or any other sum due from him to a licensee in respect of the supply of energy to him, the licensee may, after giving not less than seven clear days' notice in writing to such person and without prejudice to his right to recover such charge or other sum by suit, cut off the supply and for that purpose cut or disconnect any electric supply-line or other works through which energy may be supplied, and may discontinue the supply until such charge or other sum, together with any expenses incurred by him in cutting off and re-connecting the supply, are paid, but no longer.

26. Where any electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works or apparatus belonging to a licensee are placed in or upon any premises, not being in the possession of the licensee, for the purpose of supplying energy, such electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works and apparatus shall not be liable to be taken in execution under any process of any Civil Court or in any proceedings in insolvency against the person in whose possession the same may be.

28. (1) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to authorize or empower any licensee to lay down any underground, or place any aerial, electric supply-line or other works, or to make any alterations in any telegraph line, maintained or worked by the Government or by any person licensed under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, without the previous sanction of the telegraph-authority, to whom the licensee shall give not less than twenty-eight clear days' notice in writing of his intention, specifying the course of the works or alterations proposed, the manner in which the works are to be utilized, the amount and nature of the energy to be transmitted, and the extent to, and manner in, which (if at all) earth returns are to be used; and the licensee shall conform with such reasonable requirements, either general or special, as may be laid down by the telegraph-authority for preventing any telegraph line from being injuriously affected by such works or alterations:

XIII of 1885.

Provided that, in case of emergency (which shall be stated by the licensee in writing to the telegraph-authority) arising from defects in any of the electric supply-lines or other works of the licensee, the licensee shall be required to give only such notice as may be possible after the necessity for the proposed new works or alterations has arisen.

(2) Every licensee shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, laying down and placing his electric supply-lines and other works and in working his undertaking, so as not injuriously to affect, whether by induction or otherwise, the working of any wire or line used for the purpose of telegraphic, telephonic or electric-signalling communication, or the currents in such wire or line.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises between the licensee and the telegraph-authority as to whether the licensee has constructed, laid down or placed his electric supply-lines or other works, or made alterations in a telegraph line, or worked his undertaking, in contravention of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), or as to whether the working of any wire, line or current is or is not injuriously affected thereby, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government; and the Local Government, unless it is of opinion that the wire or line, not having been in existence at such time as aforesaid, has been placed in unreasonable proximity to the electric supply-lines or works of the licensee, may direct the licensee to make such alterations in, or additions to, his system as may be necessary in order to comply with the provisions of this section, and the licensee shall make such alterations or additions accordingly:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to the repair, renewal or amendment of any electric supply-line, so long as the course of the electric supply-line and the amount and nature of the current transmitted thereby are not altered.

(4) Where a licensee makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, a telegraph-line shall be deemed to be injuriously affected by a work if telegraphic communication by means of such line is, whether through induction or otherwise, prejudicially interfered with by such work or by any use made thereof.

29. Every licensee shall, without any unnecessary delay, send to the Local Government notice in writing of any accident by explosion or fire, and also of any other accident resulting or likely to have resulted in loss of life or personal injury in any part of the licensee's works or circuits, or in connection with the same, and also of any loss of life or personal injury actually occasioned by any such accident.

- (a) that a licensee is supplying energy otherwise than by means of a system which has been approved of by the Local Government or (except in accordance with the provisions of his license) has permitted any part of his circuits to be connected with earth; or
- (b) that any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee are defective; or
- (c) that any works of a licensee or his supply of energy is attended with danger to the public safety;

the Local Government may, by order in writing, specify the matter complained of and require the licensee to remedy it in such manner as shall be specified in the order, and may also in like manner forbid the use of any electric supply-line or works until the order is complied with or for such time as is specified in the order.

[Ibid., cl. 35.]

31. (1) The Local Government, on the application of any consumer or of a licensee, or if the inspection of electric supply-lines and works is imperfectly attended to, may appoint one or more competent persons to be electric inspectors under the license.

[Ibid., cl. 38 (2).]

(2) The Local Government may also, if it thinks fit, appoint any electric inspector or other competent person to inquire and report as to the cause of any accident affecting the safety of the public, which may have been occasioned by or in connection with a licensee's works, whether notice of the accident has or has not been received from the licensee, or as to the manner in, and extent to, which the provisions of the license and of this Act have been complied with by the licensee.

(3) All expenses incurred in connection with the performance of the duties of an electric inspector appointed on an application under subsection (1) may be recovered from the applicant.

32. (1) In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the amount of energy supplied to a consumer or the electrical quantity contained in the supply (such amount or quantity being hereinafter referred to as "the value of the supply") shall be ascertained by means of a duly certified meter, and the licensee shall, if required by the consumer, cause the consumer to be supplied with such a meter:

Provided that the licensee may require the consumer to give him security for the price of a meter and enter into an agreement for the hire thereof, unless the consumer elects to purchase a meter.

[Ibid., cl. 56.]

(2) Where the consumer so enters into an agreement for the hire of a meter, the licensee shall keep the meter in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, and, in default of his doing so, the consumer shall, for so long as the default continues, cease to be liable to pay for the hire of the meter.

(3) Where the meter is not so hired as aforesaid, the consumer shall keep the meter in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, and, in default of his doing so, the licensee may, for so long as the default continues, cease to supply energy through the meter. [Ibid., cl. 5 (1).]

(4) The licensee shall have access to, and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect and replace, any meter whereby the value of the supply is ascertained or to be ascertained; and, except where the meter is so hired as aforesaid, all reasonable expenses of and incidental to such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting and replacing, and the procuring the meter to be again duly certified where that is thereby rendered necessary, shall, if the meter is found to be otherwise than in proper order, be recovered from the consumer; and where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such reasonable expenses, the matter shall be determined by arbitration. [Ibid., cl. 5 (2).]

(5) A consumer shall not connect any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained or to be ascertained with any electric supply-line through which energy is supplied by a licensee, or disconnect the same from any such electric supply-line, without giving to the licensee not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention. [Ibid., cl. 5 (3).]

(6) In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of a consumer to ascertain the value of the supply, the licensee may place upon such premises such meter or other apparatus as he may think fit for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to the consumer, or the number of hours during which the supply is given, or the maximum power taken by the consumer, or any other quantity or time connected with the supply: [Ibid., cl. 59.]

Provided that the meter or apparatus shall be of a construction and pattern approved of by the Local Government, and shall be fixed and connected with the service lines in a manner so approved, and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the licensee, and shall not, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the licensee and the consumer's terminals.

(7) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained or to be ascertained, is or is not in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, or as to whether such value has in any case been correctly registered by the meter, the matter shall be determined, upon the application of either party, by an officer or other

Explanation.—A meter shall be deemed to be “duly certified” if it is certified by an officer or other competent person appointed by the Local Government in this behalf to be a correct meter, and to be of a construction and pattern approved by the Local Government, and to have been fixed and connected with the electric supply-lines in a manner so approved:

Provided that, where any alteration is made in a duly certified meter, or where any such meter is unfixed or disconnected from the electric supply-lines, it shall cease to be a duly certified meter unless and until it is again duly certified as aforesaid.

(b) The licensee shall also, within six months after the commencement of the license or within such extended period as may be approved by the Local Government and before exercising any of the powers conferred on him in relation to the execution of works, deposit or secure, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, such sum as may be fixed by the license or, if not so fixed, by the Local Government.

(c) The said sum deposited or secured by the licensee under the provisions of this clause shall be repaid or released to him in equal moieties, when and so soon as it may be certified by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf that amounts equal to the sums so to be repaid or released have been expended by the licensee upon

VII. The licensee shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of his license, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout such streets or parts of streets as the Local Government may, by order in writing issued within six months of the commencement of the license, direct. (a) where it is made by such owners or occupiers as aforesaid, the owners or occupiers making it do not, within fourteen clear days after the service on them by the licensee of a notice in writing in this behalf, tender to the licensee a written contract, duly executed and with sufficient security, binding themselves to take or guaranteeing that there shall be taken, a supply of energy for not less than three years to such amount as will in the aggregate produce annually, at the current rates charged by the licensee, a reasonable return to the licensee; or,

(b) where it is made by the Local Government or a local authority, the Local Government or local authority, as the case may be, does not, within the like period, tender a like agreement binding itself to take a supply of energy for not less than three years for the public lighting of such street or part thereof.

Provided that the amount of the security required shall not, unless the Local Government otherwise directs, exceed twenty per cent. of the expenses likely to be incurred by the licensee in providing and laying down the necessary distributing mains and any other distributing mains or additions thereto which may be necessary for the purposes of connection with the nearest available source of supply.

(3) Every requisition under this clause shall be signed by the maker or makers thereof and shall be served on the licensee.

(4) Every requisition under this clause shall be in a form to be prescribed by the Local Government; and copies of the form shall be kept at the office of the licensee and supplied free of charge to any applicant.

§ 4, cl. 27.]

X. (1) Where a requisition is made by the owner or occupiers of any premises situate within fifty yards from any distributing main in which the licensee is required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply, requiring the licensee to supply energy for such premises, the licensee shall supply, and, save in so far as he is prevented from doing so by cyclones, floods, storms or other occurrences beyond his control, continue to supply, energy in accordance with the requisition, unless the person making it fails, within

to the licensee a written contract, duly executed and with sufficient security, binding himself to take a supply of energy for not less than two years to such amount as will produce, at current rates charged by the licensee, a reasonable return to the licensee:

Provided, first, that the cost of so much of any electric supply-line as may be laid for the purposes of the supply upon the property in respect of which the requisition is made, and of so much of any electric supply-line as it may be necessary for the said purposes to lay for a greater distance than sixty feet from the licensee's distributing main, although not on that property, shall, if the licensee so requires, be paid by the owner or occupier making the requisition:

Provided, secondly, that the licensee may, after he has furnished a supply of energy for any premises, by notice in writing require the owner or occupier within seven days after the date of the service of the notice, to give him security for the payment of all money which may become due to him in respect of the supply, in case the owner or occupier has not already given that security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; and, if the owner or occupier fails to comply with the terms of the notice, the licensee may discontinue to supply energy for such premises so long as such failure continues:

Provided, thirdly, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid adopts any form of lamp or burner, or uses the energy supplied to him by the licensee for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner, so as to interfere unduly or improperly with the efficient supply of energy to any other person by the licensee, or fails to keep his meter in proper order, the licensee may discontinue the supply of energy for such premises so long as such lamp or burner is so adopted, or the energy is so used or dealt with, or the meter is not kept in proper order, as the case may be:

Provided, fourthly, that the licensee shall not be compelled to furnish a supply of energy to any premises unless he is reasonably satisfied that the electric wires, fittings, works and apparatus therein are in good order and condition and are not calculated to affect injuriously the use of energy by the licensee or by other persons:

Provided, fifthly, that in the event of any alterations of, or additions to, any electric wires, fittings, works or apparatus within such premises as aforesaid, all such alterations or additions shall be notified to the licensee by the owner or occupier before being connected to the source of supply, with a view to their being examined and tested: and

Provided, sixthly, that, in the event of any requisition being made for a supply of energy from any distributing main of which the licensee can prove, to the satisfaction of an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf,—

- (a) that it is already loaded up to its full current-carrying capacity, or
- (b) that, in case of a large amount of current being transmitted by it, the loss of pressure will seriously affect the efficiency of the supply to other consumers in the vicinity, sition for such reasonable period, not exceeding six months, as such officer may think sufficient for the purpose of amending the distributing main or laying down a further distributing main.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the sufficiency of the security offered by such owner or occupier or as to the improper use of energy, or as to any alleged defect in any wires, fittings, works or apparatus, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government and either decided by it or, if the Local Government so directs, determined by arbitration:

Provided that the amount of the security required shall not, unless the Local Government otherwise directs, exceed twenty per cent. of the expenses likely to be incurred by the licensee in providing and laying down the electric supply-lines required.

(3) Every requisition under this clause shall be signed by the maker or makers thereof and shall be served on the licensee.

(4) Every requisition under this clause shall be in a form to be prescribed by the Local Government; and copies of the form shall be kept at the office of the licensee and supplied free of charge to any applicant.

[Ibid, cl. 29.] XI. Where a requisition is made by the Local Government or by a local authority requiring the licensee to supply energy for any public lamps within the distance of seventy-five yards from any distributing main in which the licensee is required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply, the licensee shall supply, and, save in so far as he is prevented from doing so by cyclones, floods, storms or other occurrences beyond his control, continue to supply, energy for such lamps in such quantities as the Local Government or the local authority, as the case may be, may require.

Charges.

[Ibid, cl. 31.] XII. In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the licensee may charge for energy supplied by him to any consumer—

- (a) by the actual amount of energy so supplied; or
- (b) by the electrical quantity contained in the supply; or
- (c) by such other method as may be approved by the Local Government:

Provided, first, that, where the licensee charges by any method so approved by the Local Government, any consumer who objects to that method may, by not less than one month's notice in writing, require the licensee to charge him, at the licensee's option, either by the actual amount of energy supplied to him or by the electrical quantity contained in the supply, and thereafter the licensee shall not, except with the consent of the consumer, charge him by any other method:

Provided, secondly, that, before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the licensee shall give notice, by public advertisement, of the method by which he proposes to charge for energy so supplied; and, where the licensee has given such notice, he shall not be entitled to change that method of charging without giving not less than one month's notice in writing of such change to the Local Government, to the local authority (if any) concerned, and to every consumer of energy who is supplied by him from such distributing main:

Provided, thirdly, that, if the consumer is provided with a duly certified meter for the purposes of ascertaining the value of the supply and the licensee changes the method of charging for the energy supplied by him from the distributing main, the licensee shall bear the expense of providing a new duly certified meter if such is necessary for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply according to the new method of charging.

XIII. The price charged by the licensee for energy supplied by him shall not exceed the maximum fixed by his license, or, in the case of a method of charge approved by the Local Government, such maximum as the Local Government shall fix on approving the method:

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of the license, the Local Government considers or is satisfied that the maximum so fixed or approved as aforesaid should be altered, it may, after such inquiry (if any) as it thinks fit, make an order accordingly, which shall have effect from such date as may be mentioned therein:

Provided, also, that where an order in pursuance of the foregoing proviso has been made, no further order altering the maximum fixed thereby shall be made until the expiration of another period of seven years.

XIV. The price to be charged by the licensee and to be paid to him for energy supplied for public lamps, and the mode in which those charges are to be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the licensee and the Local Government or the local authority, as the case may be, and, where any difference or dispute arises, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Testing and inspection.

XV. The licensee shall, at any place within reasonable distance from any main, establish at his own cost and keep in proper condition such number of testing stations as the Local Government may direct for the purpose of testing the electrical pressure of the supply through the main, and shall supply and keep in proper condition thereat and on all premises from which he supplies energy, such instruments for testing as the Local Government may approve, and shall connect all such testing stations, by means of proper and sufficient electric supply-lines, with the distributing mains, and shall supply energy to each testing station for the purpose of testing.

XVI. The licensee shall afford all facilities for inspection and testing and for the reading and inspection of instruments.

Ibid., cl. 45.] XVII. The licensee may, on each occasion of the testing of any distributing main or electric supply-line or the testing or inspection of any instruments, be represented by an agent who may be present but shall not interfere with the testing or inspection.

Ibid., cl. 99.] XVIII. On the occasion of the testing of any main of the licensee by an electric inspector, reasonable notice thereof shall be given to the licensee, and the testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of the electric inspector, will least interfere with the supply of energy by the licensee, and in such manner as the electric inspector may think fit; but, except under the provisions of an order made in each case in that behalf by the Local Government, the electric inspector shall not be entitled to have access to, or interfere with, the mains of the licensee at any points other than those at which the licensee has reserved for himself access to the same:

Provided that the licensee shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of energy which may be occasioned by or required by the electric inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid:

Provided, also, that the testing shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of an order made in each case in that behalf by the Local Government.

Plans.

[Ibid., cl. 60.] XIX. (1) The licensee shall, after commencing to supply energy, forthwith cause a plan to be made of the area of supply, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line and the height above or the depth below the surface of all his then existing mains, electric supply-lines, street distributing boxes and other works, and shall once in every year cause that plan to be duly corrected so as to show the mains, electric supply-lines, street distributing boxes and other works for the time being in existence. The licensee shall also, if so required by the Local Government, cause to be made sections showing the level of all his existing distributing mains and underground works other than service lines.

(2) Every such plan shall be drawn to a scale of not less than one inch to eighty-eight feet or to such other scale as may be approved by the Local Government.

(3) Every such section shall be drawn to a horizontal scale of not less than one inch to eighty-eight feet and to a vertical scale of not less than one inch to eleven feet, or to such other horizontal and vertical scales as may be approved by the Local Government.

(4) Every plan and section so made or corrected, or a copy thereof, marked with the date when it was so made or corrected, shall be kept by the licensee at his principal office or place of business within the area of supply, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and any applicant may take copies of the same or of any part thereof on payment of such fee, not exceeding one rupee for each inspection and five rupees for each copy, as the licensee may fix.

(5) The licensee shall, if required by the Local Government, or, where the licensee is not a local authority, by the local authority (if any) concerned, supply to the Local Government or local authority, as the case may be, a copy of every such plan or section duly corrected so as to agree with the original kept at the principal office or place of business of the licensee.

Additional notice of certain works.

XX. On the day next preceding the commencement of any such works as are referred to in section 13 of the Indian Electricity Act, 1902, the licensee shall, in addition to any other notices which he may be required to give, serve upon the electric inspector or such officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf for the area of supply a notice stating that he is about to commence the works and the nature and position of the same.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The only general Act relating to electricity now in the Indian Statute-book is the Electricity Act, 1887 (XIII of 1887), and practically all that that enactment does is to take power for the Governor General in Council to make rules for the protection of person and property, and for the prevention of injury to telegraph lines, from appliances or apparatus used in the generation or supply of electrical energy. In the preamble to the Act it is expressly stated that, in the circumstances of the supply and use of electricity in India existing at the time when it was passed, the exercise of control by means of licenses or other like methods might be deferred, and consequently no provision was made for the issue of licenses to companies, for the powers with which companies undertaking the supply of electricity to the public must be invested, or for the control which should be reserved to the Government over undertakings which would be virtual monopolies. In 1887, therefore, legislation on these points was considered premature.

2. In 1891 the Government of Bengal reported that proposals had been received on behalf of the Indian Electricity Supply Syndicate for the establishment of works for the supply of electric light to the town of Calcutta, and represented that, as the Act of 1887 made no provision for the issue of licenses or for many other matters which were essential for the protection of undertakers from unnecessary interference or restraint and of the public from excessive charges and undue preferences, further legislation appeared to be called for, either by a general Act applicable to the whole of India or by a local and special Act for Calcutta. The latter alternative was recommended as likely to involve less delay, and after some discussion a Bill was introduced and passed in the Bengal Legislative Council as the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895 (Ben. Act IX of 1895). Section 34 of this enactment provides that the Local Government may, by notification, extend its provisions to any municipality in the province; but little use has been made of the power.

3. In no other province has local legislation on the subject been undertaken. In Madras there is an Electrical Tramway Company, but it was thought unnecessary to pass a special Act with regard to it, the requisite powers for breaking up streets, etc., which was one of the principal objects of the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895, being secured to the company by article 19 of an order which was passed with reference to it under the Indian Tramways Act, 1886 (XI of 1886), and provides that, "if electrical power be used, communication by the existing Government telephone and telegraph lines shall be safeguarded as provided by the rules made by the Governor General in Council in exercise of the powers conferred by the Electricity Act, XIII of 1887".

4. The expediency of amending the Act of 1887 so as to provide for the control of undertakings by means of licenses for the supply of electricity for lighting, traction, transmission of power and other purposes, was again considered by the Government of India in 1895, and it was then thought that sufficient control over unlicensed undertakings, such as that of the Madras Electrical Tramway Company, could be obtained by a revision of the rules which had been issued under the general Act. It was considered improbable that large electrical undertakings for which control by license was necessary, would be proposed for some time to come in any of the minor administrations, and, as the more important Local Governments had Legislative Councils, it was apprehended that there would be but little difficulty in passing local Acts on the lines of the Calcutta Act of 1895, wherever this might be found to be expedient.

5. Circumstances have, however, rendered it advisable to reconsider this decision. In February, 1900, the Government of Bengal, in replying to a reference relating to some amendments proposed in the rules under the general Act of 1887, took the opportunity of stating that, during the operation of a license granted to the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation in 1896, questions had arisen regarding the extension of the limit of the license from 21 to 42 years, the compensation clauses in the event of purchase, the matter of pole-rent and the application of electrical energy to tramways, and that a satisfactory settlement of such questions would require a modification and extension of the Bengal Act of 1895. It was suggested that it would be advisable to frame an Act which would meet these difficulties and put the procedure for dealing with questions of the supply of electrical energy upon a basis similar to that adopted in England, so far as this might be desirable, and that such an Act might with advantage be made applicable to the whole of British India.

6. Even before the receipt of this representation the Government of India had again begun to consider the expediency of Imperial legislation on the subject, it having been represented that in other parts of India the promoters of electrical enterprise would welcome the passing of a general Act. The various Local Governments were, therefore, consulted on the question, and at the same time a draft Bill which had been submitted some time before to the Government of India by a member of a well-known English firm interested in the matter, was forwarded for criticism. This draft had been framed in as close accordance as possible with the Bengal Act of 1895, but many amendments favourable to licensees—some of them based on later English legislation—had been introduced.

7. The replies received were generally in favour of legislation by an Imperial Act on the lines proposed. The Government of Madras considered that there was no immediate need in that Presidency for such an Act, but admitted that the necessity for it might arise and that its existence would undoubtedly tend to encourage electrical projects. The Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Burma also stated that an elaborate Act was not yet required in those provinces, but did not object to the proposed legislation, while the Government of the Punjab was prepared to accept the Bill subject to certain criticisms offered regarding its details. The Government of Bombay, on the other hand, reported that an Act of the kind proposed was urgently needed, that an Imperial Act would be preferable, and that, if there was no prospect of such an Act being passed, the Governor in Council would be compelled to propose legislation in the local Legislative Council to meet the pressing requirements of the Island of Bombay. The Government of Bengal, which had, as already stated, previously taken the initiative in proposing a modification of the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895, also expressed itself strongly in favour of an Imperial Act; and the Government of the Punjab has more recently, while reporting that a large electrical enterprise is now being promoted at Lahore, inquired as to the probability of a law on the subject being passed at an early date.

8. The present Bill is very different, both in form and in substance, from the draft above alluded to and is based on that draft only to this extent, that it has been prepared after consideration of the criticisms and suggestions of the Local Governments on the reference made to them two years ago. Experts and others interested and competent to advise have, as far as possible, been consulted, and the following enactments and statutory provisions have been freely drawn upon:—

- the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895 (Ben. Act IX of 1895);
- the license granted to the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation in 1896;
- the Electricity Act, 1887 (XIII of 1887);
- the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict., c. 56);
- the Electric Lighting Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., c. 12);
- the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899 (62 & 63 Vict., c. 19);
- the rules and regulations made by the Board of Trade;
- the rules made under the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895; and
- the rules made under the Electricity Act, 1887.

9. The Bill is divided into four Parts. Part I is preliminary and includes the necessary definitions. Part II relates to the supply of electrical energy to the public or for the purposes of traction, i.e., to those undertakings which it is thought expedient to control by license. Part III deals with the restrictions to be imposed on the use of energy not supplied under Part II, the object being to reserve to the Government the power of control over unlicensed undertakings hitherto exercised under the Act of 1887. Part IV is general, and provides for the making of rules, the reference of disputes to arbitration, the requisite penal sanctions, the repeal of Act XIII of 1887 and Ben. Act IX of 1895, and other matters of an ancillary kind. Appended is a schedule setting forth certain provisions which—see clause 4 (1) (g) of the Bill—are to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II, save in so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by the terms of the license. The origin of each clause is, as far as possible, indicated in the usual manner by a reference on the margin of the Bill, and such of the remaining details as seem to require explanation are dealt with in the annexed Notes on Clauses.

A. T. ARUNDEL.

The 10th February, 1902.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 2.—The limitation of the definition of the word “energy” (which is used throughout the Bill) to electrical energy expended at a rate greater than twenty-five watts is intended to exclude petty installations from the operation of the proposed Act, and, in particular, from the provisions of Part III. In the definition of the word “street”, which already occurs in various municipal Acts, the words confining it to places over which the public have a right of way have been allowed to stand for the present, but the square brackets within which they are enclosed, are intended to call special attention to the matter.

Clause 3.—This clause defines the undertakings for which licenses are to be obligatory as those in which energy is supplied to the public or for electric traction, it being provided that any doubt as to its application shall be referred to, and finally settled by, the Local Government concerned. The licenses here contemplated will correspond generally with the Provisional Orders by means of which the Board of Trade, under section 4 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict., c. 56), authorize local authorities, companies or persons to supply electricity for any public or private purpose within a specified area.

Clause 4 aims at safeguarding the issue of licenses and, read in conjunction with the schedule, indicates their scope and the main conditions on which it is intended that they should, as a rule, be granted. Express power is, however, to be reserved by sub-clause (1) (g) for the Local Government to vary or exclude any of those conditions. Sub-clause (1) (a) requires the consent of every local authority concerned before a license is granted, but not, as in the Bengal Act, before it is applied for. Section 3 (ii) of the latter limits the term of a license to 21 years, thus following the English Act of 1882; but it is here proposed—see sub-clause (1) (b)—that in accordance with later English practice, licenses may be granted with or without a time-limit, subject to an option of purchase after certain intervals—see clauses 7 and 8. The advantage of a license without a time-limit is that a renewal is not necessary in the event of the right of purchase not being exercised.

The power to revoke a license under certain circumstances based on the public interest is not contained in the Bengal Act, but is expressed in several clauses of the Calcutta License issued under it. It is thought that such a necessary power should be expressly taken by law, and the latter part of clause 4 of the Bill has been drawn accordingly.

Clause 5.—The terms of purchase in the event of the revocation of a license are in the main based upon those laid down in the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899 (62 & 63 Vict., c. 19). They are less favourable to licensees than the terms specified in clause 65 of the Calcutta License, which provides that the value shall be calculated on the basis of the value of the undertaking as a going concern, and not that it shall be the fair market-value of the property at the time of purchase without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase, or of good-will, or of any profits which may be or might have been made from the undertaking, or of any similar consideration.

In order to secure the free transfer of undertakings in the manner contemplated by the Bill, it is expressly provided—see clause 5 (d)—that, where a purchase has been effected, the undertaking or the part thereof transferred shall vest in the purchaser free from all debts, mortgages or similar obligations of the licensee or attaching to the undertaking. The revocation of a license, it is further proposed, shall extend only to the rights, powers, duties and obligations of the original licensee and, save as aforesaid, the license is to remain in full force, the purchaser being thenceforward deemed to be the licensee.

Clause 7 gives first any local authority concerned and afterwards the Local Government an option of purchasing an undertaking for which a license has been granted subject to no time-limit, after the expiry of such period and subsequent periods as may be specified, subject to certain prescribed maxima. In such cases, the terms of purchase are, unless varied in exercise of the power conferred by clause 10, to be the same as those laid down by clause 5.

Clause 8 provides for an option of purchase on similar terms on the expiry of a license which has been granted subject to a time-limit.

Clause 9 aims at providing for cases in which the option of purchasing conferred by clauses 7 and 8 in the event of revocation is not taken advantage of.

Clause 10, which has already been referred to in connection with clause 7, has been taken from the Electric Lighting Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., c. 12), section 3.

Clause 11.—This clause, relating to the preparation and submission of annual accounts, is considered of great importance, and is taken from the English Statute of 1882. No similar provision is included either in the Bengal Act or in the Calcutta License issued under it.

Clauses 12 to 15.—These relate to the execution of works required in connection with electrical undertakings and follow generally the provisions of the English Act referred to on the margin.

Clause 17 provides, on the lines of the Bengal Act, for the reinstatement without delay of streets, railways, tramways, sewers, drains or tunnels interfered with in exercise of the powers to be conferred on licensees, and for the protection of the public in connection with such operations.

Clause 18.—By section 13 of the Bengal Act of 1895 the construction of aerial lines above or across streets is prohibited, except with the express consent of the Local Government. It has been represented that the use of aerial lines is almost unavoidable in India, the cost of underground lines being prohibitive, and, in these circumstances, it has been deemed sufficient to reserve to the Local Government a power to prevent the construction of aerial lines unless and until it has accorded general approval to the system to be adopted. Sub-clauses (3) and (4) reproduce, mutatis mutandis, section 18 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (XIII of 1885). A special provision regarding the temporary use of aerial lines in certain cases of emergency will be found at the end of clause 13.

Clauses 19–22 and 24.—These follow in the main the provisions of sections 15 to 19 of the Bengal Act of 1895, and call for no special remarks.

Clause 23 limits the amount of electrical power with which any consumer can demand to be supplied, to what is necessary for the consumption of energy on his premises, and it further protects licensees against alterations in the demand made without proper notice.

Clause 25 empowers a licensee to discontinue the supply of energy to any consumer who neglects to pay for what he has received. It seems but reasonable that such a power should be secured to licensees, and in England it is expressly taken by section 21 of the Statute of 1882.

Clause 26.—In the interests of the general public and following the provisions of section 25 of the Statute just referred to, this clause absolutely protects from attachment by civil process any apparatus or appliance for the supply of electrical energy which, though belonging to a licensee, may be on the premises of another person.

Clauses 27 and 28 provide for the protection of railways, canals and telegraphic, telephonic and electric-signalling communications.

Clause 29 requires notice to be sent to the Local Government of every serious accident occurring in, or in connection with, the works of a licensee. Here again recent legislation in England has been followed, and the provisions of, for example, section 13 of the Indian Factories Act, 1881 (XV of 1881), may be compared.

Clauses 30 and 31.—It is expedient that the Government should be able effectively to interfere and insist on the proper remedy being applied where the system of supply or anything in the works of a licensee appears to be defective or a source of danger to the public. The requisite authority is conferred by clause 30, while clause 31 deals with the employment of competent persons as electric inspectors if the Local Government considers that their assistance and advice are necessary or their services are applied for by either consumers or licensees.

Clause 32 relates to the provision and maintenance in working order of meters for ascertaining the amount of energy supplied to consumers or the electrical quantity contained in any such supply. The registers kept by meters are declared to be, in the absence of fraud, conclusive proof.

Clauses 33 and 35.—Clause 35, which is included in Part IV of the Bill, takes a general power for the Governor General in Council to make rules to regulate the generation, supply and use of energy; while clause 33 in Part II endows each Local Government with a similar power for the purpose of supplementing the provisions of that Part and controlling in subsidiary matters of detail undertakings licensed by it thereunder. Any rules made by a Local Government in the exercise of this power must, of course, have regard to, and be consistent with, the more general rules framed by the Government of India.

Clause 34.—By the general Act of 1887 no exception is made to the application of its provisions to installations in places where one hundred or more persons are likely to be assembled, and consequently no such installation is lawful until notice has been given as required by section 3 of that Act. In practice, however, this provision has been almost a dead letter in the case of installations in factories, theatres, clubs, etc. Section 4(1) of the English Act of 1888 provides that any electric line or work laid down or erected by any body or person for the supply of electricity generated upon any premises occupied by such body or person to any other part of such premises shall not be subject to the regulations there referred to, and it is doubtful how far it is necessary to provide for the control of self-contained installations of this kind. It is thought that, although it may be unnecessary to bring purely private installations under this Part, the Government should not renounce the power of control which it has taken under the general Act of 1887 in all cases in which the safety of the public is concerned, or in which danger to telegraph lines may be apprehended. The first part of this clause, therefore, follows section 3 of the Act of 1887, but a proviso has been added which will enable the Local Government, by special or general order, to exempt from its operation any person or class of persons using energy on premises upon which it is generated. The latter portion of the clause contains a necessary provision for the authoritative settlement by the Local Government of any question which may be raised as to the application or non-application of Part III of the Bill.

Clause 35.—By sub-clause (d) power is taken to make rules for the protection of magnetic observatories or laboratories from disturbance. This has been done on the suggestion of the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India; but it is doubtful whether any rules will afford efficient protection in this respect. Sub-clause (f) provides for rules to authorize and regulate the levy of fees for the inspection and testing of appliances or apparatus used in the generation, supply or use of electricity. There is no provision in the existing law under which such fees can be levied.

Clause 37.—This clause is based upon section 6 of the Electricity Act, 1887 (XIII of 1887), but extends the provisions of that section so as to enable the Governor General in Council to confer the powers of the telegraph-authority under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (XIII of 1885), upon licensees as well as upon public officers.

Clause 38.—Various provisions in the Bill direct that differences or disputes arising in connection with its working shall be referred to arbitration. Thus clause 19 is to the effect that licensees shall, in the exercise of the powers conferred upon them, cause as little damage, detriment and inconvenience as possible, and shall make full compensation for any injury which they may occasion to others; and it concludes by providing that, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount or the application of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration. Similar enactments in other connections are to be found in clauses 5 (b), 13, 14 (2), 15 (5), 19 (2), 21 (2), 23 (2), 28 (4) and 32 (4), and conditions of a like kind are contemplated by clauses IX (2), X (2) and XIV of the schedule. Clause 38 then provides generally that, where any matter is, by or under the proposed Act, directed to be determined by arbitration, the matter shall, unless it is otherwise expressly provided in the license of the licensee concerned, be determined by such person as the Local Government may nominate in that behalf on the application of either party, but that in all other respects the arbitration shall be subject to the provisions of the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899 (IX of 1899).

Clause 40.—This clause provides a summary method of recovering sums declared to be recoverable by certain of the earlier provisions of the Bill, the procedure being that prescribed by various existing enactments—e.g., section 201 of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1891 (XII of 1891)—for the recovery of municipal rates and taxes. In each of the cases mentioned in the clause it will be found, either that the Local Government or an officer specially appointed by it is concerned in the demand, or that the amount may, where any difference or dispute arises between the parties, be determined by arbitration. In either circumstances it seems reasonable to provide a simpler means of recovery than the filing of a suit in a Civil Court. The Magistrate through whom the recovery is to be effected will, of course, act in a purely ministerial, not in a judicial, capacity—see W. J. Ellis v. The Municipal Board of Mussoorie (1900), 1 L. R. 22 All., 111.

Clause 41.—All necessary penalties for the infringement of any of the provisions of the proposed Act, or, in the case of a license, of any of the conditions of the license, are here provided.

Clause 42.—A clause of this kind is to be found in many enactments besides that cited in the marginal reference. It is intended to protect servants of the Government or of a local authority from being proceeded against, either civilly or criminally, for anything done, or in good faith purporting to be done, by them under the proposed Act.

Schedule.—The clauses here set forth have been adapted from the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1849 (62 & 63 Vict., c. 19), with the exception of clause IV, which has been taken from the Calcutta License. They consist generally of detailed provisions and instructions regarding the accounts of licensees, the nature of the supply of energy and the manner in which it is to be supplied, and other minor obligations to be, as a rule, imposed on licensees. Provisions which are intended to apply to third parties have been excluded from the schedule and included in the body of the Bill. As the contents of the schedule are, as has already been explained in connection with clause 4, to be deemed to be, unless otherwise expressly provided, incorporated with every license, the license itself will ordinarily be of a short and simple character, and it has been thought unnecessary to prescribe its exact form.

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 13th February 1902, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

There has been no change in the rainfall conditions during the past week and the drought continues unabated. There have been showers over the extremities of the Indian region, but the main portion of the country has been altogether rainless. The showers noticed above occurred on the 7th at Moultmein, Diamond Island and Silchar; on the 8th at Dibrugarh and Sibsagar; on the 9th at Trincomalee; on the 10th at Mergui, Moultmein and Trincomalee; on the 11th at Trincomalee; on the 12th at Taungoo, Yamein, Colombo and Trincomalee; and on the 13th at Taunggyi, Lashio, Bhamo, Minbu, Namethin, Tinnevely, Trichinopoly, Madras, Cuddalore, Negapatam and Trincomalee. In addition, light snow occurred at Dras and Astor on the 17th. The preceding summary shows that the rainfall of the week has been confined to parts of Burma, of Ceylon and the south of the Peninsula, and even in these areas the showers have not only been frequently local and confined to one or two stations, but they have generally been light and less than 10".

The rainfall summary at the close shows that average rainfall amounting to 0·10" more was received during the week in all the Burma divisions, in the Calicut sub-division and in the East Coast (South) division, but that in all the remaining divisions and sub-divisions the week was rainless throughout. The only areas in which the anticipated rainfall is at all heavy during the week under review are the Simla sub-division, the Ludhiana sub-division and the Baluchistan division; in all other places the anticipated rainfall at this season is small, and except for the long continued drought its absence would be comparatively unimportant.

The conditions shown by the latter portion of the table are practically the same as those described last week. Serious deficiency of rainfall is reported from all places except the Burma Dry division, the Ahmedabad sub-division of Gujarat, the Bellary sub-division of the Deccan, both the sub-divisions of South India and the East Coast (South) division.

The deficiency is absolutely greatest over the area covered by the West Himalayas, the West Gangetic Plain, the North-West Dry and the Baluchistan divisions where it ranges from 1·25" in the Cawnpore sub-division to 5" in the Simla sub-division, but the deficiency, relatively to the average, is about equally great and roughly between 80 and 100 per cent. all over Northern and Central India.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 8th February, 1902.

Madras.—There was no rain during the week. Water supplies are sufficient for irrigation except in parts of the Deccan. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting continue in parts. Standing crops generally are in good condition. Harvesting continues with fair outturn. Pasture is scanty in parts of the Deccan, but fodder is sufficient. The condition of cattle is good. Prices are stationary or falling.

Bombay.—There was no rain during the week. The rainfall is insufficient in parts of Gujarat and the Deccan. Harvesting of autumn crops has been completed in Bijapur, is nearly over in Dharwar and is in progress in parts of Broach and Khandesh. Threshing has been completed in Ahmednagar, is nearly over in Kolaba, and is in progress in parts of Thar and Parkar, Nasik and Poona. Estimates of outturn of autumn crops generally are good in the Konkan and the Karnatak, fair in Sindh and the Deccan and moderate to poor in Gujarat. Sowings for the spring are in progress in parts of Kanara. Standing crops have been damaged by locusts or frost in parts of Sindh, by rats in parts of Gujarat, Khandesh, Nasik, Wadhwan and Baroda and by grasshoppers in parts of Bijapur. They are suffering from insufficient moisture in parts of the Upper Sind Frontier, Gujarat, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur and Baroda and generally are in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops has been commenced in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. Preparation of land for next season is in progress in parts of the Konkan, the Deccan and Belgaum. Cotton prospects generally are fair in Khandesh and the Karnatak and moderate to poor elsewhere. Picking continues in parts of Broach, Surat and Belgaum. The fodder supply is sufficient, except in parts of Karachi and Sholapur. Prices have risen in four districts, fallen in five districts and are stationary elsewhere. The relation of the prices of the principal staples to the normal and to the prices of 1901 remains substantially the same. Prices of cheapest foodgrain in pounds per rupee at headquarters:—Ahmedabad, 32; Kaira, 29; Panchmahals, 30; Sholapur, 42½; Ahmednagar, 35; Bijapur, 38. Bengal.—Except a very slight fall in parts of Tippera and Cuttack, there was no rain during the week anywhere in the Province. The want of rain is still felt in several places in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. Threshing of winter rice and pressing of sugarcane still continue. Harvesting of the spring crops and preparation of lands for early rice and jute are in progress. Poppy is doing fairly well and lancing has commenced in places. Prospects continue to be fair on the whole. Fodder is sufficient except at Arrah. Want of water is not felt anywhere. The price of common rice has risen in 8 Districts, fallen in 17, and is stationary in the rest—(21).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—The weather has been clear. Rain is wanted for dry lands. The irrigation of crops is in progress. Fields are being prepared for sugarcane. The harvesting of peas has been commenced in places. Slight injury is reported to crops from frost in Shahjahanpur, Sitapur and Bara Banki and from rats in Budaun. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are almost stationary.

Punjab.—There was no rain during the week. Pressing of sugarcane continues in Jullundur, Amritsar and Sialkot. Land is being prepared for sugarcane cultivation in Rohtak. Sowings of extra spring crops have been commenced in Gurgaon and parts of Karnal. The outturn of sugarcane is said to be average on irrigated and below the average on unirrigated land in Sialkot. The condition of standing crops is generally fair on irrigated and poor on unirrigated lands. Crops on dry land generally are withering. Rain is badly needed throughout the province. Standing spring crops are suffering from cold, high winds or draught in Rohtak, Gurgaon, Amballa, Mooltan and Sialkot. They are also being damaged by rats in parts of Amballa and Gujrat. Cattle are generally in good condition, but they are said to be losing condition by over-work on wells in Ferozepore, Sialkot and Gujrat. Shahpur and Rawal. Central Provinces.—The weather has been rainless and extremely cold and frosty in the Northern districts. The harvesting of gram and other pulses is generally in progress, and the reaping of wheat has been commenced in Wardha. Damage to pulses by frost is feared to be considerable in the Khurai Tahsil of the Saugor district and appreciable in the rest of Saugor, Damoh and Narsinghpur. In the three Western tahsils of Hoshangabad the spring crops are withering and in the Jagir Tahsil of the Bilaspur district the prospects of the wheat crop are unfavourable. Damage by rats has extended to parts of Nimar and Chhindwara. Insects and cold blasts are damaging linseed and wheat in parts of Raipur. Elsewhere prospects are generally fair to good. Prices are generally steady. The lowest prices in seers per rupee are wheat 16, gram 22½, rice 16½ and juar 22½; the highest are wheat 8½, gram 12, rice 8 and juar 14.

Gathering of pulse is nearly finished and its outturn is good in Goalpara and Lakhimpur and fair elsewhere. Land is being prepared for late rice in Sylhet, Kamrup and Darrang (for sugarcane in Darrang) and for jute in Goalpara. Water and fodder are available. COORG.—Rice threshing continues. Prices of food grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

RESOLUTION.

The conservation of the ancient buildings which provide so splendid a record of Indian history and so interesting an illustration of the artistic and religious feelings of the past is a task that should appeal powerfully to the sympathy of the Government of this country, and that must be regarded as a responsibility for the due discharge of which it will properly be held to account. For some time past the attention of the Governor General in Council has been directed to the question of securing the recognition of a liberal policy in this matter, and of increasing the efficiency of the organization which exists for carrying it into effect. Under a scheme which was introduced in 1898 the provinces of British India were grouped into five circles to each of which an Archæological Surveyor was appointed, to be paid from the Imperial revenues but to be controlled by the Local Government within whose jurisdiction his head-quarters were situated. He was charged with the duties of cataloguing archæological remains, of advising the Local Government concerning the preservation of such of these remains as merited care, and, generally, with the prosecution of archæological research. Responsibility for the effective conservation of such monuments as it was decided to maintain was left with Local Governments, which were to employ the agency of the Provincial Public Works Departments in carrying out necessary measures of construction and repair. This responsibility has led in some provinces to a liberal and well-judged expenditure, and the Governor General in Council recognizes that the local interest and pride in the public monuments of a province which are thereby developed should furnish the most effective security against their neglect. But the organization has been shown to be imperfect in so far as it has left the Archæological Department without an expert Head, who could assist local effort with authoritative advice and guidance, and maintain a continuous record of the archæological needs of the various provinces and of the action taken to meet them. In the absence of such a central authority the attention that is given to the conservation of the ancient monuments of the country, and to archæological questions in general, must depend partly upon the attractiveness which these subjects may possess for particular Heads of Local Governments and Administrations, partly upon the sufficiency of available funds. With a view to introducing greater uniformity as well as greater liberality of treatment, the Governor General in Council has determined, with the approval of the Secretary of State, to appoint tentatively, for a term of five years, a Director General of Archæology; and Mr. J. H. Marshall has been selected for the post. In name, the appointment will be a revival of that held by Major-General Cunningham and Dr. Burgess between the years 1871 and 1889. But the duties of the incumbent will extend considerably beyond the direction and control of archæological research to which these officers mainly directed their attention. It will be the most important of his functions to secure that the ancient monuments of the country are properly cared for, that they are not utilized for purposes which are inappropriate or unseemly, that repairs are executed when required, and that any restorations which may be attempted are conducted on artistic lines. In this respect his position will be generally similar to that occupied by the Curator of Ancient Monuments who held office from 1880 to 1883. But his duties will extend to the exercise of a general supervision over all the archæological work of the country, whether it be that of excavation, or preservation, or repair, or of the registration and description of monuments and ancient remains, or of antiquarian research; he will assist the Provincial Surveyors in ascertaining and formulating the special requirements of each province; and he will advise the Government of India as to the operations for which special subsidies may be allotted from Imperial funds. He should visit all the circles in succession, and the more important ones, so far as is possible, in each year, succinctly reporting the general results of his tour to the Local Government of each province visited and offering any suggestion that he may have.

which he has inspected. He should report on the progress effected during each official year.

2. The Governor General in Council desires to make it known that the creation of his appointment is in no way intended to weaken the responsibility of Local Governments or the care of the ancient monuments of their provinces. Their duty in this respect will remain unimpaired; but it is hoped that a stimulus may be lent to its continuous and effective discharge by the offer of expert advice and, where required, of practical assistance. The present arrangements under which repairs and restorations are carried out by the Provincial Departments of Public Works will remain unaltered; and the Government of India are indeed of opinion that in the interests of continuity of administration it is desirable that each Local Government should fix an annual minimum sum to be expended on these purposes. The Governor General in Council is prepared to emphasize his own responsibility in the matter and to facilitate the prompt undertaking of necessary works by reserving annually a sum of one lakh of rupees to be distributed for particular objects demanding early execution and shown to be beyond the financial capacity of Local Governments. It is further in contemplation to take powers by legislation for the more efficacious protection and repair of ancient buildings, in which case these subsidies will prove of special assistance to those Administrations whose archaeological responsibilities will thereby be enhanced.

DEATH OF THE MARQUIS OF DUFFERIN & AVA.

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said:—"Before we proceed to the business of our meeting this morning, I should not like to let slip the occasion of paying our share of the universal tribute to the memory of the distinguished Statesman, Lord Dufferin, who passed away full of years and honour two days ago, and a part of whose eminent career was so closely identified with this country. Coming here at a rather later period of life than most of his predecessors, Lord Dufferin brought to India an intelligence of the highest order that had been ripened by experience in many parts of the world, a great knowledge of men, and a personal charm that endeared him to all.

"This combination of gifts enabled him, in the short space of four years, to leave a lasting mark upon the administration and history of this country, where he will always be remembered as a Statesman who not merely extended the borders of the Indian Empire, but strengthened its foreign relations, and added to its internal peace and contentment. India will, I am sure, not wish to be left out of the crowd of mourners who, in every quarter of the globe, are offering their last meed of respect at this illustrious Englishman's grave."

CANTONMENTS (HOUSE-ACCOMMODATION) BILL.

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDMOND ELLES moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to make better provision for securing house-accommodation for officers in cantonments be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 2, sub-clause (1), of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, the definition of "grantee" be omitted. He said :—"I cannot very well explain the grounds for this amendment without going into other amendments in the group of which I have given notice, and I think that that will be the shorter and more convenient way for me to adopt. With regard to this amendment, the word 'grantee' is what is called a fancy name, and it has a definition wholly different from the ordinary meaning of the word. With respect to land, we know very well what grantee means: according to the definition of grantee in the Bill, a grantee is not a grantee of the land but the grantee of a permission to do something upon it. I propose with the aid of the other amendments to substitute instead of this word 'grantee' the word 'owner' throughout the Bill, but in order to do this it is necessary to confine the Bill within somewhat more narrow limits, and, if the Council agree to the amendment I propose, we shall not in any way tend to prevent the Government or the military authorities from securing that which is the object of the Bill and that which they desire, namely, to make better provision for securing house-accommodation for military officers in cantonments. We all recognise the paramount claim of the military authorities in this respect, but Chapter II appears to go further than this. The end of the sub-section provides for an enquiry into the titles of the persons who hold land in cantonments, and then the other sub-sections go on to impose upon those persons certain conditions and certain presumptions which have caused very great alarm in the country with reference to the intentions of the Government. That alarm to my mind is an alarm which is unfounded, but I cannot say that there was not some ground for it in the Bill as it originally stood. However, as it has been altered in Committee and as it has been explained previously at the last meeting of the Council, I do not think that there is now any ground for such alarm. It must be remembered that this is not a declaratory Bill with the object of declaring the law as relating to cantonments; but it is a Bill brought forward for a certain specific purpose, and it does seem to be going beyond its real object to go and endeavour to declare the law with regard to the titles of these persons who hold houses in cantonments. The alarm was caused owing to the serious diminution in the value of property which was apprehended supposing that the provisions in question were retained. I have always thought, and still think, that the Government may well rest and take their stand upon the law, as it is at present, without any endeavour to alter it and certainly without endeavouring to put any statutory presumptions in the way of litigants, even in cases in which the Government is not at all interested and to which the Government may not be a party. I propose, therefore, in order to carry out this portion of my suggestion, to omit sub-clauses (3), (4) and (5) of clause 3. This will simplify the Bill very much; it will allay this anxiety and this alarm; and, at the same time, as far as I can judge, it will give the Government all that they require. On the other hand, I think that the Bill will put those who are affected by it, namely, house-owners in cantonments, in a better position than they are in at present. It will take away a great deal of that uncertainty which at present besets them; they will have a Bill showing clearly the position in which they stand instead of being liable to have Military Resolutions made with respect to them at intervals, perfectly uncertain, and Military Regulations the scope and result of which also they cannot foresee. I am bound to say that my honourable and gallant friend in charge of the Bill has in every way shown his desire to meet the views of the house-owners in this matter, and if, as I trust, the amendments which I now propose prove acceptable to the Council, I cannot but hope that the Bill will meet with the acceptance of the country and at the same time secure the object which the Government have in view. With these words, My Lord, I beg to move the first amendment which stands in my name."

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDMOND ELLES said:—"My Lord, I am prepared, on behalf of the Government, to accept the amendment now proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh; but I wish it to be distinctly understood that I do so without prejudice to the claim of the Government to be the owner of the soil in cantonments.

"In the statement which I made at the meeting of Council held at Simla on the 25th October last I indicated as fully and clearly as I could what our claim is and what is its foundation. Nothing that I then said do I now retract, nor from the position which I then took do I now withdraw. On the contrary, the more I go into the matter and the more I hear of the arguments put forward in the memorials lately received and elsewhere on behalf of the so-called house-owners in cantonments the more convinced I become of the strength of our case and the weakness of the other side. That the intention with which we began to form cantonments, was to include in them only areas entirely at the disposal of the military authorities, cannot be denied; for the old Regulations expressly forbade the inclusion of any lands which were private property, and a whole series of Regulations and orders issued from the beginning of last century onwards have consistently assumed and asserted the ownership of the State. But the house-owners of Barrackpore, for example, say that no proof exists of the precise manner in which, or the exact time when, the Government acquired lands at Barrackpore for a cantonment; that lapse of time, added to the civil and political confusions of the last century, has rendered it impossible for many of them to prove their titles affirmatively, however clear they may have been originally; and that the absence, until comparatively recent years, of any regular or scientific system and practice of conveyancing, such as is to be found with regard to transfers of land in England, renders it doubly difficult to make out a title sufficient to rebut successfully the presumption that houses in cantonments stand on land which belongs to the State. It is urged that in these circumstances, where neither party can show a clear title, the only equitable course is to respect and give the preference to undisputed and long possession. I answer emphatically that, in the circumstances of the case, it is not so. A cantonment is a cantonment, and every resident in one knows very well that the circumstances are special and very different from those outside. And I maintain, as I did before, that, when it is admitted that neither the Government nor the house-owner, if put to the proof, could show either how the land was originally included in a cantonment or under what circumstances it came to be built upon, it is but right and reasonable to give to the Government the benefit of whatever doubt and uncertainty there may be and to presume, in the absence of title-deeds on either side, that the land is the Government's and that it was all along understood by every one concerned that houses were built on it subject to special conditions and to meet special military requirements. This was the presumption expressly raised by sub-clause (5) of clause 3 of the Bill as introduced, and, instead of its being an unjust presumption opposed to all legal principle, I believe it to be one which the admitted facts alone are sufficient to raise and of which the Courts would, in the absence of any statutory declaration on the subject, themselves give us the benefit. I have already referred to the house-owners of Barrackpore, who have, I know, heard of the case of Robinson v. Carey, decided in 1865 with reference to a house in their midst, and I will now read what Mr. Justice Norman, whose judgment was upheld on appeal by Chief Justice Sir Barnes Peacock and Mr. Justice Morgan, said on the particular point which I am now discussing. 'With respect to the property of the soil in cantonments,' the learned Judge observed,* 'where there is no evidence that the land is part of a settled estate; no proof that it pays revenue to the Government; nothing in fact to show that it is held by any other tenure; I think it must be taken that the soil is the property of the Government, and that occupation by the owners of bungalows is permissive.' The presumption sub-clause of the Bill goes no further than that; it was, I believe, actually suggested by Mr. Justice Norman's dictum; and it merely lays down the same rule in different language. I should, therefore, have no difficulty in continuing, were it necessary to do so, to defend the presumption and repel the charge that it is opposed to all legal principle. In the numerous memorials directed against this sub-clause, the measure is alluded to as practically an act of confiscation; but it is an extraordinary fact that, though the memorialists thus assume a title which they do not possess, there is not a single case on record in which such title has been proved as against the Government except such a case as is contemplated by clause 4 of the Bill, and I challenge the opponents of the presumption to adduce one. On the other hand, I quote an extract from a memorial of 1899 from the house-owners of one of our largest cantonments—'Your memorialists respectfully object to the term 'grantee' as not applicable. Had Government given the land and houses, it would have been; but as the land is still the property of Government and the houses are built for Government purposes, either for sheltering the garrisons or for purposes of catering to the wants of the same, there is nothing granted.'

"But, My Lord, the presumption was raised and asserted by the original framers of the Bill simply because the position underlying it was regarded as the strongest justification for a measure involving a certain amount of interference with the ordinary law of contract between landlord and tenant. We do not desire to have a statutory declaration regarding it for any other purpose; and when the spokesmen of house-owners in cantonments and the house-owners themselves come forward, as they have done, and say that the operative provisions of the Bill as it now stands are perfectly reasonable, that they justify themselves, and that they may be applied quite irrespectively of any considerations based upon the ownership of the soil, I must confess that they are practically conceding to us what we want. With the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh's amendments we shall, in the first place, avoid the necessity for a succession of troublesome and not inexpensive local enquiries into intricate questions of title; for all that we shall have to do, is to satisfy ourselves regarding the expediency of making the Act operative in any particular case. In other words, we shall have to take into consideration only such arguments as those put forward in the earlier part of the Barrackpore memorial, namely, that there is already plenty of accommodation available for military men on reasonable terms at Barrackpore, that the relations between landlords and tenants there are satisfactory, and that there is no call for interference in the matter. In the second place, we shall avoid the chance of subsequent litigation regarding the operation of the Act. And, finally, we shall have a simple and practical measure to administer.' That being so, My Lord, I think that the Government and the Council may accept the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh's amendment, supplemented as it will be by the other consequential amendments standing in his name, and so remove the issue of title from the Bill; and, after what I have now said, it will scarcely be possible for any one to argue hereafter that, by agreeing to this course, we have abandoned anything or made any admission detrimental to the rights of the Government to the land in cantonments. Should the question of ownership ever arise in any other connection we shall assert our claim and rely on the facts, on common sense, and on the presumption laid down with authority in the reported case which I have again cited to-day. I may add that the more we enquire into the condition of individual cantonments the more we are convinced of the strength of the Government claim. In the case of one cantonment which has been much relied on by those holding the contrary opinion, we have lately received a full report containing what we believe to be irrebuttable evidence as to the title of the Government, and we should, if necessary, embark with confidence on legal proceedings to establish it."

The Hon'ble MR. HARDY said:—"I have little to add to the very full statement which the honourable and gallant member has laid before the Council. I think, if I may be allowed to say so, the Government is acting wisely in accepting the proposal to omit sub-clauses (3), (4) and (5) of section 3. They contain an important presumption to which no reference is made in the preamble of the Bill. That preamble simply lays down that the Bill has for its object the securing of better accommodation for military officers in cantonments, and the introduction of a presumption of this nature is inconsistent with the logical development of the Bill from its preamble. I think the Government will lose nothing by the omission of these sub-sections. A great deal of contentious matter and a great deal of heart-burning, I venture to say, will be averted by their omission. I desire, as the member representing the Province in which there are a very large number of cantonments, to assert that the reasons given by the Hon'ble Sir Edmond Elles justify the acceptance of the proposals of the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh. The Bill when shorn of the sub-sections adequately meets the necessities of the situation, and as their omission does not involve any yielding by Government of its undoubted claim to the proprietorship of cantonment land, I agree with the honourable and gallant member in accepting the amendments proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh."

The Hon'ble SAYYID HUSAIN BILGRAMI said:—"My Lord, I will make but a few very brief observations on the question now before the Council. .

"It cannot be denied that, in its original shape, the Bill was somewhat stringent in its application to grantees; but the paring to which it has been subjected in process of passing through the hands of the Select Committee, has removed its asperities, and the amended Bill, as it now stands, is as fair and moderate as it was possible to make it when conflicting interests had to be reconciled and power taken for the securing of better house-accommodation for the military, who are responsible for the defence and protection of the country.

"The only part of the amended Bill which appears to bear heavily on grantees, is confined to sub-clauses (3), (4) and (5) of clause 3. Sub-clause (5) certainly looks like a confiscatory order, and I had myself thought of proposing that the whole of Chapter II with the exception of sub-clauses (1) and (2) of clause 3 should be omitted, if only for the reason underlying the Minutes of Dissent annexed to the Report of the Select Committee, that the question of title is altogether outside the scope, and in no way required for the purposes, of the Bill. I have, therefore, no hesitation in supporting the motion brought forward by the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh.

"I should like, however, to add that it occurs to me, from the slight experience I have had of cantonment life, that, in spite of the care that has been taken, in clause 8, sub-clause (2), and again in clause 18, to provide that the rent offered or enforced for the purposes of the Bill shall, in all cases, be 'reasonable', disagreement and disputes will still arise as long as no definite standard of rent is available to be referred to by either party in case of need. Even a Committee of Arbitration will not always be able to satisfy both parties, though they may be compelled under the proposed Act to abide by its decision. In the cantonments in and around Secunderabad I have frequently heard house-owners complain of being compelled to accept what they looked upon as inadequate rents, and make this a ground for refusing or neglecting to repair bungalows occupied by officers.

"As a way out of this difficulty, I venture to suggest that, in every cantonment that is brought under the operation of this measure, one or two or three bungalows, according to the size of the cantonment, should be built by the Cantonment Committee and rented to military officers at a fixed rent, not exceeding ten per cent. per annum on the outlay. Bungalows so built would not only serve as models for private speculators in house-building within cantonment limits to copy, but the rent charged by the Cantonment Committee would set up a fixed and indisputable standard for reference in connection with the assessment of the rents of all other houses in the cantonment.

"Funds for building these bungalows might be raised by debentures or lent at a nominal interest out of cantonment funds and recovered from the rent. Debentures carrying five per cent. interest would attract many investors, and, if one or two per cent. were devoted to a sinking fund for their extinction, the balance of the rent could be reserved for repairs. Power to raise the capital might be obtained, if necessary, in the same way in which similar power is obtained by municipalities in different towns in the country."

The Hon'ble RAI BAHADUR P. ANANDA CHARLU said:—"The Bill, as it originally stood, took most men's breath away. It caused no small amount of well-grounded and wide-spread alarm, as it seemingly involved a virtual abrogation of rights and confiscation of property, and as it threatened, on that account, to be viewed as an aggressive, instead of a progressive, measure. It further seemed to be of a piece with the species of legislation which began with pleading the need for an inch and ended with taking an ell. It is, therefore, no small satisfaction that, even as it is, some of the drawbacks are out of it in the shape it has received at the hands of the majority of the Select Committee. For it to prove more acceptable, or rather fairly satisfactory, we must adopt the amendments which await our decision.

"Personally I hold the view that, as there are barracks to house soldiers, so must there be quarters, attached to the barracks themselves as part and parcel of them, to house the officers as well. Such an arrangement, it seems to me, would ensure better discipline and a more vigilant control of the soldiers, quartered as they are amid a timid and alien population. But where this is not to be, the next best arrangement is what would be the outcome if the amendments on the agenda paper are accepted. I cordially support this amendment, and I may add, once for all, that my attitude is the same as regards the amendments which follow. They fully accord with my own views, and I should have urged them, if my learned colleague had not taken action. These amendments would, when accepted, almost bring the measure within the bounds of reasonable and recognised rights of property on the one hand and on the other, gratify the wishes of those who claim for military officers some degree of exceptional accommodation under existing conditions. What is of greater importance is that legal instincts will continue to remain unshocked and immemorably-established law on presumptions and on onus of proof will remain equally untouched and unreversed—notwithstanding the remarks made to-day by the Member in charge, and notwithstanding the case cited."

The Hon'ble MR. GOKHALE said:—"Your Excellency, as Government have been pleased to accept the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh, I do not think it is necessary for me to say anything in support of it; but, if Your Excellency will bear with me, I will, following the example of my Hon'ble friend Mr. Bilgrami, make a few observations on the general character of the measure, which the Council are invited to pass to-day. My Lord, it is true, that I have signed the Report of the Select Committee subject to dissent in one particular only, but I don't mind confessing that I regard all legislation of this nature with a considerable amount of misgiving. I am free to recognise that Government have been by no means precipitate in proceeding with this measure, as it has been before the public, in one form or another, for nearly thirty years. I also recognise that large and important modifications have been introduced into the Bill to soften the stringency of its original provisions, and now that Government have accepted the amendment of which the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh had given notice, I think they have done nearly all that lay in their power, short of dropping the Bill, to provide what have to be considered as reasonable safeguards to protect the legitimate interests of house-owners in cantonments. But, My Lord, when all this is admitted, and I make the admission most gratefully, the fact remains that legislation of so exceptional a character, interfering as it does with the normal freedom of contract between house-owners and tenants, can be justified only on grounds of the strongest necessity; and there is ample evidence in the opinions and memorials laid before the Select Committee to show that in the case of a large number of cantonments such necessity does not exist. In these cantonments no difficulty has been experienced in the past in the matter of obtaining house-accommodation for military officers, the number of bungalows available being largely in excess of military requirements, and a certain proportion of these bungalows remaining, as a matter of fact, vacant from year to year. Poona is a typical instance of this class of cantonments. It has been estimated that the number of military officers requiring house-accommodation in Poona is about 160; while the number of bungalows in Military lines is over 200. Now all these 160 officers do not take a house each. The younger officers generally prefer chumming, three or four in a house. A considerable number reside in the Western India Club and in hotels, and a few live even in Civil lines. The result is that every year a certain number of houses remain without tenants. It may be urged that it is not intended to put the proposed enactment into operation at once in all cantonments throughout India. That is true, but as soon as the Bill is passed the matter gets out of the hands of the Legislature, and then it is all a question of the discretion of Government in their executive capacity, which, it will be admitted, is quite a different thing. I do not say that this discretion will not, as a rule, be wisely exercised, but it is conceivable that a Local Government may not always be able to withstand the pressure of the military authorities, who would naturally not be reluctant to be armed with the drastic powers which this Bill vests in them, when once the Act is extended to a cantonment. And I think there is reason to fear that the operation of this enactment, with all the safeguards it contains, is likely to prove in practice more or less prejudicial to the interests of house-owners. The Legislature, My Lord, may make the letter of the law as severely impartial as it can. The law itself has to be enforced through the medium of human beings, who are not free from prejudice. And in the present case it will be worked by military men, who are so accustomed to prompt and unquestioning obedience that they are often not likely to trouble themselves much about nice points of law in enforcing their wishes. The Bill provides for referring all important matters of disagreement between house-owners and tenants to Committees of Arbitration. It remains to be seen how far the safeguard of these committees proves to be effective in practice. Past experience of these bodies in cantonments is not very encouraging. On this point I need quote no other testimony than that of the Hon'ble Mr. Hardy, who has described his experience of these committees in the following terms:— 'I have been a member on these committees, and I am bound to say I thought their tendency was to be hard on the house-owner.' Let us hope that the Arbitration Committees that will be constituted under the proposed enactment will give greater satisfaction. In one respect the Bill is certain to cause loss to house-owners. Where a non-military tenant is ejected in favour of a military tenant under the coercive clauses of the Bill, the house is sure to be shunned by non-military tenants after that, and so, if at any time the house-owner fails to get a military tenant for it, it is likely to remain without a tenant. I have made these observations to emphasize respectfully the great need there is for exhausting all ordinary remedies before resorting to the somewhat violent disturbance of the normal relations between house-owners and tenants which this Bill authorizes, especially in the case of those cantonments in which the inconvenience complained of in the preamble of the Bill has not assumed serious dimensions and where the requirements of the Military are of a fixed character. I believe in such cantonments Government might, with advantage, try the plan of selecting themselves the required number of bungalows once for all, and requiring their officers to occupy them for fixed rents. Such an arrangement, I submit, will be more equitable than that contemplated in the Bill, because there will be a reciprocity of obligations under it. For if house-owners will be thereby required to place their bungalows at the disposal of military officers, these latter, in their turn, will be bound to occupy them; and the chances of friction between house-owners and military officers will be minimised. Of course, where the evil mentioned in the preamble has grown so serious that such a simple plan will not be practicable, the proposed enactment will have to be enforced, for no one can question the fact, that cantonments exist primarily for the accommodation of military men and they must fulfil that purpose under any circumstances. But in regard to these cantonments, i.e., where it will be found necessary to enforce the new law, I would venture to make one suggestion, and that is, that Government should publish every year a statement showing the number of cases in which the coercive clauses of the Bill have been enforced during the year. I think the mere fact that such a return will have to go up to Government will tend to sober the excess of zeal on the part of cantonment authorities and will prove a salutary addition to the safeguards which have been already provided in the Bill. My Lord, it was not possible for me to bring up these suggestions in the shape of amendments, and I thought I might submit them to the consideration of Government in the course of this discussion."

The Hon'ble RAI SRI RAM BAHADUR said :—" My Lord, as one of the dissenting members of the Select Committee with respect to the provisions of clause 3 of the Bill, I consider it my duty to say a few words on the subject. But my task has been made easy by the action of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill in accepting the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh's amendments and omitting the objectionable provisions in question. Their elimination will be a matter of the utmost significance in favour of the cantonment house-owners, who will, no doubt, hail this important alteration with feelings of gratitude towards Your Excellency's Government. The extent of uneasiness and alarm created in the minds of house-owners on their finding sub-clauses (2) to (5) retained in section 3 of the Bill presented by the Select Committee, may be gauged by the submission of so many memorials to Your Excellency from different places, praying for their withdrawal.

" My Lord, it is a matter for congratulation that these contentious provisions are now going to be taken away out of the measure. Had they been retained and allowed to pass into law, the inquiries necessitated by them would have raised a host of dormant claims involving the decision of thorny and intricate questions of title quite unnecessary and altogether foreign to the express scope of the Bill.

" I imagine that, when cantonments were formed, the Government, as represented by the cantonment authorities, were glad to get persons to build houses on almost any terms. The authority given to those persons in many cases must have been verbal. They spent large sums of money in building houses on the cantonment grounds. To have called upon them, after the lapse of such long periods, to show that their houses do come within the exemption, would have entailed great hardships on them. A legal right has now vested in those house-owners. ' It is immaterial '—to quote the remarks of the Hon'ble Judges of the Calcutta High Court,—' however legal rights may have sprung up, whether by grant, or by purchase, or by long enjoyment fostered by negligence or by favour in past times; once a legal right exists, it is sacred.' The actual working of the provisions now to be eliminated might have interfered with such rights. It is, therefore, a matter for satisfaction that these objectionable provisions are now to be omitted.

" My Lord, it appears that the question of placing, by means of statutory provisions, greater facilities in the hands of military officers to obtain house-accommodation in cantonments, has been engaging the attention of the Government for some time. One of the recommendations made by a Committee of Government Officers, appointed by the Government of India in 1884, was the desirability of legislation on this subject. In the year 1888, Sir George Chesney, the then Military Member, introduced in this Council a Bill which subsequently became law as the Cantonments Act of 1889. Chapter V of that Bill contained substantially the same provisions as those of the Bill now before the Council. But the provisions of that chapter evoked such hostile criticism from the public as well as from some other quarters, and were considered to involve questions of such gravity and importance, that it was thought inadvisable to give them legislative sanction at that time. After the lapse of a decade the Bill before us was introduced by Sir Edwin Collen, the immediate predecessor of the present Hon'ble Military Member.

"My Lord, I, for my part, do not consider it of any avail at this stage of the proceedings to go into the question whether any necessity exists for placing such a piece of legislation in the Statute-book, nor into the cognate question whether, judged by strictly equitable principles, some of the provisions of this Bill, even in their present modified and altered form, are justifiable. I shall confine my remarks to other points than those mentioned above.

"The Bill as originally introduced contained many provisions which, looked at from the cantonment house-owner's point of view, were unnecessary and unduly severe. These provisions did naturally evoke unfavourable criticism, not only from the house-owners, but also from several Government Officers. It is satisfactory that the Bill has undergone some very important modifications at the hands of the Select Committee. Many of its objectionable features have been removed, and the severity and harshness of several of its provisions have been softened. Some additions beneficial to the interests of house-owners have also been made. We are thankful to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill and to other the Government Members for the due and favourable consideration shown by them to the amendments proposed and the suggestions made by their non-official colleagues on the Select Committee.

"With Your Lordship's permission, I shall briefly mention some of the most important changes made in the Bill by the Select Committee. The clauses rendering its provisions applicable to civil officers have been omitted. The restriction which it was proposed to place on transfers of house-property in cantonments, and the power of vetoing such transfers which was to be given to Commanding Officers, have also been withdrawn. Provision regarding imprisonment has been omitted. And an additional clause has been inserted to give greater facilities to house-owners in the matter of the recovery of arrears of rent from defaulting military tenants.

"My Lord, with the modifications and alterations noticed above and the amendments just now accepted by Your Excellency's Government, the Bill will, I hope, be more acceptable to the public, and specially to the cantonment house-owners, than it was in its original form."

The Hon'ble SIR ANDREW WINGATE said :—"My Lord, the cordial manner in which the Bill in its final form has been accepted makes it unnecessary for me to enter into any discussion respecting the contention set forth in some of the memorials that the land in cantonments has somehow or other ceased to be the property of the Government. I will, therefore, confine myself to stating that, so far as Poona is concerned, a very careful enquiry, recently made, has established two facts. One, that in 1817 and subsequent years, in accordance with the direction, eventually embodied in section 21 of the Regulation XXII of 1827, that no private land was to be included within the cantonment boundary, special care was taken to acquire any private land found on inquiry to be within the proposed boundary and to exclude any private land that, for reasons stated, it was not desirable to include. Accordingly, holders of inām lands were compensated by receiving other land of equal value on the same tenure in exchange and holders of ordinary lands by receiving an abatement of the assessment, this being at that date the only form of compensation recognised for this description of land, since cultivators had then no difficulty in finding fresh land.

"The other, that the land thus carefully acquired was as carefully preserved throughout the years that have since elapsed by a long series of Government Resolutions and by General Orders emanating from the military authorities. From first to last, it can be proved that no officer or other individual could acquire a right of property in land situated within cantonment limits merely by reason of having received permission to erect a house. The grant of a building site was subject to the ordinary conditions of cantonment tenure, on which alone the military authorities had power to confer it on the original grantee.

"I would like very respectfully to add one word on my own account. I am approaching the end of my service, and, in the experience I have had of various Bills, I have found the attitude of Government as full of sympathy towards its critics as in the case of the Bill now before this Council. I shall carry into retirement the conviction that by its respect for fair criticism, by its desire to meet as far as may be possible the opinion of the minority, by its readiness to adopt any useful suggestion and by the pains which it takes to inquire when the shoe is alleged to pinch, the Government will continue to possess the confidence of the people."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in the definition of "house" in clause 2, sub-clause (1) (e), to be re-numbered and re-lettered sub-clause (1) (d), the words "erected on land occupied as aforesaid by a grantee" be omitted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that at the end of the definition of "military officer" in clause 2, sub-clause (1) (f), to be re-numbered and re-lettered sub-clause (1) (e), the word "and" be omitted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 2, sub-clause (1), after the definition of "military officer", the following be inserted, namely:—

"(f) "owner" includes the person who is receiving, or is entitled to receive, the rent of a house, whether on his own account or on behalf of himself and others or as agent or trustee, or who would so receive the rent or be entitled to receive it, if the house were let to a tenant; and".

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 3, sub-clause (2), for the words "how the land in such cantonment or part of a cantonment is held" the following be substituted, namely:—

"whether it is expedient to issue such notification and what portion (if any) of the area proposed to be included therein should be excluded therefrom".

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 3, sub-clauses (3), (4) and (5) be omitted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 4, the words "evidencing a disposition of immoveable property in a cantonment and", and the words and figures "before the first day of October, 1899", be omitted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that for the word "grantee" or the words "a grantee", wherever it occurs or they occur in the said Bill, the word "owner" or the words "an owner", as the case may be, be substituted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. BUCK moved that in clause 14, sub-clause (2), the words "stands on land which" be omitted, and that for the words "granted by or on behalf of the East India Company or the Government" the word "erected" be substituted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDMOND ELLES moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said :—"In putting this motion to the Council let me say that the Government of India cannot but be gratified at the general agreement amid which this Bill is being passed into law. It was a subject that raised many thorny and difficult questions respecting the rights, or the assumed rights, of individuals, and we all know how readily, when a question of property is concerned, the bristles of the Englishman—and I think I may say the Indian too, who has perhaps learned a good deal from him—are apt to rise. Nevertheless, as I listened this morning to the speeches of Honourable Members, a spirit of almost universal beatitude, marred by scarcely a discordant note, appeared to have settled upon the scene. For this result I think that we are largely indebted to the tacitful and conciliatory manner in which my Honourable Colleague, Sir Edmond Elles, has conducted this measure; and I may say in passing that I listened with pleasure, and with gratitude, to the brief but eloquent tribute paid by the Hon'ble Sir A. Wingate, based perhaps upon a short experience of this Council, but upon a long experience of the administration of India, as to the spirit and manner in which the Government of India are anxious to meet their critics in legislative and other matters. Sir Edmond Elles has now the satisfaction of seeing this Bill, which he has conducted in the manner I have described, placed upon the Statute-book by what I anticipate will be the unanimous voice of this Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN STEAM-SHIPS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR EDWARD LAW moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR EDWARD LAW moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN TRAMWAYS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to apply the provisions of the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, to certain Tramway Companies be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

ADMINISTRATORS GENERAL AND OFFICIAL TRUSTEES BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees be taken into consideration. He said :—"My Lord, the alterations which have been proposed by the Select Committee in the original Bill were fully explained at the last meeting of the Council by my Hon'ble Colleague, the Law Member and I need not, therefore, now offer any further explanatory remarks.

"The Hon'ble RAI BAHADUR P. ANANDA CHARLU said:—"I share the regret, almost universally expressed, that this Bill has not been long enough before the public and that it has not been subjected to the scrutiny of High Courts other than the Calcutta High Court. To me personally, it seems to be a matter of advantage that Bills such as this—Bills which relate to legal principles and to the practical working of laws enacted—should be referred to the several bodies of legal men in the country, whether associated or not, and more especially when associated, as is the Madras Vakils Association, which, speaking from intimate personal touch, contains not a few of eminent legal learning and keen legal acumen. A departure, such as this, will prove, not only a handsome compliment, where it is richly deserved, but also of considerable profit to the Legislature and the public, notwithstanding that there is a fair amount of legal element, always secured in the Legislature itself.

"An urgency is, however, pleaded to justify the exceptional course taken as regards this Bill, namely, that the retirement of the late incumbent of the office of the Administrator General and the occasion to appoint a successor were intended to be taken advantage of to make the office a salaried one and to introduce other modifications consequent upon that change. I am not sure that this reason is altogether adequate; but whether it is adequate or not, I am clear that the change of the office into a salaried one is not brought in, a day too soon. It will place a whole-time officer at the disposal of the public and will not only facilitate access to him but also prevent delays and congestion of work.

"As regards the Official Trusteeship, while I am fully in accord with the framers of the Bill that it should be a salaried office as well, I am not equally at one with them that it should be amalgamated with the office of the Administrator General. The facilities and relief conveyed to the public with one hand by making the Administrator General a salaried officer are more than whittled away with the other hand, by leaving the public still to wait till the officer doffs the one office and dons the other; for it is quite clear that he cannot be conveniently attending to both classes of his visitors promiscuously. The same remark would apply to the proposed Deputy. I am, therefore, not in favour of the fusion as an affair of public convenience. An influential committee has indeed expressed itself in favour of this fusion. But it will be found, on examination, that the committee in question had to face a proposal of quadruple alliance and their method appears to me to have been to apply the process of elimination, mainly on grounds of conflict of duties which would be entailed thereby and the special qualifications some of them called for. On that test, of course, nothing can be said against the amalgamation which is proposed in the Bill. But, as I said, it is open to objection on grounds of facility to the public. The Government have, however, resolved to try the experiment, and it has, at least, one merit, namely, that, when the offices are lumped together, the head and the deputy may be paid bigger salaries, and that fact may attract more capable men than would be otherwise available.

"Having regard to the shortness of notice and the diversity of views that seem to exist, representations have poured in from far and near, and the latest is from Burma early this morning. The last one, though latest, seems to me to deserve considerable attention. Almost all the facilities and advantages, meant by making the Administrator General a whole-time officer would seem to be lost, or mostly lost, to distant places, such as Burma. I am told, and I am sure I am rightly told, that, so far back or so recently as 1890, when the Act of 1874 was amended, the Authorities themselves, in a manner, felt the force of the complaint, and power was taken to divide the Presidency of Bengal into so many provinces as the Viceroy should think fit, when the then incumbent vacated office, a separate head being provided for each. This information came to me far too late to admit of my making further enquiries and of determining whether any and what change should be made in the law to give effect to the promise, if any such were made. But, as we are only engaged in remedying a few out of the many shortcomings of the law in force and as I believe a more comprehensive Bill to amend the whole matter is in contemplation or must soon be brought on the anvil, I content myself with merely calling pointed attention to the demur from Burma. A like consideration has influenced me, to a great extent, in not moving any amendment on the question of relieving sureties of administrators, on a proper case being made out. The hardship is severe and is repeatedly felt by sureties. It even has the effect in many instances of increasing the difficulties of procuring solvent and almost life-long sureties, with the result that the cases are not inconsiderable in number, in which bogus sureties contrive to bamboozle or the original sureties have suffered reverses in their own affairs so as to be no longer as substantial as at first. I shall say no more on this point just at present, chiefly because the judicial authority on the law of jurisdiction on the subject is slight and because the conflict between the High Courts—as yet between two High Courts only—is as between a division Bench of one such Court and a single Judge of another. I have nothing more to say at this stage.”

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble RAI BAHADUR P. ANANDA CHARLU moved that in clause 2, sub-clause (a), of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, after the word “attorney,” the words “or a vakil of the High Court, admitted under the Letters Patent and the rules framed thereunder,” be inserted, and that the words and figures “notwithstanding anything in the Administrator General's Act, 1874,” be omitted. He said :—“In my minute of dissent I have briefly stated my reasons on this point. It is as follows :—

“My other amendments aim at getting rid of a gratuitous distinction. Class-legislation is always invidious and irritating. In this particular instance it has to be deprecated chiefly as giving the go-by entirely to the present conditions, which are wholly different from the conditions a quarter of a century ago, i.e., in 1874. It only remains for me to add that I trust that my objection on the latter point will not be mistakenly viewed as of a sectional nature. It is, on the contrary and obviously, an opposition to what is, on the very face of it, sectional and narrow. My attitude would be precisely the same in the interest of common fairness, if I did not belong to the legal profession at all and if the exclusion from all chances of eligibility were levelled at the barrister or the attorney class’.

“To this passage I shall add a few words. As has been fairly admitted, the offices have been reserved to a barrister, not merely as a homage to one branch of the legal profession, but on the ground that, if the head of the office possesses the higher qualification, his opinion will be more readily accepted when legal questions arise in the course of administration. I am quite at one with this being the main, or even the sole, test. Applying that test, I cannot accept the sectional limitation contained in the Bill in its present form.”

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ said :—“My Lord, I regret that I cannot accept the proposal of the Hon'ble Mr. Ananda Charlu.

“Perhaps the most important, and certainly the most difficult, of the duties performed by the Administrator General are in relation to Europeans and their private concerns, and this naturally brings him, in circumstances often of peculiar delicacy, into the closest contact with people and affairs in England and other European countries. It is clearly desirable that the Administrator General should, by common origin and training, be able thoroughly to understand the mode of dealing with the cases of the persons affected. I do not for one moment wish to disparage the legal attainments of vakils, but here we have to consider something more. For the reasons, no doubt, which I have just indicated, the Act of 1874 made only barristers eligible for the appointment; and I must remind the Hon'ble Mover that we have agreed to a considerable abridgment of the Bill in order to leave matters as far as possible alone.”

The motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble RAI BAHADUR P. ANANDA CHARLU moved that the word and figure “Section 6” be inserted at the beginning of clause 4, sub-clause (1), of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ said:—“I must oppose this amendment, My Lord, for the same reasons as I have just given in the case of the other amendment.”

The motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble MR. TURNER moved that clause 9 of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, be re-numbered clause 10, and that before that clause the following be added, namely:—

‘9. In section 256 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, as amended by section 6 of the Probate and Administration Act, 1889, after the word “administration”, the words and figures “other than a grant under section 212” shall be inserted.’

He said:—“The very full statement made by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill at our last meeting, followed by the observations and explanations of the Hon'ble Legal Member, have made the position of Government and the objects of the Bill perfectly plain and perfectly intelligible. Had this full information been vouchsafed to the public at an earlier stage of the proceedings, there would not have been the necessity for the criticisms levelled at the Bill as presented to the public. It must be remembered, My Lord, that those who administer the law have to be guided by common sense and a reasonable view of the provisions of an Act that cannot be got by the intentions of the framers of the Act, however excellent those intentions may be, and, therefore, I consider that the public and the Chamber of Commerce were perfectly justified in criticising in the most frank and open manner the provisions of the Bill as first proposed.

“The provisions of the Bill as first proposed were in some cases obscure, in some cases objectionable, but I am bound to say that the Bill as now amended is a vast improvement, and I do not think it can be reasonably objected to even on the score of hurried legislation. I have thought it right and necessary to append a Note to the Report of the Select Committee, not a Note of Dissent, but merely to record my strong view that it was not desirable to amalgamate the two offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee. It may be considered presumption on my part to express such an opinion in view of the Committee's Report, which is entitled to the highest respect, the Committee being presided over by the Hon'ble the Chief Justice of Bengal. My objection is stated entirely from a business point of view. I do not believe it will be found in practice that the work of Administrator General and of Official Trustee can be efficiently and beneficially performed by a chief officer who will be the Administrator and by his deputy, and I would respectfully urge upon the Government of India that they should, before this amalgamation is carried into effect, take the opinion of the present Administrator General himself, after an experience of say 6 or 12 months of the work of his office, as to whether he could recommend such an amalgamation. I would also urge, My Lord, that the matter of salaries should be very carefully considered. It is most desirable that the best and most efficient man should be obtained for these important posts, regardless of salary. As to the amendment which I am now about to propose, it is with the object of removing a grievance in connection with the working of the Indian Succession Act, which has been very fully dealt with by the Calcutta Trades' Association in their letter to the Government of Bengal, dated the 17th of May, 1901. It was pointed out in that letter that, whereas no security is required from an executor obtaining a grant of probate in person, in the case of an attorney of an absent executor a grant of Letters of Administration with will annexed is only made on security or sureties being provided. It is pointed out that the grant is made for the use and benefit of the absent executor. It is in reality a grant to the executor himself. Cases have been brought to our notice where a difficulty has been found in getting attorneys to act as executors because of their reluctance to provide security or the necessary sureties. The amendment which I have now the honour to propose will remove this unnecessary grievance and will be much appreciated by the public at large.”

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ said:—"My Lord, the addition now proposed is, of course, outside the scope of the measure before the Council, and the Hon'ble Mr. Turner, no doubt, remembers that it was on that account, and also because what was aimed at was the abridgment, rather than the amplification, of the Bill, that the Select Committee decided to take no notice of the recommendation regarding section 256 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, made by the Calcutta Trades Association in their letter of the 17th May, 1901, which had been made one of the Papers to the Bill. On its merits, however, the amendment suggested is a very reasonable one, and, as we are assured that its acceptance will be a concession to a public desire, I am prepared, after having consulted my learned colleague, the Law Member, to agree to it."

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH said:—"With regard to this amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Turner, I am extremely glad to find that the Government have accepted it. I felt the difficulty which the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill pointed out in Select Committee, but I am well assured that it will be looked upon as a great boon by the community at large, and that it will also be an additional proof of the desire of Government to meet the views of the community, even when they are going, in a case like this, somewhat beyond the scope of the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH said:—"I entirely support the proposal that this Bill, as amended, be passed. I do not think that, upon further consideration, even my honourable friend on my left (Mr. Ananda Charlu) can doubt but that it was a necessity to bring in a Bill at the present time, and the Government could not properly have gone on with things in their present condition until some Bill of wider and more far reaching scope had been elaborated, if such a Bill is in contemplation. This Bill has no doubt caused a considerable amount of alarm on the part of the public—an amount of alarm which was unexpected in the earlier stages; but for myself, I am satisfied that that alarm will altogether disappear, and has indeed altogether disappeared owing to the changes made in the Bill in Committee; and also owing to what was said by the Hon'ble Members who addressed the Council on the last occasion in explanation of the Bill. The provisions of this Bill may not all be strictly within the scope of the Bill, but I would point out this, that every single provision which is not strictly within the scope of the Bill is in favour of those who are interested in estates which do not come into the hands of the Administrator General and are distinctly in their favour, and the last amendment of the Hon'ble Mr. Turner, which has just been accepted by the Government, is a signal example of this. Then there is another amendment which I want to say a word about, to which the same observation applies and which confers a very great boon upon all the people of this country who do not come under English law. As to those that come under English law, we have provisions with reference to them which enable them to go before the Courts when they require directions or advice, in a summary way without suit; but as regards those who do not come under English law, they, at present, under similar circumstances, have no means of obtaining relief except by filing a regular suit—a long and costly proceeding. Now they will have the same summary remedies which those under English law had before; and that, I venture to think, is a boon which will be very greatly appreciated by those whom it affects. I am very glad that the recommendations of the Committee over which the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sale presided, and the former Committee over which the Hon'ble the Chief Justice presided, have been laid before this Council, but at the same time they do not remove from my mind the doubt, which I felt in Select Committee, as to the expediency of combining the two offices of the Administrator General and the Official Trustee. I cannot accept altogether what my learned friend, the Law Member, said on the last occasion with regard to the Select Committee having accepted this proposal. I understood that the view of the Select Committee was that it was not within their province to discuss this matter, because the amalgamation had been provided for by the previous Act, and the question as to whether the amalgamation was to take place or not, would rest upon the Government and upon the Government solely, and I trust that the Government will take the matter into serious consideration before this amalgamation is carried into effect. I will say one word with regard to the recommendations of the Committee over which the Hon'ble the Chief Justice presided. Looking at the words of their recommendation, I am not sure that they considered the amount of work which there was in the Administrator General's office, or the amount of work which there was in the Official Trustee's office, but they say generally that there is no reason—and they further say that there is no legal reason—why the two offices should not be amalgamated. It does not seem to me, upon reading that report, that they have considered the question as to the amount of work which had to be done in each of these offices. The Hon'ble Mr Justice Sale's Committee, I understand, has come to the conclusion that the Administrator General as Administrator General will require, and ought to have, a Deputy. On the last occasion we heard that it was desirable that the person at the head of the office should possess the highest qualifications so that his opinion might be more readily accepted when legal questions arise in the course of administration. That applies equally as much, My Lord, to the case of the Official Trustee as to the case of the Administrator General, and I venture to think that, as beneficiaries whose estates are in the hands of the Administrator General are entitled to get the advice and the personal interference and intervention of a man of the highest qualifications, so are those interested in estates in the Official Trustee's office, and if the work of the Administrator General is now more than he can do and he requires a Deputy, it does not seem very clear how the further work can be thrown upon him, which would come upon him, supposing that the offices were amalgamated. I hope that this Bill as it now stands altered will give satisfaction. I believe it will be accepted as a fair and necessary measure. There is nothing further that I would add except this: that upon the last occasion my honourable friend the Law Member, discussed the question whether the Administrator General was a corporation sole or whether he was not a corporation sole. That is a question, My Lord, upon which I do not feel called upon to express any opinion; but I would point out that, as regards a corporation sole, the main point appears to be that there should be a perpetual succession, and in the case of the Administrator General, there undoubtedly was provided by the former Bill a perpetual succession, and we have accentuated that by clause 3, sub-clause (4), of the present Bill, which provides that he shall be sued by his name of office and that no suit shall abate by reason of his death, resignation, suspension or removal. I am not going further into that question, because it appears to me a purely academical question, and I entirely agree with the Hon'ble Law Member in this: that, if the Administrator General was a corporation sole before, there is nothing in this Bill which prevents his still being a corporation sole. With these words I can only express my support of the motion of the Hon'ble Member in charge that this Bill be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH said:—"My honourable friends, Mr. Turner and Mr. Pugh, have both accepted this Bill. On some points they still entertain doubts, and before the Bill is passed I ought, perhaps, to make some reply to their observations. On the question whether it was right to deal with this as a matter more or less urgent and requiring immediate legislation, I think I may leave my honourable and learned friend, Mr. Pugh, to answer the Hon'ble Mr. Turner, but when the Hon'ble Mr. Turner tells us that the full explanations of the intentions of Government with regard to these offices were not given in time, I am disposed to say that there is a considerable measure of justice in the charge.

"It follows almost inevitably from the nature of government in this country and from the manner in which our proceedings are conducted, that there is not that timely and full explanation of the intentions of the Government with regard to a matter of this nature which is given in other countries with institutions of a different kind. So far as in the future we can provide against such misunderstandings as have arisen in the present case, I think we ought to use every effort to do so. Both my honourable friends maintain their objection to the combination of the offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee. On this point, of course, I have no right to speak for the Executive Department of Government with which the question of policy will lie, but I do not regard this Bill as making any final or irrevocable arrangement. But our position is this: we were fully aware that the law had already made provision for the combination of offices. Whether it will turn out that it will be expedient to bring them together or to keep them apart, I think only the experience of the new Administrator General can show. No doubt there is much to be said for the position, that the work of the Administrator General's office is already more than one man can undertake, but it has been represented to us that the labours of the Administrator General are greatly increased by the defective system under which he has to work; that it is a system under which every detail of the office business must be passed under his review, and that if in course of time the new Administrator General is able to introduce a better system it would greatly lessen the amount of his own work. Whether that is really so or not, time will show, and I think, that in time, the Government ought to be ready to reconsider the arrangement, and to do what at the time when the question comes up shall appear to be best for the proper conduct of both offices. I think, My Lord, that what my learned friend, Mr. Pugh, has said, dispenses me from saying anything more about a corporation sole. I have no hesitation in saying that the arguments addressed to us on this and other abstract points have contributed materially to the improvement of the Bill; and should indeed have said so a fortnight ago, if it had not been that a certain combative letter betrayed me into making a combative speech. The sages of the English law who evolved out of their inner consciousness large quantities of legal metaphysics with regard to corporations sole would, I think, have been surprised if they had known that their abstract doctrines were to be made the subject of debate in this Council. As Mr. Pugh is agreed with me on the practical point, that is to say, admitting for the sake of argument that the Administrator General is a corporation sole, there is nothing in this Bill, as amended, which deprives him of that character, I think I need not detain the Council longer with purely academic argument, but merely give my voice in favour of passing the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN ELECTRICITY BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL moved for leave to introduce a Bill to make better provision for facilitating and regulating the supply and use of electrical energy for lighting and other purposes. He said:—"My Lord, in moving for leave to introduce a Bill to make better provision for facilitating and regulating the supply and use of electrical energy for lighting and other purposes, I propose to say a few words to supplement the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed to the draft.

"The Bill, which is based on the Electric Lighting Acts and rules in force in England and in Bengal, has been prepared largely in response to the wishes of a good many persons interested in electrical projects, and Messrs. Crompton and Company, an enterprising English firm, voluntarily undertook considerable trouble and expense in framing and forwarding to the Government of India a draft Bill which they considered suitable to the needs of India. Comprehensive legislation has also been pressed upon the Government of India by the Governments of Bombay and of Bengal, while other Local Governments have either expressed approval or have intimated that the actual need for legislation has not yet arisen.

"The Government of Bombay consider that legislation is urgently needed. They desire an Imperial Act which 'would secure continuity of principle and be a distinct economy of labour and time.' Failing an Imperial Act, they would reluctantly contemplate legislation for the Bombay Presidency alone.

"Bengal is the only province which possesses, in Bengal Act IX of 1895, a law at all competent to meet present requirements. While intended mainly for Calcutta, it is applicable to municipalities throughout the province, and, although it has so far been extended to Howrah and Dacca only, the Local Government has already found that the tentative and cautious legislation of 1895 is insufficient, and desire further legislation, a principal object of which is to encourage the investment of capital in electrical enterprise by extending the term of a license from the present maximum of 21 years to a maximum of 42 years.

"The draft has already passed through a considerable amount of criticism, both official and unofficial, at the hands of very competent persons. I should like in particular to express my indebtedness to my honourable friend, Mr. Ashton, who last year was good enough to come to Simla and go through the Bill with me, clause by clause, making valuable suggestions. Mr. Ashton, I am sorry to say, is prevented by illness from being present to-day, or he would have been able to intimate the points—only a few I venture to hope—in which he is not in accord with the Bill as it stands and considers that it may be further improved. Mr. Meares, the Electrical Engineer to the Government of Bengal, has also rendered very great assistance in the preparation of the Bill.

"The Bill meets the wishes of the Government of Bengal and of the persons and firms interested in modifying the present Bengal Act, by providing that licenses for the supply of electrical energy may be given with or without a time-limit, and the restricted maximum of 21 years is thus removed. Following the Electric Lighting Clauses Act of 1899, it also provides that an undertaking may be purchased by a local authority or by the Local Government, after the lapse of 42 years and at subsequent intervals not exceeding 10 years during the currency of the license, at a price fixed on the value of the property at the time of purchase without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase or goodwill or profit. The object, of course, in this and like cases, is to secure to the community the eventual possession and profit of the undertaking, but only after allowing the company a lease of life sufficiently long to make it worth while for capitalists to invest in the undertaking.

"It is needless for me to go further into the provisions of the Bill, except to remark that in Part III provision is made to prevent interference with the electric installations of private persons and institutions, such as clubs. The ordinary provisions of the Bill will apply in such cases only if more than 100 persons are likely to assemble on the premises so provided with electric energy, and even then the Local Government may grant exemption from the provisions of the Bill on good cause being shown.

"After its introduction into this Council the Bill will, I trust, receive the benefit of public criticism, and I hope that at the next Legislative Session in Calcutta it may be referred to a Select Committee and be passed into law with such amendments as may be found necessary."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 14th March, 1902.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA. DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 20th February 1902, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The weather during the week under review has been more disturbed over Northern India than during any week since that which included the 27th and 28th December 1901. As was the case then, so the origin of the disturbed weather of the present week has been a shallow cyclonic storm which formed over Gujarat at the close of last week on Friday. The depression was fairly well defined and well marked, but on Saturday it showed signs of filling up. It re-developed on Sunday and was shown over Gujarat until Tuesday, it then commenced a northerly movement which carried it to the neighbourhood of Bikaner by Wednesday the 19th and to the neighbourhood of Sirsa by the 20th. In addition to the main depression, small local depressions appear to have passed from Gujarat north-eastward to the Gangetic Plain, and have helped to render the weather unsettled over the central parts of the country.

The rainfall occasioned by these depressions has been generally very light, but was moderate at some hill and central stations on the 20th. On the 15th and 16th Khandwa, Saugor, Hoshangabad, Sutna, Nowgong, Pachmarhi and Jhansi reported showers generally of less than 0.10" in amount, and on the 19th and 20th Gaya, Benares, Umballa, Ludhiana, Dehra Dun, Mussooree, Chakrata, Simla, Allahabad, Cawnpore, Kurrachee, Kotah, Saugor, Sutna, Nowgong, Jhansi, Hoshangabad, Pachmarhi, and Jabulpore received showers which, however, only amounted to or exceeded 0.25" at Sutna, Nowgong, Mussooree, and Chakrata.

In addition to the rainfall from this source, local light showers were received in Burma and Assam on the 14th and 15th, in Southern India on the 14th and 15th, and in Ceylon on the 18th and 19th; of these the heaviest was a fall of 2.90" at Colombo on the 19th.

The rainfall summary at the close shows that effective rain was received during the week in the following sub-divisions, viz., Simla, Jabulpore, Jhansi, Calicut, and Madras and in the East Coast (South) division, while trifling falls of rain were recorded in the Bhamo division, the Narayanganj sub-division, the Sibesar division, the Dinajpur sub-division, the Patna sub-division, the Ludhiana sub-division, the Cawnpore sub-division, the Quetta division and the Jaipur sub-division; thus, though generally, very light and unimportant rain has at least been more widely distributed than for several weeks past.

The above rainfall has occasioned no practical change in the second-half of the rainfall statement. During the period from November 29th, 1901, to February 20th, 1902 the total rainfall has exceeded the normal in the Dry division of Burma, the Ahmedabad sub-division, the Bellary sub-division, both sub-divisions of South India and the East Coast (South) division; in all other parts of the country rain has been more or less in considerable defect and in many places practically absent. The total deficiency of the period amounts to 5.77" in the Simla sub-division, to 4.01" in the Ludhiana sub-division, to 3.95" in Baluchistan, to 2.29" in the Lahore sub-division and to 1.62" in the North-West Area.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 15th February, 1902.

Madras.—The rainfall was light to fair in parts of the Central, Southern and the Nilgiris' districts. Water-supplies are sufficient for irrigation except in parts of the Deccan. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting continue in parts. Standing crops generally are in good condition. Harvesting continues with fair outturn. Pasture is scanty in parts of the Deccan, but fodder is sufficient. The condition of cattle is good. Prices are stationary or falling.

Bombay.—No rain fell during the week. The rainfall is insufficient in Gujarat and parts of the Deccan. Harvesting of autumn crops is nearly completed in Dharwar and Larkana and is in progress in parts of Khandesh. Threshing is nearly completed in Kolaba and is in progress in parts of Nasik and Poona. Estimates of outturn of autumn crops generally are good in the Konkan and the Karnatak, fair in Sindh and the Deccan, and moderate to poor in Gujarat. Spring sowings are in progress in parts of Kanara. Standing crops have been damaged by frost or locusts in parts of Sindh, and by rats in parts of Gujarat, Khandesh, Nasik and Baroda. They are suffering from insufficient moisture in parts of the Upper Sindh Frontier, Gujarat, Ahmednagar, Sholapur and Baroda, and generally are in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops has been commenced in parts of Thar and Parkar, Broach, Surat, Ihava, the Deccan, the Karnatak and Kanara. Preparation of lands for next season is in progress in parts of the Konkan, the Deccan, Belgaum and Rajkot. Cotton prospects generally are fair in Khandesh and the Karnatak, and moderate to poor elsewhere. Picking continues in parts of Broach, Surat, Baroda and the Karnatak. The fodder supply is sufficient except in parts of Karachi, Nasik, Sholapur and Bijapur. Agricultural stock generally is sufficient and in good condition except in parts of Bijapur and Karachi. Prices have fallen in three districts, risen in four districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The relation of the prices of the principal staples to the normal and to the prices of 1901 remains substantially the same. Prices of cheapest food grain in pounds per rupee at head quarters—Ahmedabad, 32; Kaira, 29; Pauchmahals, 30; Sholapur, 40 $\frac{7}{10}$; Ahmednagar, 35; Bijapur, 36 $\frac{1}{2}$; Belgaum, 42.

Bengal.—There has been no rain. Rain is wanted in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. Threshing of winter rice and harvesting of early spring crops is going on. Pressing of sugarcane and cultivation of lands for early rice and jute continue. Lancing of poppy is in progress. Spring prospects are below average. There is no want of water. Fodder is sufficient except in the Sadar Sub-division of the Shahabad district. The price of common rice has risen in 10 districts, fallen in 12, and is stationary in the rest (24).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—The weather has been cloudy in places and slight showers have fallen in Fyzabad and Jhansi. Rain is much needed in uplands, where irrigation is impracticable. The crops in twelve districts have been slightly injured by frost and rust. Irrigation and cane pressing continue. Prospects are fair. Prices are stationary or rising slightly.

Punjab.—There was no rain during the week. Sugarcane pressing has been completed in Amritsar and continues in Jullundur and Sialkot. Sugarcane sowings have been commenced in Mooltan. Extra spring crops are being sown in parts of some districts. Standing irrigated spring crops are generally in an average condition. Crops on dry land have generally dried owing to want of rain. The outturn is expected to be average or below average. The irrigated crops are also reported to be withering in Karnal for want of sufficient water. Crops have been damaged by frost in some districts and by rats in parts of Gujrat. Cattle are generally in good condition. They are getting weak owing to overwork on wells in Sialkot and Gujrat. Fodder is sufficient in all districts except in Imanwalli, and parts of Karnal, Mooltan and Shahpur where it is scarce. The test works started in the Hissar district have been closed. The average number of poor-house inmates and persons otherwise relieved is as follows:—Poor-house inmates, 152; otherwise relieved, 2,378. The prices of food-grains generally show a tendency to rise. The price of wheat is rising in Rohtak, Amballa, Jullundur, Mooltan, Amritsar, Gujrat and Shahpur, falling in Gurgaon, Delhi and Rawalpindi, and unchanged elsewhere. The price per rupee of the cheapest food-grain in the markets at Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon is as follows:—Hissar, bijhar (mixed crop) 22, Rohtak, bijhar (mixed crop) 20, Gurgaon barley 26.

North-West Frontier.—No rain fell during the week. It is badly wanted. Prospects of crops generally are good in Peshawar; of irrigated crops average, of unirrigated poor in Dera Ismail Khan. The stock of food grains and fodder is sufficient in Peshawar but is procurable with difficulty in Dera Ismail Khan. Prices are steady in Peshawar and rising in Dera Ismail Khan. Wheat sells for 13½, bajra 15, gram 15½ and maize 19, seers per rupee.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Threshing and winnowing are almost completed in six districts. Slight rain has fallen in Toungoo and Mergui. UPPER BURMA.—Sowing and transplanting of dry weather paddy is progressing. Rain fell in Katha, Ruby Mines, Shwebo, and Northern and Southern Shan States. Crop prospects are unchanged except in Mandalay where miscellaneous crops are poor for want of rain and dew. The price of paddy has risen in Akyab and Thayetmyo, and fallen in Rangoon and Tavoy.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been generally cloudy. Thunderstorms have given very light rain in Sangor, Damoh, Narsinghpur, Hoshangabad, Nimar and Betul. Elsewhere the weather has continued rainless. Damage by frost to pulses is estimated from 30 to 60 per cent. in Sangor, from 15 to 30 per cent. in Damoh, and about 30 per cent. in the northern half of Jubbulpore. The damage in the Dianderi taluk of the Mandla district is reported to be slight. The crops continue to be damaged by rats in Nimar, by white ants in the Harda taluk of the Hoshangabad district, and by insects in parts of Raipur. Elsewhere the spring crops are in fair to good condition, but clear weather is much desired. The general outturn of spring crops in the Nagpur district is estimated at 75 per cent. of the normal. Prices have fluctuated slightly. The lowest prices in seers per rupee being—wheat 17, gram 22, rice 20, and juar 21½; the highest being—wheat 8½, gram 12, rice 8, and juar 14.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Slight rain fell in Upper Assam. Pruning of tea, pressing of sugarcane, gathering of mustard and ploughing for early rice are in progress. The prospects of sugarcane and mustard are good in the Surma Valley, Goalpara and Lakhimpur, and fair in other districts except in parts of Kamrup, where the prospects of mustard and sugarcane are reported to be bad. Gathering of pulse is nearly finished. The outturn is good in Sylhet, Goalpara and Lakhimpur, and fair elsewhere. Land is being prepared for late rice in Sylhet and Kamrup, for sugarcane in Darrang, and for Jute in Goalpara. Fodder is insufficient in Cachar, the Khasi and Jaintia Hills and in parts of Kamrup. Water is scarce in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills. Prices—common rice—Silchar, 17, Sylhet, 15½, Gauhati, Tezpur, Nowgong and Sibsagar, 13, Dibrugarh, 11½ and Dhubri, 11, seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Standing crops are in good condition generally throughout the province. Paddy is being sown in parts and in other parts ragi, horse gram, Bengal gram and paddy are being harvested. Prospects of the season are good generally throughout. Prices are steady in Chitaldrug, have slightly fallen in Bangalore, Hassan and in parts of Mysore, Kolar, Tumkur and Kadur, and have slightly risen in other parts of Mysore, Kolar, Tumkur and Kadur. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available. COORG.—The rainfall amounted to 23 cents. Rice threshing continues. Prices of food grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Berar.—The weather is getting warm. Picking of cotton and reaping of juar have been completed in two districts. Winter crops are still being damaged by rats. Reaping of wheat, gram and linseed has been commenced in Ellichpur. Field operations are in progress. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices are fluctuating in Ellichpur and Wan but elsewhere they are stationary.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. Spring harvest continues. Winter rice sowings under wells are nearly completed. Standing crops are in fairly good condition. Scarcity of water is increasing in parts. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana.—Agricultural operations are reported to be fair in Sirohi, Dholpur and Partabgarh, poor and unsatisfactory in Banswara and Dungarpur, and satisfactory in Kotah and Jhallawar. The state of crops is fair to good generally except in Kherwara, Banswara and Dungarpur where practically there are none. Damage by rats continues in many parts of Rajputana. Gram, opium and linseed have suffered from frost in Kotah and parts of Jhallawar, and Merwara. Opium is in good condition in Jaipur and Kishengarh. Agricultural stock and pasturage or fodder generally are in good condition and sufficient. Prices are rising in eight States, fluctuating in one, falling in two, and steady elsewhere. Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 30th January 1902, based on the India Daily

Weather Reports of the period.

Another practically rainless week has to be recorded so far as India is concerned; the only exception to this general dryness is shown in the Brahmaputra Valley, where showers occurred on the 24th, 25th, 26th, 29th, and 30th. These showers were, however, very light, and only exceeded 0·10" at Dibrugarh and Tezpur on the 24th, and at Dibrugarh on the 30th. A local shower of 0·15" also occurred at Negapatam on the 26th. In Burma there were light unimportant showers at Tavoy and Moulmein on the 24th and at Bhamo on the 26th. In Kashmir there were snowshowers daily on the last four days of the week, but, except on the 29th and 30th, the falls were unimportant. On the 24th, 25th, and 26th there was rain in Persia, but on the 27th this rainfall ceased, and the weather became fine. The only important storm of the week appeared over Sind on the 27th, thence it passed into the Punjab on the 28th and 29th, and then travelled south-eastward into the North-Western Provinces, where it was shown near Bareilly on the 30th. It was a moderate storm, and gave strong squally winds and duststorms to North-West India, but, beyond a few drops at Mussooree, Chakrata, and Simla, it gave no rain to the districts passed over.

The rainfall statement at the close of the summary shows that an average fall of 0·20" of rain was received in the Assam Valley during the week, and a few drops of rain in the following divisions and sub-divisions, vis., the Burma Coast, the Burma Wet and the East Coast (South) divisions, and in the Narayanganj, Dinajpur, and Simla sub-divisions; the whole of the remainder of India was rainless.

The seasonal deficiency now amounts to 3·24" in the Simla sub-division, 2·50" in the Ludhiana sub-division and Baluchistan, 1·50" in the Lahore sub-division, 1·00" in the Wailair sub-division, and to over 0·75" in the Narayanganj sub-division, the Brahmaputra Valley, the Bahraich sub-division, the Cawnpore sub-division, and the North-West Dry Area. At the following stations in the north there has been absolutely no rain during December and January, vis., Sialkot, Rawalpindi, Murree, Lahore, Cherat, Klushab, Dera Ismail Khan, Montgomery, Mooltan, Bikaner, Kurrachee, Jacobabad, Darbhanga, Purnea, Jaipur, and Sambhar, while there are many stations in the centre and south where the weather has been equally dry.

ADMINISTRATORS GENERAL AND OFFICIAL TRUSTEES BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees. He said:— "I propose, with Your Excellency's permission, to add a few remarks to supplement the statement which I made when introducing this Bill at the meeting of the 20th December. On that occasion I confined myself to a very brief explanation, the objects and reasons underlying the measure being, as I then thought, well understood and appreciated. Some of the representations, however, which have been made to the Select Committee, and which have also been the subject of discussion in the public press, have shown that it is desirable to explain more fully the grounds on which the Government of India have acted in the matter, and I proceed to do so.

"The combination of the offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee has almost from the first been contemplated as suitable by the Statute-law, an express provision on the subject having been included in Act VIII of 1855, reproduced in Act XXIV of 1867 and again reproduced in Act II of 1874, the enactment now in force. So far as the nature of the duties appertaining to those offices is concerned, there would seem to be everything in favour of the combination and nothing against it, the only question remaining being as to its practical feasibility. The Finance Committee of 1887 not only came to the conclusion that it was feasible, but went further by submitting the larger proposal that a central Government office should be maintained to manage the estates of insolvents and intestates, estates in litigation and estates under trusts, two officers being appointed, one to assist the other and both to be remunerated by the Government, the balance of the commission and fees leviable and levied under the law being retained by the Government. In other words, the Finance Committee suggested the amalgamation of all four offices of Administrator General, Official Trustee, Official Assignee and Official Receiver under two officers, the one to be the Deputy and Assistant of the other.

"In 1897 the Government of India referred the whole question of amalgamation (along with certain others to which I need not now advert) to a strong Committee, on which the High Court and the Bar were represented by the present Chief Justice of Bengal, as President, and by Sir Griffith Evans and Mr. Dunne, then Standing Counsel, as members, the remaining three members being the Home Secretary and the Deputy Secretaries in the Finance and Legislative Departments. The relevant parts of the Committee's report of the 29th April, 1898, which was submitted in response to this reference, I will now read to the Council.

"The Committee', it was said, 'have carefully considered the proposal for the amalgamation of the four offices, with the result that they doubt whether it would be possible to combine the control of all four in one person. The office of Official Assignee in particular is a special one which has little in common with any of the others, while it is essential that it should be filled by a lawyer who has made a special study and practice of the intricate law of bankruptcy. Moreover, one officer alone could clearly not undertake the duties of the four offices; and, in the case of the Official Assigneeship, there is this objection to the alternative proposal to allot the duties of the appointment to a Deputy working under the supervision of a Chief, that the Deputy, if a proper appointment were made, would be a specialist and, consequently, more capable of supervising his particular branch than the Chief himself.

"The Office of Assigneeship might, however, in the opinion of the Committee, be combined with the Official Receivership, and this combination would be the more appropriate because both offices are directly connected with the High Court and with proceedings pending on the Original Side of that Court. The Official Assignee is appointed by the Chief Justice under section 14 of the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Vict., c. 21), while the existence of the Official Receiver is entirely dependent upon the orders of the High Court, which purport to be passed in pursuance of section 503 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882).

"Both the Administrator General and the Official Trustee of Bengal are appointed by the Government under the Administrator General's Act, 1874 (II of 1874), and the Official Trustees Act, 1864 (XVII of 1864), respectively, and there seems to be no reason why the same person should not hold both appointments. That there would be no legal objection to such an amalgamation is clear from the fact that the first proviso to section 9 of the Act of 1874 expressly contemplates it.

"The holder of the appointment (of Administrator General and Official Trustee) ought, in the opinion of the Committee, to be a barrister, and he should be debarred from general practice and from undertaking, otherwise than in his official capacity, any executorship or trusteeship. The mere fact of his being a Government servant in receipt of a fixed salary from the Treasury would materially alter his position and enable the Government to exercise such supervision over him as it might think fit. It would not be in his interest either to keep, or to refrain from keeping an estate in the Administration Department of the office rather than in the other branch, and one of the grounds of complaint which has been suggested, would then probably disappear. But, in order to place him still more under control, the Committee would recommend that power be taken for the High Court, similar to that conferred by section 1 (4) of the Judicial Trustees Act, 1896 (59 & 60 Vict., c. 35), either on request or without request, to give such general or special directions in regard to any administration or trust as might to it seem right and proper.

"The Government would be credited with all the receipts, and it would, per contra, bear all the charges, accepting, of course, the entire responsibility connected with the administration of estates through its officers, and probably safeguarding the interests of the public by requiring such security as is now furnished by the Administrator General.

"The Committee have further considered the question whether section 56 of the Administrator General's Act, 1874, ought to be repealed or maintained, and their conclusion is that it ought to be repealed as soon as vested interests admit. The Committee believe that, if the action of the Administrator General is brought under some sort of supervision and control, such as is contemplated by this report, there is but little danger of the public preferring private agency-houses to official administration. If, on the other hand, official administration is unsatisfactory and nothing is done to improve it, they think that the public ought not to be precluded from employing private agency.'

"These views appeared to be in themselves well-considered, reasonable and sound; they were endorsed both by the Government of Bengal and by the Calcutta High Court; and, emanating as they did from such high authority and with such support, neither the Government of India nor the Secretary of State felt any hesitation in accepting them and deciding that they should be acted upon as soon as the occasion presented itself. Meantime, however, we had grave reasons for believing that, quite apart from the question whether the office of Administrator General should be filled by a salaried officer of the Government or by a practically independent official, the public were not fully satisfied with the manner in which the office was being actually administered. The Government determined, therefore, to appoint a Committee, presided over by a Judge of the Calcutta High Court and including the Comptroller General and an experienced Divisional Commissioner to advise on matters connected with finance and the management of estates in the mufassil. The late Mr. Broughton had, in answer to certain inquiries made of him, maintained that his system of administration and management was perfectly sound and complete, and had frankly asked for an inspection of his office. Mr. Justice Sale's Committee was requested to accept this invitation and to report the result. In due course they submitted the following recommendations to the Government:—

- "(1) that the remuneration of the Administrator General by commission should be abolished and that he should be remunerated by salary, carrying with it a pension;
- "(2) that the Administrator General should have a Deputy, also remunerated by salary;

"(3) that the Government should accept responsibility for mistakes and errors in the future administration of estates by the Administrator General;

"(4) that the office-establishment should be strengthened and the work re-arranged; and

"(5) that the repeal of section 56 of Act II of 1874 should be accompanied by proper provision being made for the exercise of control over non-official administrators, especially as regards the charging of commission and the keeping and auditing of accounts.

"These recommendations were supported by facts which supplied full confirmation of the view that a change in the method of administration was demanded in the public interests; and, as to the sequel, I need add only this, that the late Mr. Broughton tendered his resignation with effect from the 1st of January. From what I have now stated, it will, I sincerely trust, be manifest that the Government of India, have from first to last, acted on the best advice at their command and with due regard to the interests of the public.

"I hope, My Lord, to move at the next meeting of the Council that the Report of the Select Committee, which I have had the honour to present to-day, be taken into consideration, and that the Bill, which, it will be seen, has been materially simplified and revised by the Committee, be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH said:—"My Hon'ble Colleague has given the history of the Bill now reported. I ask leave to add a few words on the legal effect of the Bill, on the alterations made in Committee, and on some of the objections which have been taken to the measure out of doors.

"The Select Committee has accepted the proposal to make further provision for combining the offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee. It has been contended that the work of the two offices is more than one man can undertake; but we are not in fact proposing that one man should do the work of two; the Bill makes provision for the appointment of a Deputy. Government has accepted amendments, the effect of which will be that the Administrator General will always be a barrister, while the Deputy may be either a barrister or solicitor. It was suggested that the higher appointment should also be open to solicitors, but the Committee came to the conclusion that, if the head of the office possesses the higher qualification, his opinion will be more readily accepted when legal questions arise in the course of administration. It must be admitted that the interests of the Bar are to some extent affected by the Bill. An officiating appointment now reserved for barristers will be open to another branch of the Profession; and the position of Administrator General, though we are perhaps making it more secure, will not be so lucrative as it has been in the past. I regret that the Bill should have this incidental effect, but in framing a measure of this kind we have to consider, first and chiefly, the interest of the public.

"In a letter addressed to the Government of India by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, objection is taken to the proposed combination of offices, apparently on the ground that the two officers in question are appointed by different authorities. 'Official Trustees', so the letter runs, 'are appointed by the Chief Justices of Bengal, Madras and Bombay'. The gentleman who supplied this statement to the Chamber must, I think, have used a copy of Act XVII of 1864, without inquiring whether the law had undergone any change in the ensuing 38 years. The appointment of Official Trustees is vested in Government, and this has been the law since 1890.

"Clause 3 of the Bill contains the necessary provisions for making the Administrator General a salaried officer of Government. It is now a principle, very generally accepted, that where a Government office is paid by commission or fees for services rendered, the heads of the office should be remunerated by salary, and the profits (if any) should be taken by Government. Where this is not the case, the office becomes an independent concern, and defects in its procedure are not easily corrected. When, for example, the public began to complain of delays and abuses in the office of the Administrator General of Bengal, we could only refer to the Administrator General himself, until at last the complaints became so serious as to demand a formal inquiry.

"In drafting clause 3, certain general words were used to make it clear that Government on taking over the office will be entitled to all profits, and will meet all liabilities. These general words were interpreted in some quarters as indicating a design on the part of Government to alter fundamentally the present methods of administration, and to appropriate, in some unexplained manner, the estates of deceased persons. Thus, in a letter addressed to Government by the Calcutta Trades Association, it is suggested that 'the scheme and main object of the Bill is to legalise what otherwise would amount to a breach of trust; and thereby to afford an additional source of revenue to Government'. I do not quite grasp the meaning of this, nor am I aware of anything in the declarations or the conduct of this Government which justifies these apprehensions and suspicions. But, as our clause was misunderstood, the Select Committee has taken it to pieces, leaving out any words which might be construed as going beyond the purpose of the Bill, and inserting new provisions which ought to make the position clear. We do not propose to make any subversive change in present methods; the Bill, when it becomes an Act, will be read together with the principal Act. As stated in the Report, accounts will be kept and estates managed as heretofore; decrees and orders of the Courts will operate as they do now. That is the intention of Government; if the Bill as amended does not express that intention, there is still time to consider any suggestion for its improvement.

"Before leaving clause 3, I must deal with an objection which is urged in the letter of the Chamber of Commerce. It is there argued that 'the constitution of the office both of Administrator General and Official Trustee is that of a corporation sole'; and that the effect of the Bill is 'to extinguish the offices in question, and to repeal the material provisions of the existing Acts'. On this I would remark, in the first place, that, when the Legislature creates a corporation, express words are usually employed for the purpose; and in this connexion I may refer, by way of illustration, to the Act of Parliament, 39 & 40 Vict., c. 18, by which the Solicitor to the Treasury was made a corporation sole. The office of Administrator General was constituted by Act VII of 1840, amended and re-enacted by Act VIII of 1855, then by Act XXIV of 1867, and finally by Act II of 1874, which is now in force. In these Acts there are no express words of incorporation; but it may be admitted that on some important points a corporate character has been given to this office. Under section 29 of the principal Act, letters of administration are granted to the Administrator General by his name of office; under section 33, estates and interests vested in the Administrator General are divested when he vacates his office, and vest in his successor immediately on his appointment; and under section 34, suits and other proceedings commenced by or against an Administrator General in his representative character are brought by or against him in his name of office. It seems to me doubtful, in point of law, whether these sections, taken together, amount to the constitution of a corporation sole, and the language of section 34 is not easy to reconcile with the theory now put forward. But, supposing the theory to be correct, has it any practical bearing on this Bill? Assuming that the Administrator General is a corporation, there is not and never was, anything in this Bill to deprive him of that status. If the adviser of the Chamber is under the impression that a salaried officer cannot be a corporation, I may refer once more to the case of the Solicitor to the Treasury.

"The case of the Official Trustee is on the same footing as that of the Administrator General. Under section 17 of the Act of 1864, he is appointed to act in any case by his name of office; and under section 18, suits and other proceedings are brought by or against him by his name of office. I should think it incautious to say, on the strength of these provisions, that the Official Trustee is a corporation sole; but if he is, the Bill will not alter his position.

"Your Lordship may perhaps think that I am asking the attention of Council to matters fit only for a court of law. But I am constrained to deal with these matters here, because this legal reasoning has been used to excite alarm in the general community, to persuade a body of business men, that Government has brought in a dangerous Bill. I cannot argue the Trades Association and the Chamber of Commerce out of their present frame of mind, except by showing them that their criticism has been directed against an imaginary Government and an imaginary Bill.

"In clause 6 of the Bill referred to the Select Committee, it was proposed to confer a rule-making power on the High Courts. For the reasons given in the Report, that proposal has been dropped, but there is one small part of it which I should like very briefly to mention. It is commonly known that an executor, who owes his appointment to the confidence of his testator, is not usually required to furnish security when he enters on the administration of the estate. The Judges of the High Court say he should only find security when he is insolvent or in embarrassed circumstances. But in this small class of cases we proposed that the Judges should determine by rule who should give security, and in what form. I was prepared to suggest a verbal amendment in clause 6, sub-clause (1) (a); but I was not prepared for the remarkable argument which has been founded upon it. It was at once assumed that the High Court would make an oppressive rule, requiring all executors to give security, and fixing the amount without regard to circumstances. The Court was to do this, not of its own accord but at the instigation of Government; and the object of Government was to make the private executor's position so burdensome and so embarrassing that he would be driven to transfer the estate to the Administrator General. This piece of morbid fiction has attained a considerable circulation in the present month. Your Lordship will observe that the Government is accused of an unscrupulous design to create a monopoly in favour of the Administrator General—and this at the very moment when, by repealing section 56 of the principal Act, we are admitting private persons to compete with the Administrator General.

"I trust, My Lord, that the explanations given to-day will remove some at least of the many misconceptions which have gathered round this Bill."

IMPERIAL LIBRARY (INDENTURES VALIDATION) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved that the Bill to confirm and validate certain indentures made between the Agricultural and Horticultural Society of India and the Calcutta Public Library, respectively, and the Secretary of State for India in Council be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved that the Bill be passed. He said:—"The objects of this Bill were fully explained by Your Lordship, and by myself, at the time of its introduction. No objection has been received to anything in the Bill and Schedules, and I now move that the Bill be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. TURNER said:—"Before this Bill is passed, I desire to take this opportunity of congratulating Your Excellency's Government in having arrived at so satisfactory an agreement as that which will be legalised by the passing of the Bill. As a member of the Horticultural Society, I was under the painful necessity of attending meetings at the Metcalfe Hall, and it invariably struck me that the condition of that historic hall was a reproach and a disgrace to Calcutta. Under the new conditions, this, My Lord, will be impossible in the future, and that alone in itself is a worthy object that has been attained. But, apart from that, the arrangements made have enabled a deserving and useful Society—the Agri-Horticultural Society—to acquit itself of certain liabilities. It has also enabled the Government of India to form the nucleus of a most valuable Public Library of reference—a library which, I believe, will be of inestimable value to those of the present and future generations. I think, My Lord, that the thanks of the public are due to Your Excellency, and also to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, for having brought about such a happy result."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 14th February, 1902.

H. W. C. CARNDUFF,

*Offg. Secretary to the Government of India,
